LOCALS

—Thanksgiving Day—next Monday.

—Erin Fair will be the feature over this week-end.

—And now the ordinary routine of life may be assumed again.

—Streetville Fair, on Saturday, will be an attraction for some from Acton.

—Erin Fair, on Thanksgiving Day, will draw its usual quota from this district.

—A table early for turkey, but chickens should be available for the Thanksgiving dinner.

—Local enthusiasm is centred in the Y. M. C. A. and the new facilities offered to members.

—The election day message from the sky apparently went unheeded. It proved to be only unique.

—A real job is being made in laying curbs and installation of catch basins on Mill Street roadway.

—Robert Kerr was awarded the special prize in the saddle horse class at the Brampton Fair last week.

—The Public School children are enjoying a holiday during the days of the School Teachers' Convention.

—May we remind you that THE FREE PRESS will have a splendid showing of Christmas greeting cards, ready shortly. See this range before placing an order.

—The prize award chosen by Miss Kath. McPhedran last week was a dining-room suite, from Johnstone & Rumbley, and not the electric washer, as stated.

—The Plowing Match, at Ferguson, next Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday will be quite an attraction to many from here, as well as throughout the Province.

—We acknowledge receipt of good and concise advice on an unsigned postcard, during the week, but regret that our adviser prefers to remain anonymous, and does not give us the opportunity of conveying our thanks personally.

—Good prices were realized at the sale of horses on Monday of R. A. Reasmussen. The animals brought as high as $147 Yearlings averaged $70 each. There seems to be quite an active demand for horses. R. J. Kerr conducted the sale.

—Oil No Good
Maude—What's wrong with the car? It squeaks dreadfully.
Jimmy—Can't be helped—there's pig iron in the axle.

The LETTER BOX

MAGNITUDE
Dear Papa Pasa:
Being located as I am, I have the privilege, weekly, of access to a publication, familiar, I suppose, to many of your readers, and probably found in most clerical homes—The Christian Century, published in Chicago. It deals, of course, with great American questions, but also with great world-wide and praising matters of moment in the present day.

SHORE LEVY
The waves, with unpremeditated hand, Have formed their curvyure upon the sand.
I mar the graceful curves with careless feet;
The waves return and make each line complete.
O God of water, shore and fickle man, Have patience now, and heal my life again.
—Lloyd Frank Merrell.

EXHAUSTEDNESS
These be exhaustless things: the mighty sea That never spends its tides; wide heaven above That never spends its stand; the frail small heart That never spends, for all its loves, its love.
—Adelaide Love.

Local enthusiasm is centred in the Y. M. C. A. and the new facilities offered to members.
The election day message from the sky apparently went unheeded. It proved to be only unique.
A real job is being made in laying curbs and installation of catch basins on Mill Street roadway.

HALTON JUNIORS MAKE SPLENDID SHOWING AT BRAMPTON

The County of Peel Agricultural Society Fair, held at Brampton the past week, for the first time, was classed as a Class B Fair. As a Class B Fair a Special Junior Section was inaugurated. This was open to the Juniors of Peel and surrounding counties. Owing to the epidemic of infantile paralysis, Halton Juniors were not largely represented, but those present made an outstanding showing. Halton girls had five representatives present, all of whom made a splendid showing. In the Inter-Club Team Demonstrations, Halton was represented by Helen McGibbon and Rita Fisher, from Scotch Block Group. This team was awarded first honors, while in the Milky Way Project, open to individuals, Halton girls placed as follows: First, Helen McGibbon; second, Alma Marsh; third, Dorothy Brown; and 4th Marjorie McKerr, and Rita Fisher a tie for eighth on Clothes Classes.

NO WORK!

The schoolmistress had just received her pay, and little Johnny looked keenly to see what was in the envelope as she opened it.

OPINIONS

"America's law-enforcement agencies are hampered and strangled by the blood-caked hand of crime-affiliated politics."—J. Edgar Hoover.

"Too many of us are still thinking and acting in terms of the long-ago, and we are not facing either the present or the future."—Nicholas Murray Butler.

"How's he making out?" "So far, all the reports are favorable."

"What price love?" Youth—"Mr. Snow, I love your daughter more than words can tell." Her father—"Well, maybe you can state it in figures."

"Somewhat wrong!" Hubby—"Isn't there something wrong with this cake you made, darling?" "Wife—"No, dear, it must be your taste. The cookery-book says it's delicious."
