Through all these weeks since September 19th, 1938, when I suffered a heart attack in Sault John, N.B., letters, phone calls and personal inquiries as to my condition have been made by many old and new friends, resident in Acton. I wish to thank them for their deep interest and assure them of definite progress toward recovery.

ALL-HOLD-UP MEN

Dinner had finished, and the three men were seated in the smoking-room of the hotel.

"Yes," said the Englishman, "my family is fairly good. I have traced some of my ancestors and found that one held up Queen Anne's train."

"Speaking of trains," put in the second man, "it isn't so many years ago that my grandfather held up a mail train in Texas."

"Bogorrah, and we all seem to be in the hold-up business," put in Pat, the Irishman. "My father manufactures suspenders."

AN OVERSIGHT

Junior—Fighting? Not me!

Mother—but you have a black eye. Somebody must have struck you.

Junior—I was not fighting at all, and nobody struck me. It was an accident.

Mother—An accident?

Junior—Yes, ma'am. I was sitting on top of that new boy down street, and I forgot to hold his feet.

HOW HE WORKED

The son of the house gazed intently at his father's dog. "I've got it at last," he mused to himself.

"What have you got?" asked father.

"I know now why we call Tony a watch-dog," replied the boy.

"Why do we?" asked his parent.

The boy pointed to the animal, who was turning around several times before lying down. "Because he has to keep winding himself up," he said.

WHEAT FOR THE GREEKS

Canadian exports to Greece are composed almost exclusively of wheat. Over 35,000 tons of Canadian wheat were shipped to Greece during the first six months of 1938, and as further substantial quantities have been exported from Canada, it is expected that the second half of 1938 will show a considerable advance.

OVERDOING IT

Pat was told by his lawyer that his best course was to plead guilty to the charge against him.

He stepped into the dock with a determined air, and when asked by the judge if he pleaded guilty or not guilty, replied with vim: "Guilty, me lord, an' I've witnesses here to prove it."

CORRECT

"Now, children," said father, "tell me who has been most obedient during the last month and done everything mother asked him to do?"

"You, Daddy," the eldest replied.

MEAD-COOK WEDDING AT SPRINGE

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Cook, Springe, amid Christmas decorations, when their eldest daughter, Florence Grace, became the bride of Mr. Charles Edward Mead, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mead, Toronto.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Foreman. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of powder blue tulle, trimmed with silver metallic. Her only ornament was a cameo locket, the gift of the groom. She carried a shower bouquet of calendulas, maidenhair fern and stevia. Miss Edna Cook attended her sister as bridesmaid, wearing a pink tulle, and carrying a bouquet of calendulas and stevia. Little Boris-Dunstan, cousin of the bride, made a charming little flower-girl. She wore a pink dress, trimmed with blue, and carried a basket of flowers. The groom was attended by Mr. Mansell Nellis, of Acton, and Mr. Vernon May, of Toronto, played the wedding music.

Following the wedding supper, which was served to about forty guests, the bride and groom left on their wedding trip; the bride wearing a wine red dress, with matching hat, and grey tweed coat. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Mead will reside near Hillsburg.

NO MORE EMPLOYEE

A well known columnist, talking to President Roosevelt some time ago, complained:

"People accuse me of being in the pay of the Administration, Mr. President."

"What's your income?" shot back the President.

"One hundred eighty-five thousand dollars," admitted the writer.

"Why, Mr.," replied the President, "you are a partner."

STILL DOUBTFUL

Fish Dealer—Lobsters, lady? Fine lobsters. See, they're all alive.

Bride—Yes, of course. But are they fresh?

Juniors Win From Milton In Overtime

Acton; overtime always seemed to be their line-up.

The line-up was:
Milton—Goal, McDuffie; defence, Fraser and Learmont; centre, Sprout; wings, Coxe and Slasky; alternates, Blusell, Bowring Timbers; sub goalie, Robertson.

Acton—Goal, Holmes; defence, Bayliss and Saunders; centre, Kemshad; wings, Tyler and Coy; alternates, Jones, Matzo, Brush, Papillon, Sheink.

SHOTS FROM ALL ANGLES

Milton surprised Acton with their stiff checking and neat passes. Their trimming handed to Milton by Orangeville didn't prove anything (except that Acton under-estimated Milton).

The boys from Acton put up a game battle despite the strong heckling from the reserved seats. We suggest the freeze-doors be kept closed before a game, to keep this small fry out.

Sprout was easily the best man for Milton. His timely passes and checking at centre ice proved a stumbling block to the Acton forwards.

Body checks were handled with care around the Acton defence, about three (good ones) being handed out all night.

Jack Kentner should have the boys working nicely after they get a couple more games under their belt and more shooting practice.

Milton have lost two now, and won one (from Oakville) while we have won one and lost one. Orangeville are on top with two wins.

Local refereeing just about spoilt the game Tuesday. However, Clement warmed up to the offside as the game went on.

If the boys win one from Orangeville Thursday, this corner will have more to say. (In the meantime, we live in hopes).

Refraining from use of players' names in this column will keep us out of family quarrels and dressing room squabbles.

RESULTS OF GAMES

Orangeville 8, Milton 0, at Milton.
Acton 6, Milton 4, at Acton.
Orangeville 6, Oakville 2, at Oakville.

FUTURE JUNIOR GAMES

To-night—Acton at Orangeville; Milton at Oakville.
Monday—Oakville at Acton; Orangeville at Milton.
Wednesday—Oakville at Orangeville.

A WESTERN WEDDING OF LOCAL INTEREST

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at four o'clock on Monday, December 26th, at Rockcliffe, the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Leslie, when their daughter, Kathleen Bell, was united in marriage to John R. Hyatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hyatt, of Calgary. Dr. Warwick F. Kelloway officiated at the ceremony, which was performed before a beautiful altar of chrysanthemums and ferns, flanked by tall white tapers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charming in her mother's wedding gown of ivory satin, with court train and trimming of crystal and pearls. Her veil of Brussels net, which extended over the train, was held in place by a coronet of pearls and white narcissus. She carried a shower bouquet of deep red roses. The bride's mother gave a floor-length gown of empire blue lace with a corsage of prairie supreme roses. Mrs. Hyatt, mother of the groom, wore a gown of mahogany velvet and corsage of Tallman roses.

The wedding music was played by Miss Marjorie McTeer, and during the signing of the register, Miss Dora Pollett sang "O Promise Me." Following the ceremony, luncheon was served in the dining-room. Mauve chrysanthemums decorated the dining table, which was centred with the wedding cake and illuminated by ivory tapers. Dr. Kelloway proposed the toast to the bride, to which the bridegroom responded.

Later in the evening, the bride and groom left for Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, where they will reside. For travelling, the bride chose a smart dress of black wool crepe, with blue jet trimming, a black hat and matching accessories. Over this she wore a brown coat trimmed with black fur. The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Bell, of Acton.

For further information, may be suggested that you contact the local Agricultural Office.

HAD FRANCO PLANS

Harold Goodman, British Vice-Consul, shown at San Sebastian, Spain, was as much surprised as were Franco officials when plans for the Franco Spanish offensive were found in his diplomatic pouch during a trip from San Sebastian to St. Jean de Luz. Franco postponed the drive as he battled revolt within his own ranks, according to reports. Loyalist spies had obtained plans of drive.

By W. COLES

Go to Chambers' 20th Century Dictionary for the solution to this one. We rarely find humor in dictionaries, but Rev. Thomas Davidson, the compiler of Chambers', gives the following definition of "Described by credulous sailors, imaginative landmen and common liars." Now, what was the object he defined?

You'll find my first in a sack of potatoes. My next in evidence, never in say so. My third is in haunts and also in lay laws. For my fourth, go back to the first line.

My fifth comes along with every New Year. While my sixth in each hour will always appear.

My seventh in potatoes again can be found. My eighth in the earth, but not in the ground. My ninth you will find while going through dinner.

My last in each saint, but not in a sinner. My whole might exist, but I doubt if there's many. I've oft seen to sea, but I've never found any.

SINCEREST FLATTERY

Three weeks after Jessie reached boarding school she began signing her letters "Jessica." Brother Tom didn't like it. He replied:

Dear Jessica: Daddie and Momma have gone to visit Aunt Lizzica. Uncle Samica is buying a new machine, but doesn't know whether to get a Cheveca or a Fordica. The cowica had a calfica, and I was going to call it Nellica, but changed it to Jimmica because it was a bullica. Your loving brother, Tomica.

"What's his method?"

"Well he sends me a bunch of forget-me-nots with each bill."

Ontario Game Overseers Make Large Hunt

Wayne Robinson, left, and Roy Baker, Game Overseers, are shown here as they surveyed some of the 450 partridges seized recently in an Ottawa storage plant in a drive to stamp out the wholesale slaughter of the birds. Officials declared that this was one of the largest seizures made in Ontario and warned that persons convicted of trafficking in game would be dealt with severely. A citizen of Hull, Quebec, across the river from Ottawa, was fined $1,000 and $2,000 costs, after pleading guilty to having 115 partridges, 100 more than allowed by the law.
