MASON FACTORY TO BE ENLARGED

Construction of a New Addition Will b Commenced Immediately-Factory Now Taxed to Capacity to Meet Orders

An industry that has shown steady growth and advancement since its founding in Acton is the Mason Kitting Company. Now news comes that this firm will still further expand and work will be commenced at once on the erection of another story over the present one-story section of the plant. When this addition was built a few years ago, provision was made for the addition of another story as the business warranted the expansion. That times has now arrived and the expansion will be made. Just this spring new office quarters and a new entrance were found necessary and were added to the plant. Work on the new addition will be commenced at once and it is planned that the construction will not interfere with the output of the factory which is now and for the past few months has been working to capacity..... of children's underwear has increased to such an extent that even in these times when most factories are only working part time, this plant has been unable to meet all the demands that are being Kitching, of Toronto, and Rev. G. R. made-for its product. Manufacturing an exceptionally fine line of children's underwear at a popular price, Mr. Mason has built up a very substantial business connection and the various lines are handled by the leading dealers throughout the Dominion. The "Mason Knit" children's underwear is now stocked and sold by leading wholesales and retail stores. The increasing and steady employment afforded in Acton by this industry as well as the other industries of Acton has been a factor of extreme benefit to the community under the present circumstances.

Hallowe'en Frolic Was Fine Event

In Spite of Unsuitable Weather Crowd Had a Fine Evening in the Arena

The Acton Business Men's Association are receiving a great deal of praise for the effort they put forth in making a sane and interesting celebration for Hallowe'en in Acton this year. An event similar has previously been held on the street, but the advantages of the Arens on a night with a downpour of rain such as Monday night witnessed, were really appreclated.

The weather detracted from the crowd but four or five hundred assembled and enjoyed the evening that was planned primarily for the youngsters. The parade could not be held on the street but as advertised was life size in the Arena, and the marshal was much more active than would have been possible in the drenching rain and his (?) bulky

The Anniversary of United Church

Splendid Congregations, Eloquent Sermons and Fine Music Are Features of Services

The eighth anniversary of the United Church, Acton, was observed last Sunday. It was the eighty-seventh of the old church. Splendid congregations filled the edifice at both services and the spirit of the occasion, and the eloquent; sermons by Rev. Mr. Little will long be remembered. The special music by the choir, and the soloists were items that added much to this anniversary occasion. Rev. John Little, of Rockwood, is a minister muchbeloved in this district and the congregations who listened to his discourses were

Mr. Little's morning text was taken from Genesis, the eighteenth chapter and the nineteenth verse, where the Lord is presented as expressing perfect confidence in Abraham to command tris household. The subject was "Home." speaker extolled the home as the most sacred place of all human association and the institution upon which the moral men and a youth who shot a prize fabric of the nation must be built. He emphasized the duties of parenthood, and MacKendrick during the hunt on Satur- drew several very practical lessons from the spirit and conduct of Abraham, making it very clear that his personal attiwas brought to them by a retriever. The tude to God and his religious fidelity were the means by which he governed well his own house, and became the founder of a great nation. Abundant illustrations were drawn from scripture and from practical experience, settingdren. The obedience of Abraham to the call of God and duty always assured him of a large place in the confidence and trust of God. The sermon closed with a strong appeal for the restoration of the family altar and a more devote attitude to God in the home life.

At the morning service the congregation was augmented by the congregation from Knox Presbyterian Church, the service of which church had been withdrawn for the anniversary of a sister church. Rev. H. L. Bennie, M. A., the pastor, assisted with the service.

At the evening service the Baptist congregation joined with the congregation and Rev. Mr. Aikens, of Ballinafad. also assisted the minister and visiting speaker in the service. Mrs. Dale, of Toronto, contributed two sacred solos, and the choir rendered anthems that Mr. Little took his text at this service from the ninth verse of the third chapter of Second Peter: "The Lord is not slack concerning His promise, as some men count slackness; but is long-suffering to us-ward, not willing that any pentance." "If men and women are lost it is not God's, fault for He has made marvellous provision for their salvation," lect of repentance was sometimes neglected but the New Testament emphasizes it everywhere. Without repentance there can be no true conversion. Christ's first and last message was one of Repentance. Without it there-God. Jesus did not make the way to road an easy one. The lost must return of their own accord. None can do it for us but it must be a complete surrender of our will to that of the Almighty.' With a fund of Biblical quotation and illustration Mr. Little impressed his hearers with this glorious theme and closed his discourse with the appeal, "Is He your Saviour to-night?" and urged his hearers to accept him and yield to His will.

A liberal anniversary offering has been received for church funds, and the givings came well up to the objective set
