DIED
FARRINGTON—In Woodstock Hospital, On Thursday, August 4, 1932, Mabel C. Farrington, Principal of Acton Continuation School.

This and that
—Most every day brings its shower.
—Just two weeks until the Canadian National Exhibition.

—Most of the wheat in this district is safely harvested now.
—No complaint is heard this year of the excessive heat of the summer of 1932.

—For best values the careful buyer will not miss an item in the advertisement.
—Fifteen hundred performers take part in the Canadian National Exhibition pageant.

—Acton Fair is out to cater to the crowd.—The admission price this year will be the popular quarter.
—Some splendid yields of wheat are reported from farmers in this district who have threshed this year.

—Milton Fair have advanced their dates until late in October to avoid conflicting with other fairs in the vicinity.
—Acton lost the first play-off game, but are far from being down-hearted. There is another chance in Milton on Saturday.

—The Horse Palace, Coliseum and Live Stock Pavilion at the Canadian National Exhibition is the world's largest exposition building, covering 24 1/2 acres.
—Special prayers have been ordered to be offered by His Lordship the Bishop of Hamilton in all churches in the Diocese for the success of the Imperial Conference at Ottawa.

—Someone set fire in the rubbish deposited back of the grist mill on Tuesday evening, and it required the work of the Municipal Officers and several helpers to extinguish the blaze about midnight.
—One of the delivery horses of G. W. Masales' dairy was taken suddenly ill last Friday, and died immediately following the attack. The animal was only six years old, and is quite a loss to Mr. Masales.

—The Tom Pascoe, who was taken into custody by the police last week on a charge of pilfering a pair of coppers in York Township, is not the Thos. Pascoe, who is resident of the vicinity now, and is known locally.
—Exhibition Chorus of 2,000 voices, accompanied by England's oldest brass band—the "Besses-o'-the-Barn"—will be heard in four concerts at the Canadian National Exhibition this year, August 27, September 1, 6 and 10, in the Coliseum.

—Sam Sperling, Toronto, will spend the next ten days in the county jail at Brampton for failing to appear on a summons issued for July 25. He appeared in Toronto Township police court and answered a charge of driving without a permit issued him two weeks ago.
—It is evident that the Seventh Marathon Swim at the Canadian National Exhibition will attract many spectators this year. Applications are coming in from star swimmers all over the world. The first event, the women's swim, 10 miles, will be held on Friday, August 26, and the men will compete at 15 miles on Wednesday, August 31.

THE DRINK EVIL IN INDIA
Mahatma Gandhi is believed by many to be the greatest man that India has ever produced. All that he does and says carries weight. It is therefore interesting to know that he regards the drink evil to be one of the greatest of the many evils in his land. Not long ago he said in the presence of an American woman, Miss Ada E. Ferguson, that he would rather have every child in India uneducated than have them educated at the expense of India's manhood, having it debauched by drink. He declared that it would be better to go out without the things paid for with the revenue derived from rum than to have those things at all the fearful cost that drink entails. A paper published in India makes this interesting statement:
"Nearly all public men in India are total abstainers. So far as the intellectual classes are concerned it can safely be said that the drink problem does not exist."
As a matter of fact, very few of the really intellectual men in our own country ever become the victims of drink and thousands of them are total abstainers. The lower the standard of intelligence the more likely one is to become the victim of drink. Ignorance, combined with a weak will, is responsible for the downfall of many a man through the medium of drink. India is a land in which there are many terrible evils, but that it is a nation of drunkards is no more true than it would be to call our own country a nation of drunkards.

IN THE BARGAIN LIST
Robert returned from school with his report card for his mother's inspection. "But, dear," she said, "what's the trouble? Why have you such poor grades this month?"
"There's no trouble, mom," was the quick reply. "You know yourself things are always marked down after the holidays."

MRS. ROBERT FULTON
Mrs. Robert Fulton whose maiden name was Annie Anderson, was born in Nagsawaga seventy-two years ago, died at her home on July 27. Mrs. Fulton had been in failing health for the past year, and although for a time she appeared to gain in strength, it was of short duration. She passed away peacefully with little suffering. She was much respected by her neighbors and all who knew her, which was evidenced by the large number which attended the last sad rites on July 29. The funeral service at the home was conducted by Rev. John Little, of Rockwood. The pallbearers were Messrs. George Gordon, W. A. Lasby, C. Ramsdew, E. Wilson, A. Near and V. Watson. Interment took place at Eden Mills Cemetery. Her husband predeceased her fourteen years ago. She leaves to mourn her passing, two sons, G. Stanley, and Andrew; two daughters, Mrs. Chas. Norris, of Campbellville; and Miss Annie, at home; also one sister, Mrs. Green, of Moose Jaw, Sask.

MISS M. C. FARRINGTON

This community was indeed shocked when the news reached here on Friday that Miss Mabel C. Farrington, Principal of Acton Continuation School, had passed away on Thursday at the hospital in Woodstock. Although known to be suffering from heart trouble, Miss Farrington's condition was not considered serious until two weeks ago, when she entered the hospital for treatment. For the past two years Miss Farrington has been the very capable Principal of Acton Continuation School. No teacher who has occupied this position was held in greater esteem by pupils and by all who came in contact with her. Under her guidance, the school had maintained a high standard of efficiency and the recently announced results of the Lower School examinations, with their high percentage of successful candidates, was a splendid testimonial to her worth and capabilities. In the community and church work Miss Farrington ably filled her place. She was a member of St. Alban's Church, and was very clerk. Mabel C. Farrington was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Irving Farrington, and was born at Norwich, Ontario. Her parents died about eighteen years ago. Of this family, one brother, Mr. Harvey Farrington, of Lowell, N. Y., and two sisters, Mrs. Herbert Hill, Fort George, B. C., and Mrs. Norman McIntosh, Woodstock, Ontario, remain. The funeral was held on Monday afternoon, from the home of her sister, Mrs. McIntosh, in Woodstock, with service conducted by Rev. Mr. Ashby, of Woodstock, Acton, by Rev. P. A. Sawyer, L. Thos. Cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Rookes and Miss Olive Rookes, Mr. C. A. Conway, Mr. Webster, Mrs. Peter Murray and Rev. Mrs. F. A. Sawyer, of Acton, attended the funeral.

NOT AN ACCIDENT

A popular magazine recently called attention to the fact that twenty-five or thirty years ago, a few young men in a western city formed a debating club, and that every member of that club, without exception, became a distinguished citizen. Now that is a record so remarkable that it seems worth while to look for the explanation. The best families are supposed to have a black sheep. The schools graduating men who become famous, turn out a larger or smaller percentage of failures. Why did this debating club result in a hundred per cent. of successes?
One of the answers is that it represented the ideals of the members themselves. In many a home there is a big difference between the aspirations of the parents for their children, and the aspirations of the children for themselves. If a boy's ideal is to be a common loafer, his mother's dream of the achievement is not likely to be realized.
Another point of interest is that it took care of a considerable part of their leisure. The club meant not only meeting at stated times, but reading, thinking, exercising their brains, struggling with problems outside their daily routine. It is the use of leisure that makes or breaks you young people, and those of you who have the grit to give a generous share of your leisure to activities of this sort, are pretty sure to be heard from later. When every member of a debating club, made up of hard-working young men, achieves distinction in a quarter of a century, you may be sure it is not an accident.

THE COST OF LIQUOR REVENUES

A recent Canadian press despatch from Ottawa called attention to the large revenues which governments, provincial and federal, have received from liquor under Government sale. These figures are impressive. In order to fill out the financial picture social students will need to put alongside these total revenues, the total spent for liquor sold in the various provinces:
To collect $35,274,390 liquor revenue in ten years there was expended in British Columbia $139,725,788.
To collect $14,872,131 liquor revenue in seven years there was expended in Alberta $84,315,108.
To collect $12,558,683 liquor revenue in six years there was expended in Saskatchewan $65,445,139.
To collect $12,260,251 liquor revenue in eight years there was expended in Manitoba $57,487,087.
To collect $43,796,458 liquor revenue in four years and five months there was expended in Ontario $235,575,820.
To collect $69,032,472 liquor revenue in ten years there was expended in Quebec $589,944,914.
To collect $5,329,788 liquor revenue in four years there was expended in New Brunswick $16,659,844.
To collect $774,359 liquor revenue in a little over one year there was expended in Nova Scotia $5,602,823.
There has been expended in Canada under Government sale a total of $1,194,782,813. It is sometimes claimed that the indirect cost of liquor is equal to the direct cost. If this be so the cost of liquor sold in Canada under Government sale has already reached an amount more than equal to the total national debt, which is over $2,261,000,000 apart from that arising from the Canadian National Railway.

A CENTRE OF INTEREST

Ontario Extended to "Lemoyne" Steamship as it Traverses Welland Canal and Lake Ontario for the First Time

Stripped of her flags and bunting, but still the world's greatest grain carrier and holder of all fresh-water records, the Canada Steamship Lines freighter, "Lemoyne" is on her way back to the head of the lakes, after her historic first voyage through the new Welland Ship Canal, and her triumphant welcome to the lower lakes and the Port of Kingston. Never in her short but glorious history on the lakes has the Lemoyne been the centre of so much attention and showered with so much praise as during the past few days. Early Saturday morning the giant freighter nosed into the canal and stood ready until His Excellency the Earl of Bessborough, Governor General of Canada, released the lever opening the canal gates and allowing the Lemoyne to pass along the waterway. Thousands of people lined the canal banks as the freighter crept by and cheered as she severed the white ribbon stretched across the canal, officially opening it to the commerce of the nation.
Saturday night, as the Lemoyne emerged from the canal and entered Lake Ontario for the first time, she was again given a great and noisy welcome. Dozens of smaller craft waited at the canal mouth for the queen of the lakes to go by, greeting her with shrill blasts from their sirens; on shore thousands of motor cars sounded their horns, adding to the din. A single deep blast from the Lemoyne's siren acknowledged the salute and the 633 feet long freighter first felt the water of Lake Ontario beneath her bows.
At Kingston, on the Lemoyne's arrival, was the signal for an elaborate civic reception. A fleet of small ships escorted the giant freighter to her berth at the Kingston grain elevator; an aeroplane hovered overhead, dropping showers of streamers to the ship's decks and crowds of Kingston citizens and visitors from nearby towns and cities lined the shores of Cataract Bay. Immediately the ship docked Mayor George C. Wright and members of the Kingston City Council went on board and on the huge decks of the Lemoyne, in full view of the assembled crowds, extended their welcome to the ship and to W. H. Coverdale, President of Canada Steamship Lines. Following the official welcome and illuminated address, a golden key and the freedom of the city were given to Mr. Coverdale, the first time such an honor has been conferred upon one of Kingston's native sons.
Speakers extended their congratulations to the company and its President expressed the gratitude of Kingston that through the efforts of Mr. Coverdale that city has now been established as the eastern terminal of deep water navigation. Mr. Coverdale, replying, expressed his faith in the future of Kingston as a great grain transshipment centre and outlined the great part that his company takes in the carrying of grain from the head of the lakes to the great ports of the east.
The ceremony completed, the Lemoyne immediately began to discharge her enormous cargo, 575,000 bushels of Canadian grown wheat from the firm of James Richardson and Sons, a firm which was originally established in the city of Kingston. Sunday night and all day Monday the streams of golden wheat poured into the elevator, with its capacity of two and one half million bushels, while Kingstonians stood and watched the largest single cargo ever carried in any ship on any sea transferred from ship to shore. Eight average size lake freighters are required to carry a single Lemoyne cargo, and Kingston was amazed and delighted that in a single day more wheat arrived in the local port than in seven days before.
But to-day the pomp and ceremony are over. Viewed and admired by thousands of Canadians and by noted leaders from all corners of the British Empire; hailed as the largest freshwater boat in the world and the forerunner of a new era in the history of Canadian navigation, the Lemoyne to-day is back on her regular job. Once more she plys the lakes—only this time over a cruising radius of over a thousand miles—bringing from the lakehead her cargoes of Canadian wheat to this busy port at the lower end of Lake Ontario. Her day of hectic praise and admiration is over and she returns to her task as leader of the great grain fleet that links east and west by the newly completed waterway.

SEE GOOD FEAR CROP

Prospects are exceptionally good for a large pear crop in the Province of Ontario, according to latest estimates of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. The trees came through the winter with very little injury and weather conditions have been excellent for the development of the fruit. Niagara district looks for a yield double that of last year and figures. Taken as a whole, the production for the Province should be far in excess of 1931.
In Nova Scotia, however, conditions have not been so favorable. Cool weather has reduced the set of the fruit and the crop will probably be about two-thirds that of last year.
British Columbia should have a crop about equal to last year's. Kelowna, Penticton and Summerland, the leading pear growing areas, expect slightly reduced yields and other districts vary considerably.
Taken generally, Canada's pear area for 1932 should be considerably greater than in 1931.

THE WESTERN FAIR

The Western Fair at London is always looked forward to by the people of Western Ontario as the biggest event of the year.
People are coming to realize more and more that the more they know the better they are equipped to meet competition and the battle of life, and that the proper place to keep abreast of the times is the modern exhibition, with the latest development in Agriculture, Dairy Products, Live Stock, Manufacturing, Commercial and Industrial achievements.
From September 12 to 17 you will find every phase of endeavor in farming and manufacturing gathered together and centralized in one spot for your convenience; exhibits which, if you wished to visit separately, would cost hundreds of dollars and entail a journey of thousands of miles, as well as taking months of valuable time.
This year, as in years past, the Board of Directors have set aside a handsome sum of money for the prize list and attractions, engaging as the attraction on the Midway the ever popular "Model Shows of America," which was such an outstanding success last year.
The attractions in front of the grand stand were hand picked for their brilliance and snap and bid fair to outshine any previous booking along these lines. The horse show and the dog show will be exceptionally good this year and will be the big drawing card for thousands of enthusiastic admirers of man's two best friends.
Altogether the 1932 Western Fair should go down in history as the banner year of its existence.
