Entered Into Rest

MRS. GEORGE MANN

The passing away of Mrs. George Mann, Brock Avenue, after a long period of illness was a happy release to a confident trusting soul. Three years and a half ago Mrs. Mann contracted a severe cold, and this developed into pneumonia and a long-continued term of suffering and weakness was spent in the sick-room and the Hospital. This was borne with consummate patience and Christian fortitude. Her solicitude for her family was naturally of much concern, but her brave spirit enabled her with admirable resignation to say "Thy will be done." Mrs. Mann was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Moffat, her maiden name being Jennie Moffat. She was in her forty-ninth year. Twenty-five years ago, on February 18, she and her bereft husband, George T. Mann, son of the late Allan Mann, were joined in wedlock. For most of their married life they have resided in the home on Brock Avenue, where her last days were spent. Five children, two sons and three daughters, survive. Of these Charles and John are in Quebec City, and the daughters, Misses Jessie, Agnes and Marjorie, are at home. With loving and tender care Miss Jessie nursed her mother through her long illness. Mrs. Duncan McTavish, her sister, is the only surviving member of her parents' family. Mrs. Mann was a fine type of active Christian worker and for many years Knox Church profited from her willing services. She was especially interested in the Women's Missionary Society, and a short time ago was made a life member of that organization. The funeral this afternoon was largely attended and was conducted by Rev. A. C. Stewart, M. A., her pastor. An abundance of floral tributes testified to the esteem in which she was held.

WILLIAM MASON

Sorely indeed has the family of William Mason, John Street, been bereft during the past year. On May 10 last, the beloved mother of the home entered into rest, and in September, Ida, a twin daughter, the wife of Fredk Agnew, suddenly passed away. On Monday morning, after he had gotten up and dressed ready for breakfast, Mr. Mason took a heart spasm and in a few minutes had breathed his last. This ending was greatly unexpected, as he had felt decidedly well lately. In fact, as he met and chatted with friends on Saturday and Sunday, he himself remarked that he had never felt better. He was in his place in the family pew in the United Church on Sunday evening and enjoyed very much the sermon preached by Rev. Dr Solandt, of Toronto. His sudden passing was a shock to the community. William Mason had reached the ripe age of 78 years. He was born in Trafalgar Township. He was a blacksmith by trade and had a shop in the early days at Lisgar, in Trafalgar Township, later he spent a little at Ballinafad, but the most of his life was spent in Acton. Here he followed his trade for a number of years, but finally retired. Like his musical family, Mr. Mason was a musician of much ability. In his young manhood he played a violin with much acceptance. At the Acton Citizens' Band old-time fiddlers' contest a couple of years ago he won the silver cup. When the orchestra of the Methodist Sunday School was organized here forty years ago he was one of the first members and skilfully drew the bow over the strings of the bass viol. Three sons, two daughters and a grandson and granddaughter have since occupied places in the same orchestra with skill and ability. Of the family of eight sons and daughters, three sons and three daughters survive. These are: Bert, of Kingston, and Charles, Amos, Acton's Reeve, Mrs. Frank McIntosh, and Misses Lottie and Hazel, all of Acton. Since the passing of his beloved partner less than a year ago, he has been very lonely. This sudden translation has re-united the lovers who spent so many years together in their earthly home. The funeral on Wednesday afternoon was conducted by Rev. C. L. Poole, B. D., the pastor of the home. His tender words of sympathy were timely and the fact of his own bereavement so recently rendered his words unusually effective and tender. The Acton L. O. L., of which deceased was one of the oldest members and a year or so ago made a life member, took a prominent part in the obsequies. He was also a member of the Chosen Friends lodge. The floral tributes were very profuse and were sent by: Mary Mason and Hiram Mason, sister and brother; the Family; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Agnew; Members of COMET Public Utilities Commission; Storey Glove Co.; Acton L. O. L.; C. O. C. F.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Switzer and Edgar, Brampton; Mr. and Mrs. Roy McIntosh, Oshawa; Mr. and Mrs. R. Reade Davis; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kennedy and Lorna; Choir and Orchestra of the United Church; Young People's League of the United Church; Miss Bertie Smith, Toronto; Miss Margaret Brown, Toronto; Mrs. Reden, Toronto; Mrs. McMullen, Toronto; Miss Viola Strange, Barrie; Mr. W. J. Saunders, Toronto. The following bearers conveyed the body to its last resting place in the family plot at Fairview Cemetery: Jas. McIntosh, Malcolm McLean, William Smith, John Kenney, G. H. Ritchie, Frank Kennedy and H. P. Moore.

MRS. (REV.) CLARENCE L. POOLE

The elect lady who presided over the Parsonage of the United Church, since July last, Mrs. (Rev.) Clarence L. Poole was called to rest very unexpectedly last Thursday evening. About the middle of March Mrs. Poole was affected by some ailment which baffled the skill of the physicians to diagnose. On Thursday, 5th inst., she was taken to the General Hospital, Hamilton, when an operation for goitre was anticipated. She was then very weak and her heart action was found to be defective. The proposed operation was deferred in the hope that strength would be regained. But the heart failed to rally and finally she passed peacefully away.

Mrs. Poole was the daughter of James Robertson and had her birth at Wyndham Centre, Norfolk County, fifty-five years ago. Twenty-one years ago she was united to Rev. Clarence L. Poole in the bonds of holy wedlock, and their life together was a very happy one.

From her early maidenhood she was an earnest Christian and an energetic worker in the church of her choice, a gifted and honored woman. With very manifest success she greatly assisted the work of her husband, on his various fields of labor and endeared herself to the people of the church and community in the various fields to which he has been appointed from time to time during his ministry.

The sudden termination of her noble career brought grief not only to her bereft husband and son and other members of the family, but to the congregation of the United Church, Acton, and the several other fields where they had ministered. During their married life, Rev. and Mrs. Poole have been stationed at Springford, Burgessville, Grand Valley, Harriston, Southampton, Waterdown and Grimsby. Her cultured mind, her versatile talents, her sweet womanliness enabled her to fill many positions with acceptance and a gracious influence. She was President of the Women's Missionary Society at the time of her decease, took an active interest in the Ladies' Aid Society, was a teacher in the Sunday School and acted as pianist at the mid-week prayer meeting. In all these positions she won the love and esteem of those with whom she came in contact.

The funeral was held on Monday afternoon. After a brief private service at the home, a memorial service was held at the United Church, which was conducted by Rev. N. A. Hurlbut, S. T. L., Milton, the Chairman of the Presbytery. He was assisted by Rev. R. S. E. Large, B. A., B. D., of Fergus, a former pastor here; Rev. Henry Dickie, M. A., D. D., Georgetown; Rev. G. W. Wood, B. A., Grimsby; Rev. P. E. Vipond, B. A., of Guelph; Rev. J. W. Hunt, Winona; Rev. W. J. Gallagher, M. A., B. D., Guelph; and Rev. N. D. MacKinnon, Norval. Baxter, Acton; Rev. E. Val Tilton, B. A., B. D., Burlington; Rev. J. Ure Stewart, B. A., Guelph; Rev. Henry Caldwell, S. T. L., Limehouse; Rev. J. W. Kitching, B. A., Hornby; Rev. A. P. Kind words of sympathy, tributes to the character of the departed, and words of Christian comfort and consolation, of hope and assurance, were spoken by the ministers who took part in the service to the bereaved minister and his son, George.

The body of the deceased was carried to the church and to the family plot in Fairview Cemetery by Messrs. D. N. McTavish, A. T. Brown and R. J. Kerr, representing the Church Session, and J. C. Matthews, C. Hartley Harrison and Frank Kennedy, representing the Stewards. Mrs. Poole's Sunday School Class of eight young ladies were the flower bearers.

Alleged Motor Bandits Caught at Brampton

Traced from Acton on Saturday Morning and Arrested by Provincial Constable Owens

Allan H. Greenfield and Kenneth Kirkwood, who the police allege are two of the bandits who terrorized motorists in Western Ontario last week, were arrested in Brampton on Saturday by Provincial Officer Owens, assisted by Chief Herkes of that town.

On Saturday morning about four o'clock Mr. J. Doble, who is the night operator at the C. N. R. station here, noticed two men loitering around the station. They said they were cold and asked him if they could come into the station to get warm. When questioned as to where they were going they said they were trying to get an auto ride to Toronto, but few motorists would stop for them and one of the pair casually remarked that motorists could hardly be blamed for not stopping.

They were allowed to go into the waiting room of the station, where they stayed until seven o'clock. At that time Mr. Middleton, the agent, came into the station with a morning paper and the headlines were scanned by Mr. Doble. Conversation naturally turned on the automobile hold-ups featured on the front page and Mr. Middleton remarked that he was always armed and ready for any such desperadoes. He believed he was shot enough to pop off such characters at fifty feet. The conversation didn't suit the two visitors and they were noticed to take their departure.

When Mr. Doble went off duty and at home had time to read the description of the two men wanted, he realized at once that the two characters who had been about the station were the wanted men. He immediately got in touch with Chief McPherson, who communicated with Provincial Constable Owens, at Brampton. The description tallied so well that Constable Owens prepared to start for Acton at once.

Upon leaving the Court House at Brampton he noticed the Guelph to Toronto transport truck standing on the street and speculated it to question the driver and if possible secure information about the two men. On looking in the cab he found his men sitting there. Being unarmed, he went back to the Court House to secure a revolver and brought Chief Herkes with him and effected the capture of the men. One of the pair had a revolver in his pocket. The
