PLANTING ROSES
 It is important to plant roses as early in the spring as possible so as to get them established before there is warm weather or drying winds, is the advice of horticultural experts of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. If the branches look withered when they are received, bury them in wet soil for about two days so the stems will take up some moisture. Prune back severely leaving only from three to six feet above the union between the main, or named variety and the stock to just below the surface of the soil. Firm the soil well about the roots when planting. Hybrid Tea roses are planted about eighteen inches apart and Hybrid Perpetuals two and a half feet.

HOUSE-BROKEN
 We congratulated a lady on her silver wedding anniversary for living twenty years with the same man.
 He is not the same man he was. She got hold of him," he replied, "The American Magazine."

LETTERS TAKE THEIR COURSE
 "Let matters take their course" is a fine motto for lazy people, but it would produce chaos if introduced into the practical world. The captain who lets matters take their course would be more likely to have his ship dashed to pieces on the rocks, than to see it sailing into the desired harbor. Those of you who leave luck to settle your fate, instead of asking pluck to take a hand, deserve all that you get. Instead of leaving affairs to take their course, choose your course and make matters follow it.

ORIENT BUYS OUR POTATOES
 Canadian potatoes are finding their way into the markets of the Far East, figuring in the lists of imports of British Malaya. According to the latest reports available, 71 tons were marketed in 1931 as against 28 tons in 1929. In addition, some of the potatoes credited to Hongkong were of Canadian origin. The main consumers of potatoes in British Malaya, says the Commercial Intelligence Journal, are the Europeans, Indians and native people, constituting in all about half the population.

A NON-STOP RUN
 Mr. Alltalk was a very poor speaker, but like most of his ilk, he did not know it. On one occasion he was asked by some friends to give his views on a certain matter at a public meeting.
 Determined to make the most of his opportunity to prove that he was a great orator, the vain gentleman took the centre of the platform and began his speech. After a discourse which had lasted for quite an hour the audience began to get very tired of the same ideas pronounced over and over again.
 At last a man at the back of the hall could endure it no longer and slipped out of the door, where he found another sufferer, who asked: "Has he finished?"
 The other gave a look far more expressive than any words as he replied: "Yes, long ago, but he won't stop."
 Virtue has many preachers, but few martyrs.—Héribertus.
