STREETS OF GOLD

Mr. and Mrs. R. George Hodgins

Dawson City, Yukon Territory, boasts a unique and somewhat startling tourist attraction. Streets of gold! After the recovery of the main gold content of gravel originally washed down from high levels above the Klondike Valley by a process of hydraulic operations, hundreds of tons of waste or "tailing" in which a trace of gold still remains were used to grade the roads in and around the town; Of course, the actual gold content remaining is exceedingly small, but nevertheless the streets of Dawson are literally paved with gold.

Now a town of about a thousand souls. Dawson was in the heyday of the famous Klondike gold rush a city of about 40,000 population. The original miners delved for gold with picks and shovels and washed out their "pay dirt" in rockers or sluices. To-day huge hydraulic dredges are in operation in the Klondike area and the salvage of gold has become a fine art. The variety of odds and ends picked up by these mammoth machines includes large quantities of bird shot, bullets, cartridges, odd pieces of metal, in addition to the occasional watch, ring, knife, and guns of all sises and shapes. At one time all this junk was simply thrown away, but a few years ago an engineer in charge of the recovery process in an experimentaal mood-decided to treat several hundred pounds of bullets, shot and small pieces of metal. As a result of this experiment pure gold, worth several hundred dollars, was recovered, and now all bullets, shells and bits of metal are carefully salvaged and treated to extract every last bit of wealth, In common with other cities and towns Dawson has its parking and traffic problems. Scores of cars- and trucks of all sorts clutter up the streets and trails at all hours. Many of the famous "creeks" in the Klondike gold fields can be reached by motor car over a network of excellent roads.

MINING IN THE MALARTIC AREA, QUEBEC

Geological field investigations by the Department of Mines and Resources have played an important part in the mineral development of the Malartic area Quebea which lies near the eastern end of a relatively parrow and persistent zone extending eastwards from the famous Noranda-Rouyn area, across Bousquet and Cadillac townships to Malartic township. The O'Brien and other deposits were known locally as the Cadillac belt, which had already been traced across Alfred Pryer, of Acton; Wesley Brennan, Cadillac township to Lapa Cadillac mine, of the Province, and automobiles but its eastward extension had not been

> Pollowing investigations by the Decontinued southeastward, and not eastward as some had supposed. This view has been verified by recent field work and subsequent prospection, which has shown also that the belt, as well as exending from the Pandora mine to the Pan Canadian, continues southeasterly across the southwest corner of Malartic township almost to the Fourniere-Dubuisson township line, a distance of close to fifteen miles beyond the previously known length. It is along or near this bell that the Canadian Nalartic, Sladen Malartic, Laps, Cadillac, East Malartic and Malartic Goldvelds properties are ence following the discovery of a specsacular gold ore, shoot in the O'Brien mine in the spring of 1936. During the following summer promising results were obtained at several properties and by autumn of that year activities had increased to almost boom proportions Gold output from the O'Brien mine, leading producer in the area, amounts to dout $100,000 every four weeks and that from the Canadian Malartic to about .92 000 a month. The Thompson Cadillac property, east of O'Brien, is in steady production, and extensive drilling programs are underway at the Bous-Cadiline and Brown Botlsquet properties. In the area between O'Brien and Wood Cadillac two companies are engaged-in minterground development. - Several companies notably McIntyre. Partanen Malartic, and Dempsey Cadillac have properties under development northeast of the Janadian Malartic mine. Underground work is being carried on by the Pan Canadian. Turonto, Oct. 26-The press of Ontario the most important single factor in the war being waged against highway deaths and accidents, according to an opinion expressed this week by Hon. T. the Province.

"Although conclusive statistics have not yet been completed," said Mr. Mcthe 'fear' campaign which the Highways Department has conducted during the past several months has had a definite effect on the reduction of the horrible carnage and needless waste which has been stalking our highways.

"It is quite evident," he declared, "that whatever success this campaign If the drainage under your azaleas and has achieved is due in great measure to the whole-hearted co-operation which ment of Highways by editors in every Ontario community, and I wish, through the medium of the press, to extend to them this Department's warmest gratitude for the public-spirited way in which they have used their news and editorial columns to save human lives and prevent misery and destruction."

Comments have been pouring into his office every day, the Minister said. both from motorists and pedestrians! concerning the effectiveness of the Department's campaign. The most significant, he maintained, came from scores of travelling salesmen and truck drivers. "These men," said Mr. McQuesten, "are driving on the highways every hour of the day and each day in the week. They, perhaps more than any other groups, are more quick to observe changes in the driving habits of the motorists of the Province, and they have been almost unanimous in commenting on the general improvement in highway motoring, They report less cutting in, less passing on hills and curves, and a noticeable reduction in all the bad, careless, thoughtless habits which result in death and destruction on the highway." But there is still much work to be done, pointed out the Minister. People are still being slaughtered on the roads still piling themselves up in twisted heaps of wreckage. The war against thought-Pasness, recklesaness and stupidity of the highways must be carried on until people can travel in complete safety and To this end, he called for the unceasing ald of Ontario editors and every pedestrian and motorist in the Province. "The Department of Highways," stated

Mr McQuesten, "is doing everything it can to design and construct highways which will be as accident-proof as engineering science can make them, but this can be of little effect unless the human beings who travel the highways take upon themselves the responsibility of controlling the ever-present human factor' in accident prevention. Engineers can mold concrete and steel to the ends The Malartic area came into promin- of safety, but no force more potent than the press has been found which can mold human minds into paths of life-saving thoughtfulness "
