NASSAGAWEYA S. S. NO. 7

The community met in the school on Friday to congratulate and give best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Howden (nee Marguerite Kennedy) upon their recent marriage. Just before lunch was served Mr. R. L. Davidson, acting as chairman, asked Mr. and Mrs. Howden to come to the front, while Miss Isabelle McLeod read the address and Miss Elinore Davenport and Master Tommy Kennedy presented them with a wicker rocker. Mr. Howden thanked them for the gift and good wishes, on behalf of himself and Marguerite and asked that everyone visit them sometime in the near future. Replying to "a few words from the bride," Mrs. Howden repeated the thanks and invitation to all to visit them. Everyone sang "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows," and "Auld Lang Syne." After lunch dancing continued, that was enjoyed by all. A few relatives of both bride and groom from a distance attended.

Mr. Robert Scott held a successful sale of farm stock, implements and furniture last Friday afternoon.

On Monday evening the school was the scene of another presentation and evening's enjoyment. But not until Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Scott were asked by Mr. Linus McMillan, who acted as chairman for the occasion, to come forward, did they have the least suspicion the gathering had any other purpose than the beginning of a series for winter's enjoyment in the schoolhouse. Mr. William McLeod then read an address, expressing the neighbors' regret at their departure and how they had proved themselves good, honest and ambitious neighbors, and wishing them success and health in their new home, and asked them to accept the gift of a couple of boudoir electric lamps, which Mrs. Nell Martin and Mrs. Joseph Frank presented, as a token of the wishes expressed. Mr. and Mrs. Scott, although taken by surprise, thanked, all for the gift and good wishes and were moved by the spirit behind both and told how they to use Mr. Scott's words "green-horns" had appreciated the help and information received from the neighbors when they first came, a few years ago, to try farming and during the time following, and told how they would always remember their old neighbors and hoped they would visit them whenever and wherever their new home.
