The Mode for 1929-30 is one of Elegance, Richness and Feminine Charm

COATS for this season are lovelier than ever. Fashioned of beautiful, supple fabrics, such as brondcloths, duvella, aquitain, klondyke, and silkaine, and generously trimmed with fox, wolf, sable, lynx, or other rich furs-they offer the utmost in appearance and comfort. New style details are the shawl and Paquin collars, deep cuffs, subtle flares and novelty scamings, while color favorites are the rich browns. autumn greens, deep wines, and new blues, with of course, navy and black. Splendid ranges of dress coats and travel coats at $19.75 to $95.00.

DRESSES follow the example set by coats and choose rich materials-velvets, satins, shimmering crepes, georgettes, and printed silks. Styles are more intricate with the new higher waistlines, flares and drapes, Bertha collars and lingeric touches. Colors include the new browns, greens, wines, blues and black. Splendid variety at $9.95 to $49.50.

HATS in bountiful assortments-felts with every new sort of brim treatment-velvets, so soft and feminine. Every new shade, every new style, every headsize. Wonderful values at $2.98, $3.95 and up.

BANNOCKBURN

All indications point to a new high record being established this year by Acton Fall Pair if next Wednesday provided good weather for this annual event. Never was there such a demand for prize lists on this year, and never was the Pair so enthusiastically spoken of in all quarters. This special edition of THE Page Pages for the Pair might have been expanded to ten pages if mechanical conditions had permitted. The co-operative spirit in which it was reterved by the advertiserr was most encouraging. They have presented in wery case a real Pair time message to those who visit in Acton at that time, and the citizens generally. The lasue is a co-operative one indeed, with the business people carrying a message to you as well as the Pair-time news. Their co-operation has assisted in getting out the issue and is appreciated by us and the news they send in their messages will mean economy to all who read them and take advantage.

We desire to award the recollections of Mr. John Rangay, of Byracusc, N. Y. It is a matter of interesting co-incidence that these two contributors were at one time in their carly history apprentices on the staff of your worthy paper. It has been a decided pleasure and a been given the duty of making this
