That's just that

The tennis courts are now in full use.

Election day is just two weeks from Tuesday.

There are many splendid beds of tulips about town now.

Even "Fair and warm" can get monotonous in the weather forecast.

Fergus tax rate will be 52 mills this year, which is an increase of 8 mills.

The mosquitoes made an early arrival and seem to be a splendid crop.

June—the month of roses and brides and election—will be ushered in tomorrow.

Victoria Day was an ideal summer holiday, although the wind was a bit chilly.

About sixty names were added to the Voters' Lists at the Revision Court sitting in Acton.

Political meetings will need to be brief and snappy for a summer election campaign.

Unless rain comes soon many of the spring crops will be very light and pasture scarce.

This is Life Insurance Week. Check over your life insurance needs with a competent representative.

One crop that wasn't winter-killed was the mosquitoes. They seem to be livelier and more plentiful than ever this year.

Acton School pupils had an extra holiday on Friday last, instead of the day allowed for the King's Birthday, on June 4th.

Mr. Mac Sinclair has purchased the three houses of Mr. John R. Watson, on Main Street, and will make several changes and renovate them.

On a visit to Guelph the other evening Parks Superintendent Nicol gave the editor a sample of the many varieties of splendid lilacs that grow in Riverside Park there. There were at least a half dozen kinds and the bloom and perfume of this early summer bush is gorgeous.

Life Insurance Week

This week is recognized as Life Insurance Week. During the past few years, when other securities have been unsteady and very often of doubtful value, the life insurance companies have stood the test and the thousands of investors or policyholders have enjoyed a feeling of comfort from the savings entrusted to these reliable companies. Better days are in the offing, but it is wise at this time to check up and allow sufficient investments to safe places. Life insurance has proven itself one of the best.
