EDITORIAL

Thank You!

The announcement of my purchase of THE FREE Press has brought many kindly expressions and wishes from friends and business associates. L.cortainly appreciate these kind wishes, and shall my best to morit the continued support of these friends who have been so loyal in the past. I wil do my best to make Acton's newspaper worthy of the town it represents. Thank you all.

Where the Decision Rests

It often seems as if some of the young people, both in their school work and in the positions given them after leaving school, feel that they do not have any choice in the matter as to whether they will be leaders or tail-enders, whether they will be notably. successful, or merely pass through as tag-enders. They hope for the best, but not us if the question will be settled by somebody or something outside themselves. That is one of the biggest mistakes imaginable. Each must decide as to his success or failure by himself. Leaders are not made by luck, but by pluck. Success does not come about by 'chance. Sitting around and waiting for things to tario is carrying obligations in excess of $340,000, in different connections." turn up will not win life's prizes. Each must go 000. after his own with energy and enthusiasm."

The Rowell Indictment

.That is a heavy indictment which Mr. Rowell counsel to the Custonis Commission, brings against the liquor trade of British Columbia. Whether or not the Commission accepts Mr. Rowell's findings and recommendations, and whother or not Parlisment gives effect to them, there is bound to be a -house-cleaning in the trade. Our Schools Need Present Day Maps

The question of whether some Ontario schools are still using maps of Europe showing countries and boundaries as they existed before the world was, is nuked on the order paper of the Ontario Logislature, by R. F. Miller, Liberal member for Haldimund. He also inquires as to whother the Department of Education line prescribed the use of up-to-date maps. The time has surely come for the retirement of old time maps of Europe and the adoption of intelligent present-day geographical boundaries.

A New Day for the Small Town

. A new day for the small town is just dawning. is the conviction of Mr. M. B. Williams, writing in the Farmers'. Advocate. For the last century, he remarks, "there has been an irresistible centrifugal pull from-the country to the big town and the big city. . To-day, thanks to our new methods of transit, a clearly defined centripetal movement is beginning to scatter the people of the cities back to the country, side. Industries are finding the cost of operation in the big city, the higher taxes needed to finance the overgrown city and the higher wages demanded because of these mounting costs of running the city, prohibitive and intolerable.
