THE LOOKING-GLASS

Mother says the old dog is getting old... Mother says the old dog is getting old...

Chronicles of Ginger Farm

Written Specially for The Acton Free Press by GWYNETH M. CLARKE

This week I think I have done most of the things that shouldn't be done and of course I've missed things that ought to be done... I have a very good feeling in my heart...

CHRISTMAS IN OTHER LANDS

How would you like to go in Germany for Christmas? Their Christmas is like giving in happiness, feasting and gift giving...

THE RECORD RUN

BY GARDNER HUNTING

DAN CORVEY, locomotive fireman, had once won the motor race... Gray by frustrating the desire of a gang of train robbers...

When Dan "got his engine" at the end of his term of firing, however, he was a little disappointed to find that despite his complete service to the road and Dan's promises...

"I don't know but I'm to blame for that," he said. "I was just a little bit late when I climbed up into No. 27's cab... I did think they'd do something extra for you, but they haven't."

"It makes a fellow feel as though he didn't care much whether his work was done or not," replied Dan. "Oh, don't you get into that strain. You're a fireman, not a soldier."

"Well, he might be right, but you've never shown what you can do with an engine, youngster," said Dan. "I'm not turning on him about it, 'Ginger'... I'm just talking to you."

"No," said Dan, grinning. "I know the ideal of living by the gun is a far from a good one... We may be able to get in the country, perhaps too late to visit among the neighbors but how is it possible to be lonely when at least any hour of the day we can hear our own voices..."

"There was much heavy traffic over the road that autumn, and the force in the road was small... Dan's road was the heart of the winter season to make a flying trip across the continent, and for reasons not wholly apparent to the general public...

"The early part of winter certain conditions of the winter of which Dan's road was the heart... Dan's road was the heart of the winter season to make a flying trip across the continent, and for reasons not wholly apparent to the general public..."

"The children of Norway have gifts, feasting and merry dances just as children of other countries do, but they do not believe that the best of Christmas is to be had in the home, and make a happy Christmas for them too..."

FACT AND FICTION

Motion is stranger than truth, in spite of the proverb... A writer in the Acton Free Press gives a striking example of the contrast between 'the way it is in books' and 'real life'...

Advertising. "This is the age of advertising. Advertising is the greatest business builder in the civilized world. Without intelligent advertising there can be no great and conspicuous success. Advertising is not an expense, but rather an investment." "John Wanamaker knew this when he first started in business. The first day he opened his store he spent practically every cent he had in advertising and took a chance in getting results on his money." "The object of advertising is to impress your name and business into the public mind so that when people think of anything in your line, they think of your name first. But you must keep everlastingly at it." "Advertising is the only power that grows by its own momentum. Other powers lose by expansion. Radiation is the strength of advertising; diffusion its life. It grows and increases in power by what it imparts. It carries ideas from the mind of one to the minds of many. Advertising is the only harvest that grows the more by reaping."--C. H. Betts.
