Removal Pole from Mill and Main Streets
On Monday a crew of workmen of the Bell Telephone Co. started at the task of removing the pole from the north corner of Mill and Main Streets. The pole was removed on Tuesday, which required adjustment, but all matters have now been satisfactorily arranged and the work is being pushed forward. With the new scheme no poles will be on the street line at this corner now, as they are all back of the sidewalk. The placing of guy wires presented a difficulty, but Mr. Barber and Dr. Cox allowed these necessary supports to be placed on their property and the corner is now clear of the pole. The pole was removed on Tuesday, which required adjustment, but all matters have now been satisfactorily arranged and the work is being pushed forward.
