REAL WORSHIP
Sweet-Young Thing: "Basil says he worships the very ground I stand on."
Rejected Suitor: "I don't blame him. A farm of that size is not to be sneezed at."
ADVERTISED BY YOUR VOICE
What kind of an impression does your voice make on the people you meet? It was said of a great woman that she could bring tears to the eyes of an audience by reciting the multiplication table. Not the words, but her voice with its beauty, pathos, and tragic depths was responsible.
Your voice is something that makes a very deep impression on those with whom you come in contact. Some voices whine, repelling the listener. Nobody wants to be whined at constantly. Some voices growl, and they are just as bad. Some voices are so meek and timid that regardless of that which they say, they carry this message to the listener: "Don't bother with me. It really won't pay you to waste your time in my society." Some of you young people wonder why you are overlooked and neglected when you are passing along this sort of message every time you open your mouth.
Do not roar like a bully, whine like a coward, or whisper as though you were afraid of the sound of your own voice. Speak clearly, distinctly, pleasantly.
IMMENSE FORTUNES NOT LONG KEPT IN FAMILIES
The fact is that no one has yet devised a method by which a large fortune can for long be kept together. The Astor fortune is the only large fortune in this country which is at all old and, being in real estate, its value uncertain.
The big railroad fortunes of the seventies are fading—none of the Vanderbilts or Goulds is to-day in the front rank of wealth. The steel and oil fortunes which have passed to the second generation are breaking up, while the more recent motor car and utility fortunes have already, while still in the hands of their original owners, been drastically cut.
It is rare for a fortune to last through three generations. Either it is split up by successive inheritances or sealed down through the depreciation in the value of money. The only really old money fortunes in the world are those of the Indian princes, who will have nothing to do with banks or commerce and keep their funds in specie.
Banker fortunes hardly ever last a century. The Rothschild fortune, which is the oldest banker fortune, is no longer of much moment.—Samuel Crowther, in Nation's Business.

MY DAILY DESIRE

To awaken each morning with a smile brightening my face; to greet the day with reverence for the opportunities it contains; to approach my work with a mind; to hold ever before me, even in the doing of little things, the purpose toward which I am working; to meet men with laughter on my lips and love in my heart; to be gentle and kind and courteous through all the hours; to approach the night with the weariness that ever woos sleep and the joy that comes from work well done—this is how I desire to waste wisely my days.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK?

By Edison R. Waite, Shawnee, Oklahoma
Gault MacGowan, Managing Editor of the Trinidad Guardian, Port of Spain, (B. W. I.), says:
"Of the Pilgrim Fathers were to land anew in America, they would have no difficulty in prescribing a cure for the present depression.
'Accustomed as we were to refer to the Bible for direction in all their problems, they would not have had to look further than the thirty-third chapter of Exodus, where the Children of Israel were enjoined to cease production every seven years. Fields and orchards were to be left to lie fallow, and the cattle to roam wild.
'Even Mr. Howard Scott, the technocrat, could scarcely quarrel with this procedure. If, as the technocrats suggest, we cut the present working day in half—that is to say, work only four hours a day instead of eight—it would be exactly the same thing as taking twelve months holiday every seventh year.
'Of the two courses, any director of industry would infinitely prefer the Israelitish solution, since it is a waste of effort to start work and then abandon it. The best way is to work hard on a job and then finish it.
'If we all knew that we were in for a holiday every seven years—apart, of course, from essential services—there would be no talk of the menace of the machine or any other department of public enterprise. Calculating from the Biblical date of the creation of the world, 4004 B. C., it is an odd coincidence that 1932 should have been a holiday year, the 84th cycle of seven years.
'It was in 1932 that economists were crying out all over the world to cut production as a solution of human problems. I wonder how many of them knew that the problem had been settled for them in 1491 B. C., when the regulations were laid down for cultivation of the promised land."

Just as Good
ASK YOURSELF IS IT?
When you ask for a certain line of goods, a line which you have seen advertised in newspapers --- and you are told "Here is something just as good and cheaper," it is time to do some thinking. If there is more profit in selling goods not advertised, and you are buying at a saving, there must be something wrong somewhere---and usually that is loss of quality ---something left out that is THERE in the advertised commodity you originally asked for.
It is well to remember that a manufacturer invests his good dollars in advertising space because he knows his product is right. The fact that he advertises in newspapers so that "he who runs may read" is evidence that he knows his claims are right, and that he is ready to stand behind his merchandise and the stores that sell it.
