Juniors Lose to Bolton-Near Bottom of the Group

and showed the same class here last Thursday they did last year when they beat Acton 10 to 2.

Jack Kentner has given up the coaching of the Junior Tanners as his work at Ajax Ltd. and playing for the Intermediates, takes up the majority of his time, and so, in order that the Juniors may not be neglected, he has passed the work along to his brother Joe. Joe has proven himself popular with the kids, and should coax some hockey ability out of his subjects.

Georgetown pulled a surprise when they downed Milton, 6 to 6, last Thursday evening. However, the game is still in doubt, over a mistake made by the time keeper, so more will be heard later.

Guelph play here in Acton Thursday (January 11th) and if Acton can take a win from them it will put them back in the running. To-night should find the locals more determined than ever to keep in the running, by taking a fall out of Guelph.

VITAL CONSERVATION
The men of the field force of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association visit more than 9,000 plants in Ontario each year, a current bulletin of the organization points out.

Referring to increased industrial activity and Canada's war effort, the bulletin says that now, more than ever before, it is essential to control to the utmost every type of industrial accident hazard and every possibility of industrial waste.

Conservation of man-power and resources in the present national crisis is a vital duty of all Canadians, insists R. E. Morley, General Manager of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association.

Juvenile Hockey League Getting Ready for Games

About fifty boys attended a meeting on Monday night in Acton Y.M.C.A. to hear plans for conducting a Juvenile Hockey League in Acton. The League will be under the combined leadership of Principal McKenzie, of the Public School, and Mr. W. Benson, Secretary of Acton Y. It will comprise four teams and games will be played on Wednesday afternoons at 4.15 to 5.15 p.m., and Saturday afternoons from 2.30 to 3.30 o'clock.

The Hockey Club has also offered to give this juvenile organization encouragement and on Monday evening V. B. Rumley, coach and manager of the Tanners, and Flint Terry, star centre man of the team, gave the boys a little talk. G. A. Dilla, of the Arena Committee, also spoke on behalf of that Committee.

The boys are off to a good start. They all have sticks of their own and some pads. What they require now is a few sweaters to distinguish the teams on the ice. There'll be more news from this group later on as the play gets going.

HOSPITALS FOR INDIANS

Canada is making steady progress in the provision of medical services and hospitals for her Indian population. Among the latest developments reported by the Indian Affairs Branch of the Department of Mines and Resources, which is charged with the supervision of Indian welfare, is the purchase of the Dwyer Hospital on the Red River, near Selkirk, Manitoba, and the construction of a new Indian hospital at the Fisher River Agency, about one hundred miles north of Winnipeg.

The Dwyer Hospital was formerly a combined hospital and old people's home, operated for Indians by the Church of England. It is being renovated and re-equipped, and will be operated by the Manitoba Sanatorium Board as a tuberculosis hospital for Indians only. The new Fisher River Indian Hospital will serve a community of about 1,500 Indians, which formerly had to send hospital patients to Winnipeg. These hospitals are being established as a means of providing needed care for sick Indians at a cost less than that of admitting them to public institutions.

In safeguarding the health of the Indian population, the Indian Affairs Branch employs about five hundred doctors and dentists on whole or part-time work, and has several hospitals of its own and a small but efficient field nursing service. It supplies medicine both by central purchase and local prescription, and engages in every activity relating to the health of about 118,000 Indians living in about eight hundred separate communities in Canada.

Mrs. J. A. McNiven
Guest Speaker at I.O.D.E. Meeting

The first meeting of the Duke of Devonshire Chapter I.O.D.E. for 1940 was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Beattie, the Regent, Mrs. Barr, presiding. After repeating the motto of the Order, "One Flag, One Throne, One Empire," the Secretary's and Treasurer's reports were received and the business discussion held. A committee was appointed to interview members as prospective officers for 1940.

The Chapter was very pleased to welcome four new members. Mrs. Peter Smith read an article which explained the purpose and work of the I.O.D.E. Mrs. Barr welcomed the guest speaker, Mrs. J. A. McNiven, on behalf of the members. Mrs. McNiven gave a very inspiring talk on "What is Loyalty," and our duty as Canadian citizens, and closed with the following well chosen poem of Rudyard Kipling, written in 1914, at the commencement of the last Great War, and which was very appropriate at this time:

"FOR ALL WE HAVE AND ARE"
For all we have and are,
For all our children's fate,
Stand up and take the war.
The Hun is at the gate!
Our world has passed away
In wantonness o'erthrown.
There is nothing left to-day
But steel and fire and stone!
Though all we knew depart,
The old Commandments stand—
"In courage keep your heart,
In strength lift up your hand."

Once more we hear the word
That sickened earth of old—
"No law except the Sword
Unsheathed and uncontrolled."
Once more it knits mankind,
Once more the nations go
To meet and break and bind
A crazed and driven foe.

Comfort, content, delight,
The ages' slow-bought gain
They shrivelled in a night.
Only our selves remain
To face the naked days
In silent fortitude.
Through perils and dimays
Renewed and re-renewed,
Though all we made depart,
The old Commandments stand—
"In patience keep your heart,
In strength lift up your hand."

No easy hope or lies
Shall bring us to our goal,
But iron sacrifice
Of body, will, and soul.
There is but one task for all—
One life for each to give.
What stands if Freedom fail?
Who dies if England live?

PRESERVATIVE TREATMENT OF POLES

Experiments carried out at the Forest Products Laboratories of the Department of Mines and Resources, have resulted in the development of a preservative treatment for the butts of poles in telephone and power lines erected in remote districts.

Longitudinal holes are bored in the butts of fire poles near the circumference and the alternate holes are filled with copper sulphate and sodium arsenite. The poles must be treated and set as soon after cutting as possible. The treatment is not effective in dry poles, and the bark should be left on the butt up to the ground line.

Evaporation of the moisture from the tops of the pole draws the preservatives up the sapwood from the holes in the butt. The two chemicals used are each soluble in water and as they are drawn up the pole they meet. A chemical reaction occurs which forms a new substance—cupric arsenite—which is insoluble in water and an effective preservative against the organisms which attack the wood. This re-action occurs at the ground line where the decay is greatest.

The treatment will provide protection from decay for several years. The poles which have been in service for six years are in good condition, while adjacent untreated poles set in the ground at the same time are decayed at the ground line.

The Column Y

In response to the suggestion that a Midget Hockey League be started, forty boys met at the Y. on Monday evening to discuss plans. Mr. G. McKenzie, M.E. Dilla, Mr. Vio-Rumley and Mr. Frank Terry all spoke a word of encouragement to the boys and promised their support towards the effort. The rink committee convened and assigned Wednesday, from 4.15 to 5.15, and Saturday afternoon from 2.30 to 3.30, as definite periods for the schedule. The first practice, on Wednesday, was spent in rating the boys according to their ability. Six teams were chosen to play against each other, with still a few not yet rated. The Saturday period will be spent in further determining where each boy should play and in balancing up the teams as for strength. Every boy who shows reasonable proficiency in the game will be placed on a team.

The Junior Y. Girls held a very successful skating party at the Arena last Saturday night. Eighteen girls attended and, following the skating, they all returned to the Y. for lunch. This class is continuing to grow and Miss Ostrander has other events planned for the members to enjoy.

Indoor athletics are being conducted at the Y. now for all boys' classes and every boy will have a chance to be tested in the Running High Jump, Standing and Running Broad Jump, and one, three and five Potato Race. These activities should keep the boys in trim so that when spring comes, Outdoor Track and Field Events may be started immediately.

FEED AND FLOUR MILLS

According to an official report the number of flour and feed mills operating in Canada in 1939 is 1,337. Of these 385 are flour mills with a total 24-hour capacity of 100,518 barrels, and 952 feed mills. Ontario is the leading province in this industry. Thirty-five per cent. of the flour mills, fifty-eight per cent. of the feed mills, and forty-six per cent. of the flour milling capacity in Canada are located in Ontario. Quebec ranks second as far as the number of flour and feed-mills is concerned, but in flour milling capacity, Saskatchewan is second to Ontario, followed by Quebec, Alberta, and Manitoba. The Maritime Provinces and British Columbia have a small flour milling capacity. The number of mills in Ontario is 136 flour and 556 feed; Quebec, 77 flour, 287 feed; Saskatchewan, 55 flour, 23 feed; Alberta, 52 flour, 45 feed; Manitoba, 39 flour, 7 feed; Prince Edward Island, 11 flour, 2 feed; New Brunswick, 9 flour, 20 feed; British Columbia, 4 flour, 4 feed, and Nova Scotia, 2 flour, 8 feed.
