"RAMONA" PICTI	DE AT WONDER

LAND PRIDAY

The much heralded "Ramons," from

Helen Hunt Jackson's novel of the same name, has at last arrived in our milist. This picture will be shown at Wonderland Theatre on Priday afternoon and evening. "Ramona" was written by Helen Hunt Jackson with a purpose. She did not know at the time of writing the story that it would go down in history as one of the great American classics. And Edwin Carewe, the director of "Ramona," has given the story to the screen in such a manner as might be well termed "screen-classic." "Ramona" is a tale of early California—the days of the Mission Indians—their trials and their tribulations. And "Ramona" came into being during that period. The story is filled with love interest. Mrs. Jackson, while probably not fully realising It at the time, drew one of the most beautiful love storics in American literature when she penned this tale of the half-Indian malden who is in love with two men, one of them the Indian, "Alescandro," played on the screen by Warner Haxter; the other, "Pelipe," the Spanish Don, Roland Drew. RELIEVE IT OR NOT

Seven years ugo a farmer living only a few miles from the city hung his vest on the barnyard fence. A call cheuch up a pocket of the garment in which there was a standard gold watch. A short time ago the animal, a staid old milk cow, was butchered for beef and the time-piece was found in such a position between the lungs of the cow that the respiration-the closing-in and filling out of the lungs-kept the stem winder wound up, and the watch had but but four minutes in seven years.-Lyon News.
