ADD ICE CREAM TO ICED CHOCOLATE FOR GALA HOT DAY BEVERAGE

You can please almost every taste for hot weather beverages with iced coffee or iced chocolate. Made rich and creamy with a foundation of sweetened condensed milk they are specially tempting. And they are a special comfort to the housewife when unexpected guests arrive.

Either one may be turned into a very gala_beverage by the addition of a generous tablespoon of ice cream-coffee, chocolate or vanilla in the loed coffee. Either drink should be well chilled before serving. Chopped ice or ice cubes may be added to the glasses when serving to maintain the chilled temperature and to provide that most cooling of sounds—the clink of ice against glass. An opened can sweetened condensed milk keeps at least 2 weeks in the ice box.

CENTURY OLD FRAME HOUSE HAS HISTORY

W. C. Edwards & Co., Ltd., Ottawa have been running in the columns of the "Canada Lumberman" a timely and instructive series of advertisements or homes built of Canadian white pine (Pinus Strobus) over a century ago, which are still in good condition. In the July 15th edition there appeared, through the courtesy of the White Pine Bureau, an illustration of the Adams homestead; at Acton, Ontario, in the Township of Esquesing, which, in the Indian language means "The Land of the Tall Pines."...

The home is still in perfect condition, although constructed away back in 1830. J. B. Mackenzie, ex-Mayor of Georgetown, and former President of the Ontario Retail Lumber Dealers' Association, in a letter addressed to W. C. Edwards & Co., states that he (Mr. Mackenzie) is the owner of this building, which is now occupied by the foreman of the Mackenzie lumber and coal yard at Acton. The lumber yard proper says Mr. Mackenzie, is part of the Adams estate. The half inch lap siding is in wonderfully good shape, and Mr. Mackenzle adds that the window shown in the Gothic front is a graceful piece of carpentry work and one of the best examples in the district.

Continuing, Mr. Mackenzie says: "This house is counted as being the first frame one erected in Acton and was built by Zenas Adams, who was a carpenter, and also a preacher. The dwelling was the headquarters for the early Methodists of the surrounding district. The Adams family were the founders of Acton and for a number of years one of the sisters kept a boarding school for pupils in the domicile.

"When I bought the property in 1900 it was much to large for a one family house and had been used for two families for a number of years without being properly separated. I removed the front entrance, which was very fine and ornamental, and made the house into a two-family one of six rooms on each side, and it has been occupied as such ever since.

"The siding on the north and west sides and the window frames are as they were put there by the original carpenter Zenas Adams, 100 years ago. The ornamental window in the Gothic is exactly the same, with mouldings and carvings as when built. A daughter of Mr. Adams, who was approaching the century mark, some years ago told me that this front window lighted an upstair room, which they called the "Prophet's Chamber," as it was their father's study, and also was used to accommodate travelling-preachers."

You see, I have several friends who be collected for school purposes was are truly helpful to me and I always £15, 14s, 7d, in varying amounts from like to show my friends how I apprecitheir articles as much as I did.

A Tribute of Thoughtful Respect

Things that are fine and wortnwhile and inspiring deserve continuous unbroken respect. Time should not be allowed to wipe
