VARIED CURRICULA OFFERED IN MILTON SHORT COURSES

The official calendar for the Milton Three Months' Courses in Agriculture and Home Economics has just been released and is now available to the public. It is interesting to note the wide and varied courses of study which will be covered at the respective courses. At the young ladies' course, Miss Lily Petty, of Toronto, will be the resident instructor and will take charge of the lectures and demonstrations in foods and cookery, laundering and household management. Clothing will be given under the direction of Miss L. L. Howell, Cainville, while Health Education, Home Nursing and First Aid will be handled by Miss O. Hamilton, R.N. of Toronto and Home Furnishing by Miss Ina Puffer of the Women's Institute Branch, Toronto.

In order that the course may be practical as possible arrangements are already under way to secure the necessary electric stove, refrigerator, bed, etc.

We understand that the same effort is being made to have the young men's class equally practical. Aside from the regular study of such subjects as soils, fertilizers, field crops, fruit and vegetables, live stock, marketing, etc. we note that special work as soldering, rope splicing, harness mending, diagnosing the trouble with gas engines, etc. will be covered during the course.

It is also expected that special trips will be taken during the course to the Ontario Agricultural College, leading stock farms, as well as some of the leading industrial plants in either Hamilton or Toronto.

Tuesday, November 12th, is the opening date, and, judging by the comments overheard, the young people of Milton and district are prepared to take advantage of this splendid opportunity which is being brought to their door.

CANADIAN TURNIPS EXPORTED TO U. S.

The best export market for turnips grown in Canada is the United States. Of the total exports of turnips in the fiscal year ended March 31st, 1937, amounting to 2,823,787 bushels, 2,612,010 bushels went to the United States. In the fiscal year ended March 31st, 1936, the exports to the U.S. were 2,375,908 bushels.

Only negligible quantities of turnips are supplied to the United States by other countries so that the U.S. market may be regarded as a dependable one for the Canadian exportable surplus depending upon production and business conditions in general. The Canada-United States Trade Agreement, which became effective in 1934, reduced the duty on turnips from 25 cents per 100 pounds to 12½ cents per 100 pounds.

HALLOWEEN SOCIAL FEATURES AN INSTITUTE MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Banookburn Women's Institute took the form of a Halloween social in Banookburn School Friday evening, October 29th. There were a number of good times present, the prize for the best Halloween costume being won by Mrs. Willey. The winner of the hard time costume was Mr. J. Strowl. Mr. Gamble, of Acton, won the prize for the best costume for the men, and Mrs. F. Kerr was winner of the ladies' prize. Lois Watson won the girls' prize, and Dennis Kerr, the boys. After the judging everyone unmasked. The witch by the fire told everyone's fortune. The fish pond was enjoyed by all, as well as the bean guessing contest, which was won by Elmer Rossel. Everyone enjoyed the program, provided, which included: An instrumental by Miss Helen McGowan, of Limehouse; vocal solo by Mrs. W. Price; violin solo by Vernon Agnew, of Acton; and a reading by Mrs. F. Anthony.

Lunch was served and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

PRESIDENT WILL REPRESENT THE ROCKALONG INSTITUTE

There was a good attendance of members and several visitors at the November meeting of the Rockalong Institute, at the home of Mrs. A. Shullis.

Mrs. Douglas McNabb presided and the secretary's place was taken by Miss Doris Watson. A number of business letters were read and discussed.

The President was appointed delegate to the Institute Convention in Toronto. The roll call was answered by a good law.

Mrs. Dennis then took the chair and put on the following program: A talk on the motto, "A kindly word, a cheery smile, will help you through the longest night" was given by Mrs. Black; a paper on "Legislation" by Mrs. Dennis; and a diatribe by Norman and Ned Lambert. A number of slips of paper was passed out to several members, and they were asked to give a one-minute speech on the subject thereon.

A contest was conducted by Mrs. Nelson, the prize going to Mrs. Pasmore. Following the close of the meeting, a social hour was spent and a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the hostesses for her hospitality.

REPORT OF CONFERENCE GIVEN ACTON INSTITUTE

The regular monthly meeting of Acton Women's Institute was held in the new Social Room of the Y.M.C.A. on Thursday of last week with Mrs. Resnor presiding.

Roll call was answered by naming a Canadian fruit. The subject, "Canadian Industries," was given by Miss Grace Lantz. A report of the Girls' Conference, held in Milton, was given by Mrs. S. Lantz. Misses Irma Wilderspin and Grace Lantz, and a report of the Board meeting, held in Milton, by Miss E. Hawthorne.

Mrs. Collier and Mrs. Wilderspin gave an outline of the project on "Bedroom Accessories," and would like to form a class, open to all ladies from 15 to 30, free of charge, who would provide their own material for working.

Mrs. Resnor was appointed a delegate to attend the Provincial Convention, in the Royal York Hotel, Toronto. A donation was sent to the Fund for Crippled Children. A wreath was purchased for Armistice Day. Mrs. Gamble paid a very fitting tribute to the work in the Institute of the late Mrs. Collock, who passed away recently.

A hearty vote of thanks was given for the various reports and to the Lunch Committee, who provided refreshments.

GOLF TASTE

The amateur golfer was doing his best to play the game as it should be played. However, his plus-tours and rainbow stockings were considerably more impressive than his shots.

His chief difficulty was to hit the ball. He found it much easier to hit the ground and the turf flew in all directions.

At last, in desperation, the new player turned to his opponent.

"What do you think of the course?" he asked.

"What do I think of it?" gasped his opponent, as he wiped a slice of the landscape from his mouth. "Best I ever tasted."

AFRAID OF THE DARK, MR. DRIVER?

Figures indicate you should be Dreading from automobile at night in Ontario increased 22.4 per cent. from 1931 through 1936. Deaths from daylight crashes decreased 18.6 per cent. during the same period.

In nearly all reports of night-time accidents, there is evidence that someone was driving faster than his eyes could see or into darkness that wasn't dispelled by headlights or highway illumination.

Human eyes are not like owl eyes—light rays from headlights do not bend around curves or over hills.

The fact you every driver to slow down when the sun goes down; to have two self-imposed speed limits—one for clear days a slower one for nights and bad weather. Fear the dark as you do a fog, a snow storm, or a heavy rain— and make up your mind that Highway Deaths Must Stop.

FACES DISINHERITANCE

Despite risk of disinheritance that may follow her marriage, Valeria Brooke (above), daughter of the British Rajah of Sarawak, and known as Princess Baba, has filed formal notice of her forthcoming marriage to Bob Gregory, wrestler, who claims the European wrestling title. The notice was filed at the London registry office by the young couple, who became engaged after a whirlwind courtship. Her father, Sir Charles Brooke, owns a large portion of Northern Borneo, which his ancestor, Sir James Brooke, was given by the Sultan of Borneo in 1840 for helping quell a rebellion.

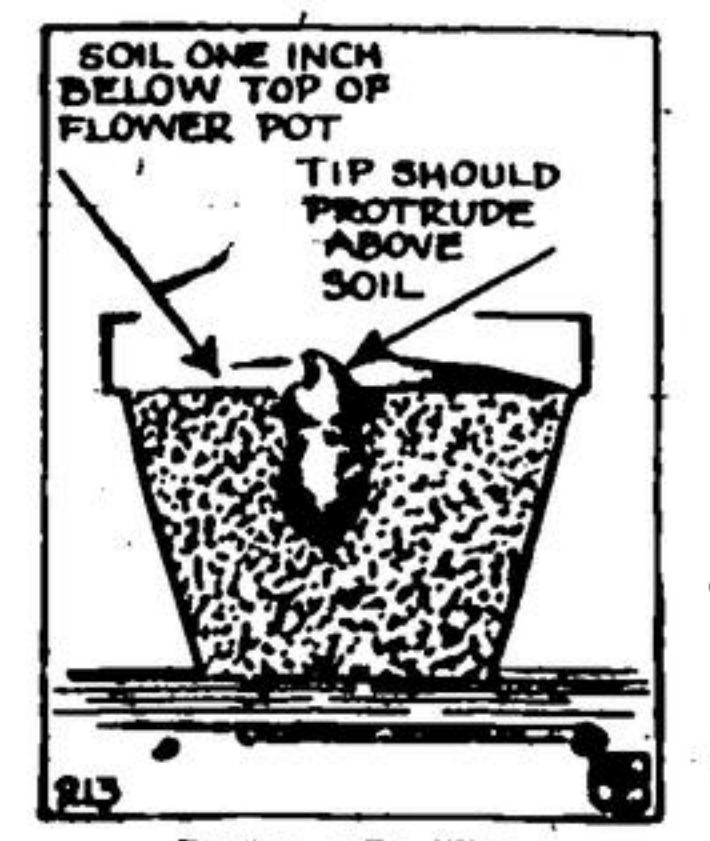

WE CAN HELP

In some degree, such modest success as has been attained by this business since it was established, has come because of, or in spite of, our refraining from claims that we could work miracles. But we have done some good for our client, because we have a specialized experience which is of value when supplementing the day-to-day efforts of intelligent management.

It may have been true at one time that a company did not need to explain anything because its friends did not need it and its enemies would not believe it anyway. But those days are gone. The public today must have an understanding of a business or an industry else that business or industry is subjected to unfair attack—and probably unfair and discriminatory taxes.

The problem of public relations came into existence when business ceased to be a one-man show with the proprietor personally in contact with the only portion of the public that knew him. It is human to condemn the unknown. Business with a good case should make its case. We can help when invited to do so.—The Printed Word

Putting bulbs like this

Calla lily bulbs can be obtained now and they should be potted immediately. If potted only one bulb use a six-inch pot. Potted three bulbs in a nine-inch pot is very effective.

A good potting mixture to use is equal parts of good loam sand and leaf mold. To this add either some well rotted cow manure or bonemeal.

As shown in this Garden-Graph, let the growing tip of the bulb protrude above the soil. Have the soil at least one inch below the upper rim of the flower pot, so that later if surface roots appear they can be covered with soil.

After potting place the bulbs in a cool, semi-dark room and water very little for several weeks. Then as the leaves start growing, place the pots in a light, warm room and give liberal amounts of water.

As soon as the flower stalks appear, feed with liquid manure about once a week, but do this only after they have been well watered.

A PUZZLE POEM THAT IS A LITTLE BIT DIFFERENT

This week you are asked to take a word out of each line, instead of a letter from a word. Do this, and if you take the correct word, you will have as your solution a quotation which will be used quite often during this remembrance season: For their sovereign lord, the King, they went. To the war with their trust in God, And into the mouth of hell were sent. Where hosts of the enemy trod, They thought not of what the end might be. But with faith that the cause was right, They told us to look for the victory, Which yet was to come over might; And lost the memory of their actions fade. We must honor the dead of every brigade, Nor ever forget the great price they have paid.

INSECT CONTROL

One of the romances of natural history is the transmission from one country to another of parasitic and predatory insects, that prey on the pests that carry disease. The practice of modern times is the endeavor to control insect pests by their natural enemies. The theory of this practice is based upon the assumption that all nature is in a state of equilibrium, that is to say, that all life, in its native home, is kept in check by other forms of life which prey upon it. So the jungle:

"Big bugs have other bugs. And little bugs have lesser bugs. Upon their backs to bite 'em, And so on ad infinitum."

The tiny beetle called the ladybird is one of the little bugs. The native home of the San Jose scale is in Northern China, where it lives and breeds on a small saw apple growing wild. The ladybird is also there, feeding on the scale-causing insect. Once imported to America for its parasitic activity against other insects, rearing of the ladybird is now a Californian industry. The scale of orange and lemon groves, of plant lice and the hop aphid are victims of the ladybird. So too is the white citrus fly of Florida, which becomes the prey of a reddish brown ladybird one-tenth of an inch in length.

The product of a variety of moths are caterpillars very destructive to plant life. The hereditary enemy of the caterpillar is a brilliant green-colored beetle brought to America from Sardinia. In a short life-time this beetle is most active. It has been known to travel in a lifetime of 72 hours, nine thousand and fifty-eight feet. Its speed varies from 3 to 5 feet per minute. Caterpillars have a hard life of it when this beetle gets among them.

Fortunately not all insects are potential enemies of the race. The bees give up honey, the silkworm spins its beautiful product, lac insects provide shellac and sealing wax. Many insects are the foes of noxious plants, others act as scavengers. Earthworms work the soil to the high advantage of the cultivator; others carry pollen for the necessary fertilization of plants, still others are useful druzas.

EXAGGERATED

A Scot married a wealthy woman, and after the ceremony a friend congratulated him.

"Congratulations," said he. "I hear it's worth 500,000 to you, old man."

"People do exaggerate so," said the Scot.

"But I thought she had that amount of money."

"She has. But I had to pay sixteen and threepence for the ring."

CANADIAN POTATOES GO AHEAD

Canadian potatoes are in steady demand in the eastern group of the British West Indies and in British Guiana. Small sizes are favored in all of these localities with the exception of Barbados. The latter fact combined with the advantage of the British preferential tariffs and the absence of unduly keen competition, renders the markets of British Guiana, Trinidad and Barbados of interest to Canadian farmers and shippers.

THOSE SLEEP TALKERS!

"They say Jones is devoted to his golf, and his wife is equally fond of auction sales."

"Yes, and the funny part about it is that they both talk in their sleep. The other night the people in the next flat heard him shout, 'Pore!' and immediately his wife yelled, 'Five!'"

FOR PLAIN PEOPLE

Peg: "Why didn't Molly vote at the election?"

Jane: "Oh, she considers herself a bit of a beauty."

Peg: "What has that to do with it?"

Jane: "She says the election posters were addressed to the plain people of Ireland!"
