BLOWERS FOR ANNABEL LEE

BY MARGUERITE ASPENWALL

After looking over several that the old man brought out the twins chose one which was a fine specimen of the collection. It was an enormous bunch of big, single violets, with long stems and light blue centers was a dainty pink mass.

While talking with her market woman, an oldish, third-rate body, a woman in a certain small town happened to say a four-leaf clover in the grass. "A good luck!" she exclaimed. "There is another four-leaf clover! I was always finding them, but they never seem to bring me good luck!"
