"Here Comes Charlie!"

IN ROUNDABOUT WAY

First Plumber—You remind me of Oliver Cromwell.

Second Plumber—Why's that?

He didn't know anything about plumping.

First Plumber—No, that's why.

NOT QUITE HOPELESS

Suitor—I would like to marry your daughter.

Business Man—Well, sir, you can leave your name and address, and if nothing better turns up, we can notify you.

NOT THE TROUBLE

Golfer—Oh, goodness! I must get some instruction.

Partner—And I'm the one to give it. Just go through the actions of driving without hitting the ball.

Golfer—Pshaw! That's just the trouble I'm trying to overcome!

DIDN'T BELIEVE IN SIGNS

An old Scotman was smoking in the waiting room of a railway station. A porter said to him: "Don't you see that notice on the wall, 'No Smoking Allowed'?"

As I do that," said the Scot. "But I canna keep up with all your rules. There's another sin on you wall that says 'Wear Spirilla Corsets'."

HE THOUGHT SO

A political candidate, addressing a public meeting was giving expression to his patriotic feelings.

"I was born an Englishman," he said. "I have lived an Englishman and I hope to die an Englishman."

"Mon!" came a voice from the back of the hall. "I've never ambition."

BUT STILL SMART

The manager of the travelling concert party closed glumly at the audience. Five all told.

"I was so thin, he whispered to the comedian, how do you account for this? We've never been here before."

SALLY'S SALLIES

I'VE TRIED ALL IN TOWN, I KNOW, BUT HE DOESN'T FALL.

The only thing sally about some girls is their chance of landing a husband.

ACCEPTS SPANISH TERMS

Count Dino Grandi (above) the Italian ambassador to Britain, informed Prime Minister Chamberlain that Italy has accepted the British formula regarding withdrawal of volunteers in Spain and granting belligerency rights to the insurgent government. Grandi was summoned to a surprise conference with Chamberlain less than 12 hours after British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden had resigned.

GLOBE TROTTER BIRDS

Now that the northern bird migration is getting under way, the vast distances which these travellers cover in flying to and from their nesting grounds is a topic of current interest. The powers of endurance displayed by large numbers of North American birds on their lengthy migratory journeys is amazing, but there is one species that outstrips them all. This is the Arctic tern, aptly referred to as "the champion globe trotter" and long-distance flier of the bird world. The species is well named, as its range is circumpolar and it nests over the Arctic land as far north as suitable conditions can be found. When the young are well-grown the Canadian and Greenland terns disappear from their breeding grounds and a few months later may be found even as far away as Africa. In fact the longest flight on record for an individual bird was achieved by an Arctic tern that in three months flew from the coast of Labrador to the Niger River in Southeast Africa.

The journey of the terns is believed to follow a route touching upon the west coasts of Spain and Africa, and on the return trip northwards individuals are known to fly along the east coast of South America. The route indicated for this bird is altogether unique, as no other species is known to breed abundantly in North America and to traverse the Atlantic ocean to or from the Old World. These globe-trotting birds travel many thousands of miles and touch on four continents in the course of a year.

WIFE BUGG

Mrs. TEBB: "Cousin Dorothy you know always wanted to have a little baby daughter so she could name her June."

Mrs. ASKE: "Yes. Did she do it?"

Mrs. TEBB: "No, the man she married was named Bugg and it wouldn't do, you see."

LIFEGUARD

A man six feet, eight inches tall applied for a job as a lifeguard.

Official: "Can you swim?"

Applicant: "No, but I can wade to beat the band."
