Read This Letter!

Dear Mr. Barry:

On March 15th I received my eighth shipment of Bray Chicks, which consisted of 255 second White Leghorn 90 pullets.

They turned out to be almost 100% pullets as I had only 2 cockerels in the flock. As usual I found the chicks very pretty and I was successful in raising 252 of them.

I have been raising chicks for 9 years and only once bought from another hatchery and agree with the old saying "You have to taste the butter to appreciate the sweet."

I was getting some eggs from these pullets when they were 4 months old and when they were 6 months they were laying 60% of which 50% were grading "A-Large" with very few eggs weighing under 22 ounces to the dozen. These pullets are very large and they are the quietest flock I ever worked with.

I do not hesitate to say that for big healthy chicks and good money makers BRAY CHICKS are hard to beat.

Yours truly,
MRS. JAS. CARLISLE

Mrs. Carlisle has been buying Bray Chicks for 8 straight years. Her letter tells you why. Vigor and high livability (25% raised out of 255 received) - big, strong birds - early heavy, steady production of big eggs, the kind that command the big premium, in the Fall. Bray Chicks are just the kind you want beneath your brooder. They'll pay you highest returns if you start them early - early enough to get them full-grown and laying big eggs by Fall. Also, you have more time to look after them properly if you start them early - early enough to get them past the starting stage before brooding work begins in the field and garden. See us for prices and particulars, or write or phone SOON.
