THE MAPLE LEAF HOCKEY TEAM

The following poem, reprinted from the Bracebridge Gazette, was written by Angus McKinnon, Jr., a brother of Mrs. G. W. Maggies and Mr. Kenneth McKinnon, Acton.

Here in America, As everyone knows, Professional hockey Seems all the go. Down there in Toronto, There's a man, Connie Smythe, He's got a crack team, As sure as your life...

A VISIT FROM A LION

forth and held attention. Every one of the picture men and women had hands uplifted with some gift to please a child. Three persons had been somehow shooed to one side; they stood with their backs to the wall on the left of the room—four persons, to be exact, for one of them was sitting astride of his mother's hip, wrapped in his mother's shawl...

MAJOR

There's a man on the left side, high. He's tall, and he's got what looks like a band of shadder over his eyes, but I wish you could see the light that's shining out of them eyes, through the spader! He's holding up a picture he's painted for the baby to see.

WHEN YOU YIELD

When you yield, yield gracefully. A great many persons never get any credit for giving in, because they do it with such bad grace. Instead of receiving gratitude, they awaken resentment.

NEW RACKET ON DAD

Bobby (short of money)—"I say dad, have you any work you'd like me to do?" Father (taken by surprise)—"Why no—but—"

The Greatest Legacy of the Canadian people to the next generation... is life insurance. When the Sun Life began business in 1871 life insurance in Canada was $13 per capita. TODAY it is $635 per capita. With one exception, Canadians are now the highest insured people in the world. The Sun Life has played a leading part in fostering this thrift in the Canadian people and in protecting Canadian homes. The rapid growth of the Sun Life is shown in the following table:

THE "CHRONIC KICKER"

There is a difference between the kicker and the critic. The latter is a useful member of society and the former is a thorn in the flesh. The chronic "kicker" never finds anything to commend. He is always looking for flaws, always finding fault. Every worth-while organization is hampered by his activities and our Government is no exception.

NEVER MURMUR

Minister—Matthew, I have not seen you at church for some months. Does the voice of duty call you? Matthew—Maybe it do, sir; but since I had the influenza last winter I been as deaf as a post.
