has always been good.

Getting back to the game itself, in are old enough. the early part the winning team held the upper hand, ohlefly due to some heavy hitting and a few errors; but the town team; after the fourth ining, took on a new lease of life and tied up the score in the fifth, and in their half of the sixth added another run, making them one up.

In the last of the sixth, with two-down, Joe Kentner hit what the umpire thought was a fair ball, chiefly due to the faulty position of the third base bag, and this bad decision had the effect of throwing Cam Leishman and his boys off theb stride, and the winning team put acrus two runs to win the game. Good baseball was played and the series, with its special prizes for hitting and fielding, is having the desired effect of producing otherwise unknown abilities in new as well as old players.
