As a friend of hoyhood days I admired Charile for his many manly qualitles and his true to life principles; but for one thing especially, my admiration lins never wavered. When Charlie was a boy at school Charlie was always "sweet" on Emma Matthews, the eldest daughter of George Matthews, the Main Street butcher. When Charlle left home and went to Toronto Emma continued to be the "Pinest Girl He Knew"; and every time he-came home on a holiday the first place he visited was up at Matthews. When he had chosen the ministry as his lifework, and had decided to go to Epurgeon's College, London England to take his course, weekly lettern came back to Emma, and when the course was completed and Charlle came back to his native land and his home town, this dearest girl of all was the first to be favored with a visit from the pardon, the Rev. I am sure this golden anniversary at Scattle on the 21st inst will be an auspicious and happy affair and many kind things will be said, and many kind deeds done by officials and parishioneers and friends there in recognition of fifty years of successful ministry; but I think I can say with confidence that there will be no more cordial good wishes than those which emanate from the sincere hearts of the friends in the old home town at ing all the white membrane, and with Acton, Canada.
