This and that

Looks like real winter now.
Mail your Christmas parcels early.
Soon be the shortest days of the year.
Tax Free Christmas Shopping Edition will be issued next week.
There was almost enough snow for sleighing on Wednesday morning.
The snow shovels came into action for the first time yesterday morning.
It hardly seems possible, but Christmas is just two weeks from Tuesday.
Pavements are extra slippery at this time of year. Extra care in driving is necessary.
The Winter Fair at Guelph has been a big attraction to many in the district this week.
Travel on the Second Line is a real source of comfort now to what has been usual all summer.
In a four-cornered contest in Georgetown, Reeve H. Cleave was again returned to the Reeveship.
The weather has been a lot more reasonable this week, with snowflurries and a touch of winter in the air.
Relief work is being started on the Second Line, with the stretch north of Speyside receiving attention this year.
Watch the advertisements these days. They point the easy way to Christmas buying and to save money, too.
To the newly-elected Commissioner B. G. Arnold, goes the honor of being elected by one of the largest majorities ever recorded in Acton.
This is the time of year for speculation as to who will be Warden of the County for 1935. Reeve Cleave, of Georgetown, seems to have a start in the race.
That Free Press subscription offer, with three leading magazines for a year for $3.00 would make a mighty fine Christmas gift for some of your friends. See Page Five.
The Free Press Christmas Edition next week will have as one of its features a Christmas story by Mrs. G. P. Clarke, who contributes "Chronicles of Ginger Farm" each week.
In a recent report of a visit to the Children's Shelter at Milton it was said that "tops" were needed for the children. The word, of course, should have been toys, as the children are not particularly partial to tops above any other toy.

VARIOUS KINDS OF CHEESE

There are probably about 250 different kinds of cheese made throughout the world, and new types are introduced from time to time, but the Canadian factory cheese which has been pre-eminent in the markets of the world is practically confined to the Cheddar type.
Cheese is made from whole-milk, skim-milk, or milk which has been practically skimmed. It is also made from cream and from whole-milk to which cream is added. The different kinds or types are roughly divided into hard or pressed cheese, and soft, or unpressed. Another class is the mouldy or blue-veined cheese, like Stilton, Roquefort and Gorgonzola. The hard varieties include Cheddar, Cheshire, Swiss, Edam, and other less known kinds. Among the soft varieties, the most prominent are Camembert, Brie, Limburger, Pont l'Evêque, Gervais, Neufchatel, and many kinds of cream cheese.
The hard or pressed varieties are slow in ripening. Some of them, like Cheddar, Swiss or Cheshire, do not reach prime condition until they are about a year old. Soft varieties are usually made in small sizes and ripen more quickly. Some kinds such as cottage cheese (made from sour milk), cream cheese, and Neufchatel, are ready for use almost as soon as made. The predominant Canadian cheese is the factory made Cheddar type, but there are other kinds manufactured in Canada. The Trappist monks at Oka, Quebec, make a cheese of medium texture and pronounced flavor which is known as "Oka" cheese, while in the Isle of Orleans the process of manufacturing Fromage Raffine has been handed down from generation to generation for the past 300 years. Various agricultural colleges make a comparatively small quantity of Stilton, and other soft varieties, and there are many private makers of these types.

HALTON PRESBYTERY

Rev. C. L. Poole Delivers Splendid Address on "Why We Should Expect a New Social Order"

On Tuesday, the Halton Presbytery met at Mum's Church, in the Trafalgar charge. The main theme for consideration at this meeting were the two documents sent down from General Council: "Evangelism" and "The Christianization of the Social Order." A brief business session was held. Rev. A. B. Irwin reported that four cartons of vegetables and fruits had been sent to the West by this Presbytery, one each from Acton and Burlington, and two from Flamboro, and that several letters of very deep appreciation had been received. The vote on the remit "The Ministry of Women" will be taken at the next Presbytery to be held at Burlington Tuesday, February 12th.

Rev. C. L. Poole spoke on "Why we should expect a New Social Order." This expectation finds its basis in the Old Testament Prophets and was confirmed by Jesus who revealed that God was our Father, and that we are brothers. This means that there should be a brotherly spirit among all people. This is the Kingdom of God Message, and spirit. If this spirit cannot be brought back there is little chance of a new social order. Hatred, war, exploitation, acquiescence, and pride of wealth cannot find a place in the Kingdom. Jesus rejected the things that destroyed the souls of men. "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth." The selfish and accumulative spirit is condemned by the life and spirit of Jesus. Jesus refused to use the sword. The cry of human need was his opportunity to serve others. This is the path of the disciple of Jesus. The church must lead into a new social order. The church is the body of Christ, and the great change must begin first in the church. Jesus prayed "Thy Kingdom Come." He had in mind a beloved country where righteousness is done. Recognizing that God is our Father and that all men are brothers, the will of God must be worked out through us. The organization of the church has accepted this plan.

Rev. S. B. Stokes gave a brief resume of the document on "Evangelism," and spoke of the fine leadership which the church had given.
Dr. John Line, of Victoria College Toronto, led in the discussion of "The Christianization of the Social Order." He gave a most masterful and convincing interpretation of this document. He said that unless the church awakens the leadership of Christianity will slip away from us. God has been bountiful and has given all necessary things to satisfy the wants of his people. Now the purpose of God is being thwarted by exploitation and other evils. The whole thing is blasphemy, and there is no evangelism which can meet the need if we fail to link it up with a vital change in the social order. He pointed out that Christ brought the Gospel and spirit of redemption which alone can save society. The church has the opportunity and the means. The question is will the church awaken to their opportunity before it is too late?
These addresses evoked most searching and helpful discussions.
Rev. G. F. N. Atkinson, Convener of the Social Service Committee, was the chairman during the afternoon and contributed much to the splendid program which was of great interest to all present.

KELLOGG'S ACHIEVE SCOOP WITH HISTORIC PICTURE

The Kellogg Company of Great Britain Ltd., in conjunction with the London, England, Daily Mail, has secured special permission to feature an exclusive photograph of the actual wedding ceremony of Prince George and Princess Marina, taken inside Westminster Abbey.
For the first time in the history of the Daily Mail the front page will be devoted to news purposes. The photograph will occupy almost the entire front page, and an offer will be made of a beautiful photographic reproduction of the wedding scene in size 15x12 inches. This will be sent free to anyone in Great Britain who sends in two package tops from any of the Kellogg cereals.
The Daily Mail will rush pictures direct from the wedding scene back to their offices for Kellogg's approval, and will then rush prints by aeroplane to Manchester, England, for their northern edition.
The Kellogg Company's unique offer will reach the breakfast tables of over two million British families—the daily circulation of the Daily Mail. Kellogg plants are located in London, Ontario, Sydney, Australia, and Battle Creek, Michigan.

EARLY ADMITTANCE

Mrs. Fazzle: "What a terrible wreck young Perkins is, to be sure. It is sad to see such a dissipated man."
Mrs. Dazzie: "Yes, indeed; but you must remember that he was admitted to the bar at a very early age."

NOT TO-NIGHT, THANKS

Her Partner—"If you are tired of dancing, Mrs. Newrocks, we will sit down and have a tea-s-tet."
Mrs. Newrocks—"Oh, dear me, no; after such a big supper, I really couldn't eat anything."

PROMINENT WESTERNER DIES

student at all times; a wonderful friend and neighbor; and a man to whom the home fires were very dear.
"A resume of his life reveals that it is almost a history of Rouleau and district. Any movement or organization for betterment found him a willing helper and most often the guiding spirit, yet his work was done in an unobtrusive way that brought into activity the talents of others. His ambitions were unselfish. The ends he desired were for the common good. His wholesome presence will be missed but his influence and example are imbedded in the life of others and will continue to bear fruit.
"The printed word seems futile in expressing his attributes when all around are those who know by personal contact the full force of his personality which can be summed up in the text of the minister, 'He was a good man.'

"The deceased was born in 1868, at Puslinch, Ontario, being 66 years of age at the time of his death. Following High School at Halton County, and Normal training at Ottawa, he took up teaching at Nos. 4 and 8 schools in Nassagaweya, and No. 8 in Eramosa Townships, leaving for the West in 1907, and teaching at Wolseley. A short time after he began teaching at Balgonie, where he remained until 1901. In that year he came to the Rouleau district and homesteaded one mile west of town, and at the same time began as first teacher of the Rouleau School District.
"He was one of the first Councillors when the town was incorporated in 1907, being one of the six elected out of ten contestants.
"Later he became a member of the Rouleau School Board, of which he was Chairman for a number of years.
"In March, 1914, he together with the late T. J. How, was instrumental in organizing the Rouleau Agricultural Society, and he was the first Secretary—an office which he held for several years.
"When the Methodist Church was organized here in 1901, he was appointed Recording Steward, and continued in that position until church union in 1921, when he continued the same duties until the time of his death as Secretary of the Official Board.
"In 1913-14 he conducted a teacher training class in which eighteen or twenty took training as teachers for the Sunday School. He was appointed by the Methodist Conference of Saskatchewan as delegate to attend the Missionary Board sessions in Toronto for three years. He put high value on the spiritual and faithfully attended such meetings as the class meeting and weekly prayer meetings.
"Sensing the advantages of the church union, which was being much-talked-of in the late 'teens, he lent his support to the movement which he saw consummated in the local union. At that time he was elected an Elder as well as Clerk of the Session, which offices he continued in until his demise. For 32 years he was teacher of the Adult Bible Class, first in the Methodist Church, and then in the United Church, and few were the Sundays that he was absent from his place.
"In 1905, he, together with a few others was initiated into the A. F. & A. M., at Mascana Lodge, Regina, then No. 23 of the Grand Lodge of Manitoba. Train service was out of the question in those days and the trips were made to Regina by buggy over roads that were at times almost impassable and which often skirted lakes of water on the depressions of the prairie. By 1908 there were sufficient members of the order residing in Rouleau to apply for a charter and he was one of the charter members and stepped into the Worshipful Master's chair in 1909. The acquisition of Masonic knowledge and lore became of great interest to him and so well did he advance in the work that he in due course became D. D. G. M., and in 1925 he was given the disposal of the Grand Lodge of Saskatchewan, namely the office of Grand Master. For several years he was a member of the Grand Lodge Benevolent Fund and Board of General Purposes.
"All his interest was not confined to the one order for he was also a charter member of Prince Rupert Lodge, No. 24 I. O. O. F., in which he also held the offices of Noble Grand and District Deputy Grand Master and at the time of his death was Secretary of the local lodge.
"He also held the highest office in the Grand Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star that a brother could hold, when, in 1932, he was elected Worthy Grand Patron.
"During the war years he was active in the Victory Loan campaigns and was a life member of the Red Cross Society.
"December 28th, 1932, he married Miss Caroline Joan Easterbrook, of Guelph, Ontario, a sister of Mrs. W. J. Akins, of Acton, who survives him, with three daughters, Mrs. H. S. Craig, of Rouleau; Mrs. Murray Holmes, of Milner Ridge, Man.; and Mrs. Wesley Devienne, of Shellbrook. All were in attendance at the funeral together with his only brother, Edward, of Brercrest. A half-brother, D. C. Kingsbury, of Dundas, Ont., and a half-sister, Mrs. C. A. Darby, of Rockwood, Ont., also survive him.
"Three years ago he underwent an operation from the effects of which he never fully recovered and a year ago he was taken seriously ill with typhoid fever which left a heart condition that was the immediate cause of his death.
"The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon, from the United Church which was completely filled for the service, many being unable to secure entrance. Seats were reserved only for the mourners, the pall-bearers and the visiting representatives of the Grand Lodge of Saskatchewan, A. F. & A. M., the Grand Lodge of Saskatchewan I. O. O. F., and the Grand Chapter of Saskatchewan Order of Eastern Star.

"By request the Grand Lodge of Saskatchewan, A. F. & A. M., and the Rouleau Lodge, No. 40, A. F. & A. M., participated in the funeral services.
"A meeting was held in the lodge room at two o'clock p. m., at which Grand Lodge officers occupied all the chairs.
"WEET WERE A MESS before she used Cross Corn Salve. It's good. Recommended by thousands. Brown's Drug Store.
