Nothing will stop me from protesting, with all the power I possess, against Canada continuing this crime. As often as occasion offers I shall fight to stop the traffic in war materials with aggressor nations, to end this dealing in human lives.

In the defence of freedom I will cooperate with all others to ensure that the needs of the men in our forces are fully met. The health of our men must be maintained. They must be supplied with arms and equipment that will conserve their lives and bring as many as possible back to us.

Canada must plan production so that effort of our people to meet every need.
