Only One Safe Rule

The average time it takes a fast railroad train to pass a crossing is seven seconds, according to recent records. Yet, according to statistics, over two thousand were killed at grade crossings last year. They don't wait seven seconds. They don't wait until Gabriel blows his trumpet, for there is no way of hearing that. It is very difficult for the driver of a fast-moving automobile to gauge the relative speeds of his car and a swift train converging on the same point from different directions. Therefore, there is only one safe rule to follow: Let the train go by. What are seven seconds in the life of a motorist. To lose them may be to save a score or more years.—Smith-Falls News-Record.

Immigration to Canada Grows

Immigration to Canada for the month of August amounted to 25,340 as compared with 10,242 in August a year ago, an increase of 147 per cent. This immigration consisted of 12,460 British, 3,581 from the United States, and 9,299 from other countries. For the first five months of the fiscal year immigration to Canada has amounted to 112,050 compared with 99,964 in the same period a year ago, an increase of twelve per cent. Immigration to Canada from the United States is steadily increasing. In August it amounted to 3,581 compared with 2,623 in the same month a year ago. The movement of Canadians returning to Canada to live after having been residents of the United States also continues. In the last five months it has amounted to 17,608.

One Thing After Another

"Some months it is one thing and other months it is something different," says R. B. Morley, General Manager, Industrial Accident Prevention Association, commenting on the industrial accident situation. "This past month it has been infection cases that stood out in our records." It appears that of the thousands of accidents reported each month to the Compensation Board, about one-tenth show infection in the early stages. This, it is claimed, is largely due to failure of men to report slight injuries. Some men seem to have a chronic objection to reporting minor cuts and scratches and too often such slight wounds have serious results because infection develops. Last month there were 7,032 accidents reported by industries in Ontario to the Workmen's Compensation Board, including 58 fatal cases. In August, there were 8,022 reported, including 41 fatalities and although the total for September is lower than the former month, there were 17 more fatal accidents reported in September than during August. The awards made by the Board in September totalled $532,921.20, which included $84,965.05 for medical aid.

A School-Book Warehouse

In a letter to The Globe the other morning a druggist and bookseller in Listowel makes a complaint and a recommendation regarding the handling of school books authorized by the Department of Education. It seems that each different book is supplied by a different publishing house and the dealer has to go to each one of these houses to secure his complete stock. In the letter complaint is also made that the books in many cases are not ready when school re-opens, owing to the fact that sufficient time has not been allowed by the Department for the publishers to have them ready. The changing of books by the Department, without notice to dealers, also leaves them with many unsalable books on their hands. This Listowel dealer suggests that a central warehouse be established, where dealers could secure all school books to be used. He points out that the distribution and easy access to school books is surely as important as the convenient distribution of intoxicants. In fairness, he also thinks the books made obsolete by changes should be returnable to the Department of Education. The ground of the dealer seems to be well taken. Every year after school opens it is some weeks before the proper books can be secured by all. The matter of spreading the work of publishing these books among different concerns would seem to be part of the policy of spreading the Ontario Government printing among those houses who find party favor, but why they cannot be collected into one central distributing warehouse would seem to offer no difficulties and solve a serious problem. Of course such a warehouse would not bring in the revenue of a warehouse. The matter deserves the attention of the Department and an effort made to remedy the situation.

Predict Billion Bushel Wheat Crop

The 550,000,000 bushel wheat crop, which Canada is harvesting this year leads the "Grain World," of Chicago, in a recent issue, to predict that within a comparatively short time the wheat production of Canada will total 1,000,000,000 bushels annually. If this happens, and the estimate is based on a consideration of the trend of wheat production during the last decade, it will entail a tremendous expansion in railway building, elevator construction, sales of agricultural machinery, and general manufacturing. The total wheat production of the world, this year is estimated to be 2,606,306,000 bushels or 50,000,000 bushels more than last year. With Russia still importing wheat, the Oriental demand growing, the domestic demand increasing, and with the growth in population, it is logical to assume that the wheat production in Canada will continue to increase.

All Must Grow Together

The newspaper has become so distinctly a part of the community that it is difficult to conceive of a community of any great proportion devoid of a local newspaper. Not less inseparable and mutually dependent are the newspaper and business. It is virtually impossible to point out a business success within the last two decades which has been achieved without the aid of newspaper advertising. On the other hand, numberless failures can be traced directly to inadequate appropriations for newspaper advertising. Under modern economic, social and commercial conditions a city or town would become an actual reproduction of the poetical "Deserted Village," if deprived of all business enterprises. Neither could a store exist where there was not some semblance of a community. The relation of the newspaper to both community and business is different in degree only. Towns, stores, newspaper, and newspaper-ads grow up together. Taken as a whole one can not prosper and expand unless all prosper and expand.—Collingwood Bulletin.

All Work and No Play No More

We got our eyes opened when we attended the High School Field Day of the County of Halton on Monday. We have been watching the progress of school sports, we thought, but were quite surprised at the magnitude they have developed into, as shown by this county meet. A very few years ago, when we attended school, there wasn't much athletic equipment given to athletic events. The fellow who persisted in these things was usually frowned upon by the teacher, as he neglected his school duties often. But the sports here Monday showed the teachers just as enthusiastic as the pupils in the results of the events, and each eager that their school should make a good showing. The loyalty of the pupils to their schools was a feature one could not help but notice. With a race on it seemed as if the enthusiasm of the pupils would sometimes hinder the finishing of the event with their over-running the course. But the enthusiasm of youth was good to see. The competitive spirit, that seemed to be on the wane, is surely being inculcated in the young people of to-day. The training of body as well as of mind is a feature that commends itself to all. School athletics, kept in their proper place in the schedule of studies, can do much toward making a better and stronger Canadian people. The encouragement given them in these field days is commendable.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Canadian railway traffic during 1928 is breaking all records. More than 80,000 loaded cars are being moved each week, and the western crop requires many more wheat trains than it is possible at present to supply.

The tourist "industry" is now quoted as Canada's second greatest source of income. It has amounted to $275,000,000 the past year. It is greater than the mineral production of the Dominion but less than the wheat exports.

Saskatchewan is the world's greatest wheat growing province. The 1928 yield is estimated at 300,000,000 bushels, an increase of 88,000,000 bushels over 1927. Many of our readers can still remember when the first crop of wheat was grown in this great prairie province.

The Milton Reformer says: "The only Halton newspaper man, outside of Milton, who graded our fair with his presence last Saturday was Editor Foster, of the Oakville Star, although we hadn't the pleasure of meeting him." That's not serious, Errother White. You were the only one from the county who favored Acton fair with your presence.

The Toronto Globe is all "hot up" over the Simcoe postmastership appointment and thinks the country will not stand for such an exhibition of partisanship. Maybe the country won't stand for it, but it seems to find favor in this province and has for years. All power to The Globe in trying to uproot the patronage evil, but it isn't necessary to travel all the way to Ottawa to find all of it.

This from the Mail and Empire: "Pelce Island is to get a liquor store because bootlegging is supposed to be rather general there. About the only reason for bootlegging surviving anywhere in the Province is the fact that bootleggers are sometimes able to undersell the Liquor Commission. But even in the days of licensed hotels there were always a few resorts which were patronized after hours and on Sundays. We suppose that no system ever devised will exterminate the last bootlegger." And we were tried to be persuaded by this same journal that the Liquor Control Act would do away with the bootlegger. They say an open confession is good for the soul, however.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
FOR SUNDAY, OCTOBER 14

General Lesson Title—Spiritual Gifts
Scripture Material—1 Cor. 12: 4-7, 31; 13: 1-8, 13.

Golden Text—Now amidst faith, hope, love, these three; and the greatest of these is love.—1 Cor. 13: 13.

Devotional Reading—Psa. 93; James 1: 7, 18.

The Text Explained
1 Cor. 12: 4-7.—There are differences between gifts, but the same Spirit gives them; there are different ways of serving the Master, but the Master is the same; and there are differences of effects, but the same God produces every effect in the case of every person. Spiritual illumination is in each instance given for some good purpose. (Twentieth Century New Testament.)

1.—I paraphrase this verse as follows: God, who has graciously bestowed upon you the most important spiritual powers. And now I am going to show you the way of life that is of all the best. 2.—I paraphrase: Owe it to me, a great eloquence and, in addition, the miraculous gift of tongues—if I am without love, I am nothing but empty noise. 3.—I paraphrase: Perfect trust. To remove that. An unmistakable allusion to the parable of the fig tree. See Matt. 21: 20, and 21: 21. 4.—To be burned—some manuscripts read "that I may be burned." The difference in reading is due to the change of one letter—kathesthai or katei; zomai. 5.—Grieve—Do not grieve, for ye have loved not its own.—Does not count on "number one." Take not account of evil.—Does not count up grievances. 6.—Rejoice not in iniquities.—Does not gloat over a sinner. Rejoice with the truth—Is happy in the victory of truth. 7.—Beneath—Without breaking down. Believe all things—Is not suspicious; but puts the best construction on what she hears. Hope all things—Is ever optimistic. Endure all things—Does not despair. 8.—Love is eternal. Other gifts—knowledge, prophecy, tongues—serve but a temporary purpose. (Dunnell's.)

13.—They are only means toward an end. Love remains the completion and perfection of our human being. (P. W. Robertson.)

Lesson Themes

A Bond of Church Fellowship.—In one of our Articles of Religion the church is defined as "a congregation of faithful people, which is an institute of fellowship." Fellowship is based with such inherent difficulties. To get into fellowship with a brother, and the lodge, it brings together persons of both sexes. Unlike the homogeneous club, it brings together all sorts and conditions of men. Unlike the political party, it brings together men of all shades of belief. There is only one force that can fuse together these seemingly incompatible elements: it is the force that Paul tells us "beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things." A Bond of World Fellowship.—In the tenth year after the miracle we are increasingly doubtful whether "the war to end war" really ended it. Indeed, it seems to us fantastic that we could ever have believed that war could be ended by a war. The hope of the world lies in the final triumph of Christianity and the religion. All the good of Christianity, is born of love, and all the progress it has made has been the result of the measure of good will, human sympathy, helpfulness, and loyalty: virtues that one and all spring from the supreme Christian virtue—which is love. In all other elements in religion, its ritual, its belief, its organization, its experience, and its power over men, are not to be compared with this attitude of mind and heart that is the essence of Christian religion. He knows most about love in the gospel who knows most about love in his personal life. He is the best Christian who is the most like his brother. The first step toward a permanent world-peace and a brotherhood of humanity is to be taken by many ties. Commerce and industry, science and art, literature and education are so many strands in a mighty cord that circles all nations and all peoples. None of these strands, nor all of them together, can hold the diverse groups of men and nations together, nor prevent their grinding each other into the dust in their struggle for dominion and power, unless there be added to this cord the binding force of brotherly love. The faith that works by love will manifest itself in mutual sympathy, trust, cooperation, and loyalty to a common program of world progress and betterment. Upon these things, and upon the love of the world, and who in their own life have experienced love for God and for their fellow men these rests the responsibility of sending this gospel of love and humanity to the ends of the earth.

For Further Discussion

Which the broadness: charity or love? What other spiritual gifts does the apostle Paul mention in chapter 12 of his first letter to the Corinthians? How does Paul, who once persecuted the Christians, and who later was primarily the apostle of faith, come to be the exponent of love as the supreme virtue of the Christian life? Can the principles of brotherly love be successfully applied in the business and industrial world? What indications are there of the spread of brotherly good will among men throughout the world?

BABY GROWS IN SUMMER

The growth of a boy or girl from babyhood makes an interesting study for one who is willing to keep an accurate record of sizes, weights, and heights. During the first year, the average baby grows about nine inches. If that rate were kept up for ten years, the schoolboy of ten would be over eight feet tall, and a giant in the making. During the second year, however, baby grows only three or four inches, and gradually decreases his growth year by year from then on until he attains his full height around his twenty-fifth year. As for weight, boys make their greatest gain in their sixteenth or seventeenth year, while girls put on poundage more noticeably in their fourteen years. Incidentally, although little boys and young men are stronger than girls and young women of their age, girls from eleven to seventeen are physically able to handle boys of their age. From December until April neither boy nor girl will gain much weight or height. When April comes they will begin to sprout upwards again like little trees but until July neither will they begin to add weight quickly.

For Swollen Joints

Most remedies fail but Joint-Ease succeeds. For joint troubles only, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, finger or spine—whether rheumatic or not. It soothes up stiff, inflamed joints, breaks joints up quickly you'll be astonished. Two seconds' rubbing and away it goes through skin and flesh right down to the bone and ligaments—that's why it succeeds. Ask E. J. Hazard or any reliable druggist.
