- Winter is coming on nice and gradual this year.
- The Remembrance Day service on Sunday was the largest in years.
- Frozen radiators were quite the common thing yesterday morning.
- The Wednesday half holiday in Acton is the exception rather than the rule.
- The new Y. M. C. A. building had the outside work just completed in time.
- Municipal nominations will be held in Acton on Friday evening, November 23rd.
- Watch the advertisements for the special offerings for early Christmas shoppers.
- The snow flurries are coming more frequently and each seems to be bigger than the last.
- The second line, between Spysdale and Acton has been receiving a coating of gravel, which is quite an improvement.
- Acton is indeed fortunate in having all its industries running full time, and some of them overtime to cope with orders.
- These are the days when the venturesome youths want to try the ice to see if it is safe. Be careful the water is cold.
- The veterans on parade, wearing the various colored berets and war medals, added a touch of color to the Remembrance Day service.
- Consumers of electric energy in Oakville, Burlington and Bronte will have to change from 60 to 25 cycle power, to conform with other Hydro towns.
- The Free Press Christmas greeting cards have been enthusiastically received by all who have viewed them. Our advice is to place your order now.
- Acton is a good place to shop, and the best shopping places tell about their values in the advertisements. You'll find some splendid values advertised this week and every week.

RELIEF WORK

Discussed by Eramosa Council—Township Nominations to be Held in Rockwood on Monday, December 31st

The Council for the Township of Eramosa met in the Town Hall, Rockwood, on Monday evening, November 12, with all the members present, and the Reeve in the chair.

It was arranged to hold the annual nomination meeting in the Town Hall, Rockwood, on Monday, December 31st, at 1:00 p. m. Deputy Returning Officers and polling places were appointed, as in previous years. By-law No. 8, covering these arrangements, was passed on motion of Messrs. Hindley and Stewart.

The matter of resuming relief work on the fourth line was left in the hands of the Reeve, to be handled as the relief situation developed.

It was decided to make no seizures for the current year's taxes before December 15th.

Various matters, pertaining to road maintenance, relief, and tax collections were discussed, and accounts were passed, amounting to $932.60.

Council adjourned to December 10th, at 1:30 p. m.

HARD TO PLEASE

She had tried on, pair after pair and found some fault with them all. With a pair of conservative black calfskin oxfords, she viewed her trim feet in the mirror and sighed with disappointment.

"It's the heels," she said. "They're so flat and low. They make me look so sensible."

"But why should you mind, if you're really not?" comforted the perspiring salesman.

"But that's just it," complained the harassed lady. "You see, I am."

BUILDING PROGRESS

Contractors Have Finished Sufficient of Outside Work to Enable Occupancy of the Building This Winter

The roofing on the new Y. M. C. A. Memorial Building was completed yesterday and the cold and wet weather rather hampered this last of the outside work and delayed progress. The steps at the front entrance and the cement to the side entrance were finished just before the cold snap. The windows are now being glazed and will be ready to place to-morrow. The electric wiring is almost complete and the wall board is being put on.

The gymnasium has had the first coat of plaster and other sections of the building are almost ready to be plastered.

The plumbers have finished all the roughing-in work and the outside pipe lines to the cesspools have been laid and the cesspools finished. The steamfitters are now at work on the heating system and progressing favorably with the work. In fact, all the work has sufficiently advanced now that the weather, unless exceptionally severe, will not retard the steady advancement and completion of the building at an early date.

THE REAL THING

"I had a grand dream last night," he began. "I dreamed I was walking beside a bubbling brook with a wonderful girl by my side. She had eyes which rivalled the violets that grew on the mossy bank; her hair was like the gold of the sunbeams; her face was—"

"And did she have a job?" interrupted the girl.

MILL STREET ACROSS FROM THE POST OFFICE ACTON, ONTARIO

Sir Donald Mann Died on Saturday

pleted, Sir Donald departed for Chile, where he spent a year fighting Spaniards and Indians and constructing a railway for the Government, again associated with Sir Herbert Holt. When his work in Chile was completed, Sir Donald returned to Canada and went West again, on this occasion to build the Regina & Long Lake Railway, 250 miles from Regina to Prince Albert. For three years the same group continued railway construction in the West, building the Calgary & Edmonton line and the line from Calgary to Macleod.

When it was apparent that all possible railway lines in the West had been built by the MacKenzie, Mann & Company and the Canadian Pacific Railway group, Mr. Mann turned to British Columbia as the avenue of his endeavors. There, for three years, until 1895, he devoted himself to mining and the development of natural resources. He opened up several mining properties, which proved to be successful.

In 1899 Sir Donald and his partner secured a bond guarantee from Alberta and Saskatchewan to build lines in the two Provinces. They also negotiated an agreement with the British Columbia Government for a guarantee of Canadian Northern funds to complete the line from Yellowhead Pass to Vancouver, at a cost of $35,000 a mile. Sir Donald's career then became the career of a great Canadian developing a transcontinental system.

The firm of MacKenzie, Mann & Company gradually controlled 5,000 miles of railway, including lines in Ontario. With its railway system, it built two ocean-going vessels, named the Royal Edward and the Royal George, which were, at the time, the fastest in the British-Canadian service. As the work proceeded Sir William raised the finances, while Sir Donald directed the actual work.

It is a co-incidence that the birthplace of the late James J. Hill, one of the great railway builders of the United States, was at Rockwood, only six or seven miles from the birthplace of Sir Donald Mann.

Sir Donald Mann was a son of the late Hugh Mann and Helen McDonnell, and was born at lot 28, concession 4, Esquimaux Township, on the farm now occupied by Mr. Arch. Mann. Later the Mann homestead for a number of years was on the second line, on the farm now owned by Mr. Joseph Flynn. His parents were natives of Badenoch, Parish of Laggan, Scotland. His mother passed away in 1865, leaving the family of ten children. One brother and one sister remain: Alexander R., of Vancouver, B. C.; and Mrs. Jos. Allen, of Saskatchewan. Sir Donald was the fifth child in the family.

In 1887 Sir Donald married Lady Mann, was with him when he passed away. The other surviving member of his immediate family is a son, Donald Cameron Mann.

The funeral on Tuesday afternoon was held with service at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, in Toronto, with Rev. Dr. Stuart C. Parker officiating. Interment was made in Fairview Cemetery, Acton, following the service. A wealth of floral tributes bore testimony to the high esteem in which he was held. The pallbearers were: General J. W. Stewart, Vancouver; C. A. Bogert, Colonel J. B. MacLean, D. B. Hanna, A. J. Mitchell, W. A. Kingsland, J. P. Lash, Scott Griffin and R. G. O. Thomson.

Among those in attendance were: Lady Mann, Alexander Mann, a brother; Donald Cameron Mann, a son; McGregor Young, K. C., a brother-in-law; Sir John Aird, Hon. W. D. Ross, J. A. C. Kemp, Acton Burrows and Colonel K. R. Marshall.

Quite a number of relatives and friends from Acton and district attended the service at the graveside here.

NEWSPAPERS FOR SATURDAY NIGHT EARTH

Newspapers have a variety of uses besides furnishing news and helping the manufacturer dispose of his products through advertising. In many countries they are used extensively for wrapping parcels, while in Mexico they furnish fuel for the Saturday night bath. Water is heated in cylindrical wood-burning water heaters which have a small storage capacity and fuel ranges from old newspapers to wood kindlings, according to the Industrial Department of the Canadian National Railways. Cooking is done generally over charcoal burners, which is practically the only cooking stove used by the poorer classes, while practically all of the homes of the higher-income classes are equipped with grates for charcoal fires. There is no use of coal for domestic purposes and wood is only employed in open fireplaces and water heaters, and, therefore, coal and wood stoves are unknown except in the area near the American border. Oil stoves are coming into greater use in recent years, the Mexican Government endeavoring to change the cooking and heating methods of the people in order to conserve the forests which have suffered serious depletion as a result of the tremendous consumption of charcoal. Electrical stoves, ovens and other heating appliances are used only by the more wealthy classes.
