More Delay More Protests and No Games

Elora Protest Holds Up the Play-Offs - Beaten Twice and Can't Take It

After the two wins from Elora, and the win of Fergus over Guelph during the week, fans anticipated the first of the playoffs this week between these two teams, It was therefore, a bad blow to hockey around Acton when instead the local Club received notice of a protest by Elora and the information that no games will be held until the the O.H.A. meeting on Friday, to deal with the Elora profest. After the other delay in the first round-play-offs, and the protest over two players who have played on the Acton team for years, the whole thing is so silly that interest in the sport here is on the wane.

One can scarcely imagine the boldness of Elora telling the O.H.A. that a deyear of Senior hockey and then back Beatty. Greenock Literary Society Guests of Bloomsbury.

The Bloomsbury Literary Society met at the school on Tuesday evening. The meeting opened by all singing the usual theme song. The roll call was answered by a "Proverb." Mr. McLaughlin then welcomed the Greenock Society, who were the guests of the evening.

Mr. McIntyre, the President of the visiting Society, took charge while the following very enjoyable program was presented: Guitar and violin selection. Art McKeown and Bob Allan; saxaphone selo. Leslie Swackhamer, accompanied on the piano by Miss Swackhamer; reading. Miss Jean Mann: duett by Evelyn Pearen and Helen McCaig: piano duett, Mrs. Johnston and Elwood Johnston; speech by Elliott Patterson; piano solo by Mr. Jim McIntyre; reading of the second edition of the Greenock Miracles," by Miss Jean Aitken, which proved most amusing.
