For a Bounteous Harvest and All the Blessings of the Year a Grateful People Give Thanks

County Favors Milton to Acton Highway

Warden very strongly supported the trend of the letter. "About two or three years ago," said Mr. Mason, "a deputation waited on the Government and were promised by Premier Henry that when another highway was considered in the County, the connecting link between Acton and the Palermo-Milton Highway would be the next highway to be constructed. But, so far as he knew, no further action had been taken by the County Council, and he felt that the time had come when a deputation should be sent to the Government, strongly advising them as to the feeling of the people. Mr. Morden—I was one of those who went as a deputation to Premier Henry, and he assured us that this road would be made a Provincial Highway, but it would not be undertaken until such time as the County Council were prepared to have it done. Mr. Robinson—I think we should have a census of the traffic that goes over the Second Line to enable us to determine whether it would be expedient to make this a highway. Mr. Remshaw—if you take a census of Second Line traffic and go by it you will never make it a highway because the road isn't fit to travel, therefore it only has a minimum of traffic. People go out of their way to avoid travelling on the Second Line. It is a disgrace to the County. As a matter of fact I heard, on good authority, that the Government has no intention of building this highway, now or at any time. Mr. Mason—if the Council feel that we can afford the expense of this highway, I do think that now would be a good time to start it as it would certainly be a good measure for unemployment relief. Mr. O. Cleave—Gentlemen, we should first consider whether we are in a position to stand the cost—which, I understand, would be on a 20% basis. Mr. Campbell—I think, with the equipment we have on hand, we could make our own road at a far less cost than the estimated cost of a new highway. Mr. Mason—To bring this matter to some kind of decision, I would move that we should ask the Good Roads Committee to bring this matter very strongly before the Department of Highways, and find exactly what their attitude is in regard to this road. Accounts passed were as follows: Agricultural $ 100.00 Printing 20.00 Old Age Pensions 1,204.20 County Buildings 597.03 Special Communications 1,145.00 Finance 1,229.75 $4,576.82 It was moved by Mr. Morden, seconded by Mr. Duncan Campbell, that a letter of appreciation and thanks be sent to Mr. J. G. Wilson upon his completion of a long and faithful term of office as Assistant County Road Superintendent. Carried unanimously. The Council adjourned at 6.30 p. m. to meet at the call of the Warden.

Various Interesting Items of News

Getting Ready for New Bridge

Engineers from the Department of Highways are testing for footing for the new high level bridge to be erected over the Credit River at the Middle Road, in anticipation of the construction of the Hamilton. The bridge is expected to cross the river below the high tension power line and tentative plans call for a 40-foot driveway over the structure. Although nothing definite could be learned it is stated that the contract for the 1,400 foot structure has been let.

New Bridge at Broadus Completed

Although not yet used by the public generally, the new concrete bridge, recently constructed on Provincial Highway No. 7 over the Grand River at Broadus, is being put in service. The modern structure, featured by the longest single span on the department's highway system, is being utilized by trucks and other work on the approaching roads from the north and south ends. Ordinary traffic is still using the old route and the old bridge. The old bridge, a steel structure, has been sold to Woolwich Township. In accordance with an understanding arrived at some months ago, it is to be removed this fall and the material is to be used for township bridge purposes at Conestoga.

The Jessop-Cox Wedding

Maple Shade Farm, the fine country home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cox, Esq., was the scene of a very pretty autumn wedding on Wednesday, September 23, when their youngest daughter, Marie Jean, became the bride of Mr. Karl Jessop, of Orton. Rev. Dr. P. W. Spence performed the ceremony. At three o'clock the bridal party entered the beautifully decorated living room and took their places under an arch of evergreens and asters, against a background of holly leaves and red berries. The bride, in a gown of pale pink georgette with insets of applied net. Her veil of eggshell tulle was quite long and was arranged in cap effect and caught with orange blossoms. The carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, lily-of-the-valley and fern. Miss Marjorie Green, of Quelph, daintily gowned in pale green satin, who carried yellow roses, was her cousin's bridesmaid. Mr. Edward Jessop, of Kitchener, brother of the groom, was best man. After the signing of the register, the bride and groom led the way to the dining-room, where a sumptuous wedding repast was served, and followed by a very pleasing social evening. The young couple received numerous beautiful and useful gifts. The groom's gift to the bride was a lovely white gold wrist watch; to the bridesmaid, a gold beaded purse; the pianist, a necklet of beads, and to the groomsmen, a set of military brushes. The bride and groom left by motor on their honeymoon trip through Niagara district, Toronto, Bradford, and other points. The bride chose for travelling an ensemble of brown with hat, shoes and purse to match. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm, first line, Erin.

THE POPULAR SCIENTIFIC FOOD-LIVER

By Barbara H. Brooks

Not long ago, the feeding of liver was found to have a very remarkable effect on people suffering from secondary anemia. Before this time anemia had baffled the medical profession; it had seemed almost incurable. But with this new discovery the disease became, in some degree, controllable and the eating of liver became a fad. People began eating this meat at the suggestion of doctors, or because they had heard or read of its merits. Consequently liver became important in the butcher shop. Its importance has consistently risen until now it is often difficult to obtain. With its partners, bacon, liver began to appear on the menus of the best hotels and restaurants. It became a delicacy in many homes where formerly scraps of it had been thrown to the pets. New ways of preparing it were discovered. It was made into salads, loaves, soups and sandwich fillings. Call's liver is, of course, the best kind because of its delicate flavor and tender fibres. However, the less expensive types, the beef and pork, can be made very good with careful preparation. It really is necessary for some housewives to know various ways of cooking this food because frequently as much as a pound each day is advised by the doctor in connection with the treatment of an anemic patient. No matter how good food may be, if it has to be taken in such amounts, it will become monotonous unless it is tactfully prepared. This new recipe for a steamed liver loaf is very good. It tastes very much like the "pate de foie gras" which is an imported preparation of goose livers.

STEAMED LIVER LOAF

(Mock Pate de Foie Gras) 1 pound liver (beef or pork) 1/2 pound salt pork 1 medium onion 6 sprigs parsley 2 eggs (beaten) 1 cup fine corn flake crumbs 1/2 cup milk 1/4 teaspoon pepper

BAKED CALF'S LIVER

Select a fresh calf's liver weighing about three pounds. Have the butcher lard and roll it. Put into a roasting pan, and roast for one hour in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) Serve with a brown gravy.

PIPED LIVER AND BACON

1 1/2 pounds calf's liver 8 slices bacon Slice the liver into half-inch slices. Fry the bacon. When crisp remove from the frying pan. Sprinkle the slices of liver with pepper and salt and dredge with flour. Fry them in the bacon fat about ten minutes. When done, drain off all the fat, and serve garnished with the bacon. Liver may also be broiled.

CEMENT WASH HELPS

The increased use of wall-board in the construction and lining of poultry houses shows that birds sometimes peck at the wall-board material and do considerable damage. The Federal Experimental Station at Lennoxville, Que., find that an effective way to overcome this difficulty is to use a mixture of equal parts of lime and cement mixed with water to the consistency of a thick paste, and apply with a brush. This mixture forms a hard durable surface on which the birds can make no impression.

NOT MOULDERS OF OPINION

The people who argue every question are likely to pride themselves on their ability to silence their opponents. Silencing people, however, is a very different matter from convincing them. The young people who announce an opinion aggressively, and find it received in silence, are mistaken in supposing that this proves the extent of their influence. A great many people are unwilling to argue a question unless they are sure that their ideas will be received with courtesy and respect. They listen to the most violent expressions of views they do not share and shy nothing, but this does not mean that they are shaken in their opinions. The young people who announce their ideas on every imaginable subject in a loud, aggressive voice, who have the air of inviting every one to contradict them, and probably lose their tempers if somebody holding the opposite view attempts to argue with them, have very little influence in moulding public opinion.
