Brief Local News

This is February.

January did not neglect to remind us that it was a winter month.

February comes off with the real brand of weather for which we are noted.

Don't knock the town that has ever heard of you—Galt Reporter.

The ice harvest is now at its height. Gains are busy cutting on both Fairy Lake and Corporation Pond.

Erin is contemplating the erection of a new fire building and covered rink to replace the old building which is in need of repair.

It is reported that Mr. Walter Harland Smith has rented his two hundred acres on the seventh line, south of Dundas Street, Trafalgar.

Watering the lawn once won't keep the grass the rest of the year. Advertising alone can't make a noticeable difference in your lawn. Hit him hard.

Mr. Daniel E. Smith, B. A., of Toronto, died on Tuesday, and will be buried at Burlington to-morrow. Mr. Smith was principal of Burlington School of Physical Education.

Naugatuck—the members of the Selectmen's Council have resigned. The trouble arose over a proposal to cut off the band grant of $1,200 and the curtailment of other expenditures.

The decorating of the Baptist Church, which called forth such favorable comments from the public services last Sunday, was the work of Mr. W. L. Warden, our local painter.

In spite of the best fire fighting equipment and experienced firemen, Trafalgar suffered disastrous fire losses on Monday morning. Prevention is the best method of controlling the fire demon.

Chicken thieves were sentenced to three years each in Portmouth Penitentiary by Magistrate Shields at Oakville last week. The chickens had been stolen from the farm of Sam McLean, at Portville.

While out hunting, Joseph Farrell, of Arthur Township, slipped, and in falling discharged his gun, the bullet passing through the leg, lodging in the other. His injuries were considered serious, and he will recover.

A sitting of the Juvenile Court was held by Judge Moore at Oakville on Friday. Two cases of illegal conduct by wayward boys were heard. Crown Attorney Dick and Local Superintendent Stewart were in attendance.

Mrs. Mary Tyndall

A life-long resident of Nelson Township, Mrs. Mary Tyndall, passed away Friday night, at her home, 100 Middle Road, at her eighty-fifth year. The deceased had been stricken with paralysis a short time prior to her death. Her husband had predicted her many years ago, and she had remained with her only son, Arthur, on the farm where she died. The deceased who before her marriage was Mrs. Mary Chapman, was born on the farm, being a daughter of the one now occupied by her son. Two brothers also survive.

MRS. FRANCES M. CLARIDGE

The passing came with remarkable suddenness of Mrs. Claridge, mother of Mr. A. G. Claridge, at their home east of Acton on the highway this morning. Although Mr. Claridge would have reached the completion of her eighty-fifth year this month, she was real well and active until Tuesday evening. She had been stricken while in the living room, sleeping there, when she was, without any previous feelings of distress, stricken with apoplexy, while standing at the table. Members of the family hurried to her side, but she never rallied, and her death came very peacefully early this morning. Mrs. Claridge, whose maiden name was Frances M. Merry, was married at a very early date to Mr. Claridge, of Greenwood. He passed away twenty-nine years ago, and Mrs. Claridge has ever since resided with her son, who has always been very highly situated. One day, the only surviving member of the family, a daughter died in infancy. She was a fine type of womanhood, beloved by all. Mrs. Claridge has always been active in making other folks happy, showing very regular in her attendance at Knox Church, and lived a devoted Christian life. The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon, the interment to be made in the family plot at Boston Mills Cemetery.

NOT A MEMBER NOW

Arthur Bourchier, the well-known London actor, while getting ready to assume the part of Herod VIII, cultural hero of a local One Day, was fully grown when he went to his club and was challenged by the doorman. "Who did not recognize him."

"Henry the Eighth," replied Mr. Bourchier without the flicker of an eyelid. The doorman consulted the list, ran his eye down the list, and closed the book with a bang. "No longer a member, sir," he replied.

A Union Skating Party

A function anticipated with pleasure each year by the young people in the community, the skating party on Thursday evening, the young people of the Baptist, Presbyterian and United Church joined to hold this annual event. They were all in attendance at the rink in numbers, including skaters from the neighboring towns.

An election was made, following the skating, to the United Church, where the annual meeting was held.

Frances M. Merry widow of the late John Claridge, at her 86th year, funeral on Saturday afternoon, interment at Boston Mills Cemetery.
