This and that

To-morrow is Nominating Day. Just four more days in November. Nominations to-morrow evening are from 7.30 to 8.30, in the Town Hall.

The Royal Winter Fair has been visited by many from this district the past week.

Just four weeks until the realization of the small boy's dream and the big boy's worry.

The last day of grace for payment of taxes is Monday. After that five per cent is added.

It is reported that work on the seventh line subway, near Oakville, commenced on Monday.

The O. H. A. rule of players has been changed, and it will be permissible to carry four substitutes this year.

The heavy fogs that are prevalent most every evening now make motoring rather dangerous these nights.

Burlington Fire Brigade will operate the arena there this year. Their tender of $225 was accepted by the Council.

Mr. E. J. Moore entertained the boys of his Sunday School class of the United Church at "Moorecroft" on Saturday evening.

Arrangements have been completed for the official opening of Norton Motors new garage on December 11, by the Post Company.

Travellers returning from the West report quite a change from the snow and cold prevalent there to the mild temperatures experienced here this fall.

Seven of the Quilts unemployed who went north have returned home. They were dismayed when they objected to the board. Gone again, back again.

Marigolds and asters were blooming in Acton garden this week, but received rather a serious setback with their second growth by yesterday's temperatures.

The local contingent of the Lorne Rifles participated in the military manoeuvres at Milton on Saturday afternoon. The brass band and bugle bands of the regiment were in attendance.

On Monday, November 23, a couple of local swimming enthusiasts were bathing in Fairy Lake. Usually skating is the pastime at that spot at this time of year.

Mr. Duncan Campbell, of Moffat, won first prize for a Shorthorn heifer, two years and under three, with Mayflower 15th, at the Royal Winter Fair this week.

The Oakville man who paid taxes for twelve years on eight feet of land which he did not own, has been reimbursed by the Council by $35, although the corporation had no legal responsibility.

A change in the timetable on the C. N. R. became effective last Sunday. The new schedule appears in this issue in another column. The late train at night going west, except Sunday night, and the early train eastward are discontinued. Other changes in time of other trains will be noted.

In the report of the Baptist concert last week, the name of Miss M. E. Odber, who gave several splendid eloquent numbers on the programme, was inadvertently omitted. Miss Odber's numbers added much to this splendid programme, and we regret mention of them was not made in the report published.

Mr. John Agnew, of Wainfleet, Man., has kindly forwarded this office a copy of the Wainfleet Free Press Evening Bulletin, which gives an account of the installation and operation of new presses just installed. These presses were thrown into operation by means of long distance electric circuit control from Toronto.

THE HABIT OF WORK

One of the fatal mistakes a good many young people are making is to wait till they get out of school before they form the habit of hard work. Everybody knows that a boy can squeeze through school without ever doing a day's hard work. If, in addition, he devotes Saturdays, all the other holidays, and the long summer vacation to enjoyment, by the time he finishes high school he will have a fearful handicap. If he goes to college, and pursues the same tactics, he is pretty nearly spoiled by the time he gets his diploma. If you have lived to be twenty-one or two, without doing hard work, to conquer the habit of loafing will take a tremendous upheaval.

We forget a great many facts which we learn in school, but if during this period we form the habit of close application, and hard work, we do not forget that. Young people with reasonably good health should have something useful to do in the summer. They should be learning to work. If the influence of your parents leaves you with no one to have enough regard about the sick friend who enjoys company at night.

Various Interesting Items of News

Married at Burlington A quiet wedding took place at the United Church Parsonage, Burlington, when Olive Myers, only daughter of Mrs. Pencock and the late James M. Pencock, was married to Harold Gordon, youngest son of Mrs. Taaker and the late Richard Taaker, Milton. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. E. Val Tilton. The bride was becomingly attired in dark green velvet and carried butterfly roses held for a few immediate relatives and friends at the "Edamnet," Burlington. Later the couple left on a motor trip for Eastern points. The bride chose for travelling a dark green tweed dress, green pheasant coat, brown felt hat and brown accessories. On their return they will reside near Milton.

OLD COUNTRY BUYING CANADIAN BARLEY

The prospect of enlarging Canadian trade in barley for malting purposes with the Old Country looks particularly good at the present time, according to a statement issued by the Dominion Seed Branch.

Early in the year a 50 lb. sample of Ontario barley, typical of the variety which can be supplied in quantity for malting purposes, was forwarded to W. O. Noxon, Agent General for Ontario in London. This sample proved of sufficient interest that orders have been placed for two carloads of barley. One of 2,000 bushels for Dublin, Ireland, and another for 1,500 bushels for delivery in London.

Both orders are being filled by barley grown in the Ottawa Valley district, in Lanark County, and will be going forward by way of Montreal the latter part of this month.

ANNOUNCEMENTS, ADS, ETC.

A colored preacher announced "There will be a 10 days' meeting every night next week except Wednesday afternoon."

A minister announced, "A young woman died suddenly last Sabbath, while I was preaching in a basely state of intoxication."

An advertisement of a washing machine commenced, "Every man his own washer-woman."

A Western paper advertised for "A young man to take care of a pair of horses of a religious turn of mind."

A man was asked why he went to church so often. He replied: "Because it is a beautiful sight to see one man keep so many women quiet for such a long time."

A clergyman recently aroused his sleepy audience by asserting in the most positive manner that notwithstanding the hard times, the wages of sin had not been cut down one inch.

A Galveston man, who had a mule for sale, heard that a friend in Houston wanted to buy a mule, telegraphed him: "Dear friend, if you are looking for a No. 1 mule, don't forget me."

Did you see this one? An exchange says that every time a poor man licks the new 3c stamp he feels like licking the Government.

NATURE'S WAY

Nature is constantly covering up whatever is unsightly. A rotting log may become the centre of picturesque beauty when green moss covers it, and ferns spring up about it. In the winter you pass a vacant lot where rubbish has been collected and find the unsightly mess that was an eyesore yesterday, concealed by a gorgeous covering of snow. Human beings seem now to learn this lesson which Nature teaches in countless ways. Some writers seek to praise themselves on their success in bringing to light some wrong-doing in the life of a man the world respects. Not long ago, a biography appeared of a much loved author, in which a youthful error was described with a sense which suggested positive enjoyment. The same spirit betrayed where persons discuss a rumor they have heard, derogatory to some acquaintance, and pass it on to an ever widening circle. How much better is nature's way to cover the unsightly instead of exposing it.

A REAL DIPLOMAT

What we need in the diplomatic corps is half a dozen men who have been married for fifteen or twenty years and possess wives who still believe the story about the sick friend who enjoys company at night.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By Edson R. Waite, Shawnee, Okla.

Hon. J. T. M. Anderson, Premier of Saskatchewan, says: "That few elements contribute more to human happiness and well-being than 'Loyalty'."

In its personal application it is the epitome of the doctrine of the Nazarene, and in its general acceptance it is the backbone and bulwark of nations. There is no virtue more splendid, and few more universally esteemed. Without it there can be no true patriotism, nor can there be personal fidelity. It may be mistaken in its attachments, but the spirit of its very mistakes may have virtue.

Its practice builds nations and cements the whole fabric of human relationship. His application to ideals adds a spiritual leaven to life and justifies faith in humanity.

It is admirable alike in the family and in the council chamber of the nation. It elevates the humble, and nothing so becomes these in the seats of the mighty.

It was his recognition of this inherent British quality which led Napoleon to exclaim: "Had my people been British, I could have lost Waterloo and still been Emperor."

Loyalty safeguards the state and develops the country. It surrounds difficulties and generates the patriotic faith that "moves mountains."

It achieves more than the most skillful materialism. It will suffer anything and come from the ordeal refined like a tempered sword blade.

It is beyond price. Skill and brains may be purchased and held for sale, but never true loyalty.

It was loyalty that built the British Empire—loyalty kept high traditions of honor, justice and integrity, worked into the wood and warp of this stubborn island race for a thousand years.

Never were true loyalists so much needed as now. Many of the peoples of the world are passing through conditions which are causing widespread distress and suffering. It is by loyalty that we shall come to our own again—patient, unswerving loyalty to our friends, to our country, and to our obligations, in respect to people and nations, who, although sometimes alien to our blood and race, occupy their own place in the great scheme of common humanity.

FEATHERED, AMBASSADORS SAIL FOR AUSTRALIA

Rabbits, raccoons, bear cubs and an assortment of birds were among the last minute arrivals for the Canadian National steamer "Canadiar Constructor," Canada's trade ship, which left for Australia recently.

These furred and feathered ambassadors of good-will reached Montreal in charge of the Canadian National express, from the Toronto zoo and destined for the zoos of Adelaide and Melbourne. The shipment consisted of two raccoons, two bear cubs, three rabbits, four wood ducks, two wild turkeys, two Red-capped ducks, and two mourning doves. Private deck and hold space was reserved for their use and a good supply of special food loaded for them on their long 10,000 mile voyage to the Antipodes.

"LET YOUR DOLLARS SERVE CANADA" IS SLOGAN FOR LOAN.

"Let your dollars serve Canada" is the slogan for the appeal which the Dominion Government has launched to raise $150,000,000 "to promote the economic and financial welfare of Canada." as it is aptly put in the official circular containing details of the 1931 National Service Loan.

The offering of this considerable amount of bonds to investors is one of the most important financial undertakings this country has ever witnessed, certainly since the war days when Victory bonds were offered in large amounts and readily subscribed to save the country from foreign aggression.

Now the necessity has arisen of saving the country from economic consequences of an extraordinary character, and that the public will respond with the same promptness is as unquestioned as when Canada stood on the verge of a cataclysm in the darkest days of the Great War.

Owing to world-wide conditions, economic problems are confronting Canada, which require the public to respond with the same promptness and in the same measure as when Canada faced the darkest days of the Great War. That is why the present appeal for funds is being made.

One of the important features of this loan is that the public will receive a little more than 5 per cent on their investment. The bonds are being issued to mature at the end of five years, according to the wishes of investors. The five year bonds are priced at 90%, and the ten year maturity at 90. Both classes can be obtained in denominations of $50 and $1,000, but the five year issue can also be obtained in $100 lots, which will appeal to people of modest means.

The interest dates are May 15 and November 15, the interest rate starting to accrue from November 15, 1931. Fully registered bonds of larger denominations running up to as high as $20,000 are also obtainable with the interest payable on these direct to the holder by Government cheque.

All the banks in Canada and their branch offices are authorized to accept subscriptions as well as all recognized bond dealers throughout the Dominion.

General feeling in well-informed financial circles is that there will be adequate response on the part of the investing public to make this issue a great success. There is profound confidence among bankers and other leaders in the realm of finance, that Canadians can be depended upon to back up their country with their money when call is made for their assistance.

There is a large amount of money awaiting favorable opportunity for investment in some high-class security, such as a Government bond provides, is unquestioned. The public have savings in the various banks aggregating upwards of $1,500,000,000. This total approximates an increase of $400,000,000 over the figures of a year ago, which goes to show that the public are displaying pronounced habits of thrift, one of the healthiest signs possible for any country to exhibit.

Besides this source of purchasing power, it is stated on good authority that trust companies hold a substantial reservoir of funds which would come into service in connection with just such an offering as the Dominion of Canada is making through the Department of Finance at Ottawa.

These are encouraging factors which ought to crown the offering with success if the public at large second the efforts of financial organizations of the country.

VALUE OF HUMAN LIFE

Experts have figured that the economic value of a human life is $5,000. Multiplying this by the number of people in the United States shows an aggregate of $20,000,000,000. Some lives, of course, are worth more than others. Those nearing the grave have less economic value than the young and vigorous. The lives of children are valuable. The children of to-day are the business men and women of to-morrow, and will fill our places over more capably perhaps.

Here is food for thought for life insurance companies. It has been shown that the people of this country are insured for only thirty-eight billion dollars. Were this fire insurance on buildings, structures, residences, what a cry would go up about neglect! Yet statistics show that only one out of fourteen hundred buildings or structures ever catch fire. But such human life, sooner or later, passes away.

Prior to 1909, life insurance in force amounted to five billion dollars, and these figures were then regarded as tremendous. Since that time insurance has increased to thirty-eight billion dollars, a stupendous increase. But, when viewed from various angles, its dependence vanishes.

Since 1909 the economic value of human lives has increased $370,000,000,000, and the business of life insurance increased only ten per cent of this increase. Insurance companies are not even keeping pace with the increase, to say nothing of catching up. Life insurance must increase as fast as the number of the insured now in force, to catch up. This is equivalent to saying that there could be seventeen times more than the insurance now in force in order to catch up. It means that the present companies and societies could write seventeen times more insurance than they now have, or $650,000,000,000 more, before the people of this country are adequately insured.

The present companies and societies are not even keeping up with the increase of the population of the United States. The man who does not keep his property insured against fire is now called a down-right fool. The time is rapidly approaching when that man who does not adequately insure his life will be called worse than a fool.
