Sound Sense

A man in an eastern city died not long ago. leaving an estate of nearly $5,000,000. The disposition of his money made no sensation. But he wrote a paragraph to his children in his will which contains more sound sense and is more important to those who will read it and think about it than the mere your means. Always love, respect and assist one County Councils will be done away with? What another. Remember, your best friend is your purse practical use are they, anyway? A Duty That is Plain

In the final report of the Royal Commission on Customs and Excise, Parliament has before it the result of a detailed and determined investigation which it ordered, and which continued for months, and covered the entire country. The Commission left undone nothing which it could accomplish to get the facts. It has supplemented and completed the work undertaken by the Special Parliamentary Committee. The Commission has made suggestions based on their findings for guarding the Govern ment's greatest source of collections. The report and investigation has been of considerable expense. Their findings point the way Parliament should not it is going to be upward. Why Not a Tax?

Recently a delegation from the Retail Merchants' order houses. Editorially, in commenting on this The Renfrew Mercury concludes, "so far as taxes are concerned the Government forces its demands on the people generally when it wants money, and it is hard to see why a collection of individuals in a company or concern, such as a mail-order business, cannot be made to pay tax. The burdens on municipalities are increasing every year and those who do business pay heavily in taxes while at the same the Government sees it or not, there is a very grave problem confronting every town and village. The the solution. Surely the struction is worthy of the consideration of the Government and should not be lightly set aside as has been suggested by newspaper reports of three ministers of the Goyernment which The Mercury has quoted."

What Others Think

The American Bankers' Magazine, in the following no uncertain terms, outlines the duties of the business men of every town to its newspaper.
