DUBLIN

On Friday evening, March 2, the Dublin Literary Society met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bracken. With the President, John Black, in the chair, the meeting opened by the singing of "The Maple Leaf Forever." As there was no business to be taken up, the following program was given: Reading by Clara Savers, "Widder Green's Last Words"; recitation by Edna M. Kelly, "Friend of Mine"; and a chorus by the junior of the hierarchy. The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. H. Savers. The meeting closed by the singing of "The National Anthem."

TEACHING A THIEF

It was a thief of the kind often spoken of as a defaulter. His accounts—a manager of a Chicago company—were short; in other words, he had been stealing the company's money. On the day that his rascality was discovered he disappeared. His last whereabouts was furnished by a Baltimore company, and they made it their business to find him. How they did it is told by the Detroit "Record."

ROCKWOOD

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was observed on Sunday morning by the congregation of the Presbyterian Church. Owing to stormy weather, church attendance was somewhat interfered with. In the evening no service was held. Preparatory Services were held on Friday evening.
