Rockwood. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon with private service at the home of Mrs. J. G. Guelph. Interment was at Rockwood Cemetery.

KAISER—At St. Catharines on Friday, April 8th, 1941, Harvey G. Kaiser, beloved husband of Daisy Campbell and dear father of Gilford and Allen (formerly of Toronto). The funeral was held from the home, 1045 St. Catharines, on Thursday with burial at Victoria Lawn Cemetery, St. Catharines.

Odds and Ends

Good Friday to-morrow. Hot Cross buns and Easter eggs are now popular. Special Easter services in all the churches on Sunday. Be sure to send the names of your Easter visitors for the personal column next week. First instalment of taxes is due and must be paid on or before Tuesday to avoid a penalty. Unless it is absolutely necessary trips on the roads off the main highways should be postponed for a week or so. Quite a number of ladies from St. John's Church, Rockwood, attended the meeting in the Parish Hall, when Mrs. Scovill was guest speaker. A grass fire on a vacant lot on Victoria Street gave the firemen a run on Tuesday evening. It was soon brought under control and kept from adjoining buildings. A subscriber in connection for The Free Press says "We do enjoy reading the paper. It's as good as a letter from home. We have taken it for 25 years now and it's still most interesting." Thank you Mrs. N. M. We acknowledge receipt of a photograph from an anonymous friend in the military camp at Debert, N.S., but following our rule cannot publish it. Matter of fact the background almost overlapped the main subject.

Obituary

HENRY W. DUBOIS, Arcola, Sask. The following obituary is from the Moose Mountain Star-Standard: "The funeral of Henry W. Dubois, who passed away last Wednesday, March 12th, was held at St. George's Anglican Church on Saturday afternoon, at two-thirty o'clock. Canon S. Williams of Moose Jaw and former rector at this point, and Rev. J. H. Corkhill, present rector, jointly officiated. A profusion of flowers covered the Union Jack draped casket, which rested at the chancel steps. The town council was represented by Mayor Jefferson, the school trustees by Mrs. A. J. Purdy, and two from each grade represented the public school. During the hour in church, the worst blizzard this year had suddenly started and, as the cortege reached the door it was raging with increasing violence. However, the members of the Legion who had charge of the funeral, and with the others, braved the elements and reached a point near the cemetery. It became evident that further progress was impossible and, after some difficulty the casket was returned safely to town. The casket was again placed in the church where it rested until Tuesday, when the interment took place at Arcola cemetery, the committal being made by the Rev. J. H. Corkhill of Manor.

Survived by his widow, five daughters, Mrs. A. J. Purdy, Kathleen, Acton, Ont.; Rose of Winnipeg; Dorothy, Hamilton, Ont.; Marguerite, Arcola, and four sons Henry (Ted) of Toronto, Ont.; Walter, R.C.A.F., Toronto; William, R.C.A.F., Summerside, P.E.I.; Philip, Arcola. One grandchild, Marguerite, Toronto. One brother, Arthur of Tottenham, England.

UNCLE SAM'S HEADACHE NEW YORK, (CP) The United States must find means of smashing the subversive power of fifth columnists in war industry says Senator Style Bridges of New Hampshire, in Forbes Magazine.

ERIN

Norman Smith, Belfountain, had his wrist broken when a motor car which he was cranking, backfired. Several from here attended the silver wedding anniversary of Dr. and Mrs. Reynolds in Hillsburg last Saturday evening. Fifty years of happy married life was celebrated last Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. James Hamilton, of 508 Willard ave., Toronto, with a family party at their home. Carnegie Hall, Grand Valley, was unable to accommodate the crowd that turned out to greet Mrs. Bert Weeks and the Erin Dramatic Club, last Friday evening, when they presented their varied program—Advocate.

Weekly War Commentary

When the British capital, Alexandria, was captured last week opposition in the British colony faded. Most of the combatant forces fled to Ethiopia instead of making for Mersina on the Red Sea, the only port resisting at the week-end. British armies have made several raids on ports in Nazi-occupied territory and on April 7 and the following night reported the bombing of Throst. They damaged the raiding cruisers, Gneisenau and Scharnhorst, docked at the Channel port. On the same night German aircraft bombed at Bristol and England's West Coast. The raid on the great airport was particularly heavy April 3, but the second attack was not so intense.

Defy Nazi Terror Yugoslavia's new government held firm against German demands at the week-end. There was every indication that Turkey would come to the aid of the Balkan nation together with Greece if Hitler decided to attack. In a royal proclamation the boy king Peter called 1,500,000 men to arms. At the week-end it was started the Italian, Hungarian, Rumanian and Bulgarian frontiers had been closed and traffic on the Danube River suspended in the section fronting on Yugoslav territory. In addition frontier anti-aircraft batteries fired on foreign planes.

In the meantime reports came out of Italy that Fascist leaders were making every effort to influence Yugoslav foreign policy. Germany's drive for world conquest entered a new phase Sunday, April 6, when her armed legions smashed across the Greek and Yugoslav frontiers in the 8th week of the war. Failing in his attempt to intimidate the little Balkan nations, Hitler opened a second warfront in an attempt to reach the Mediterranean and the East. Across the mountainous country, Greek and Yugoslav troops are putting up a heroic fight. But a German motorized column striking south from Bulgaria occupied Salonika, it was reported April 9, cutting off the Greeks in eastern Greece from their allies in the western part of the country in Yugoslavia.

The British Army of the Nile, transported across the Mediterranean in recent weeks is believed to be in positions west of Salamiha. Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons April 9 that the British troops had not yet been in action. The prime minister warned Soviet Russia that the Nazis might strike for the grain producing areas of the Ukraine and the Caucasian oil fields. In referring to the Italian-German thrust across eastern Libya, he declared "We must expect much hard and severe fighting not only for the defence of Crete and the defence of Egypt." He capped his review with the warning: "Everything still turns on the Battle of the Atlantic."

On the Adriatic the Yugoslavs were reported on April 7 to have captured Plume and Zura, Italian towns, and in a drive further south to have taken Scutari in Albania. The bitter struggle in the Balkans was marked by intense air activity. The Royal Air Force launched its biggest raid on military concentrations in Sofia and in Rugej in Bosnia while Greek and Yugoslav armies bombed targets in Bulgaria and Hungary. German planes launched many attacks on Belgrade and Sarajevo in Yugoslavia.

Addis Ababa Falls Scattered Italian forces in the heart of Ethiopia are expected to capitulate shortly following the capture of Addis Ababa, the capital, on April 6. British sources report that troops who had held Addis Ababa fled into the mountainous country. Meanwhile, in Libya the German-Italian force advancing along the coastal road from Tripoli towards Benghazi, 165 miles east of Benghazi, British sources reported April 8.

ILLUSTRATED TRAVEL

TALK IN EUROPE AND THE BRITISH ISLES

At another place in this issue there appears the announcement of a "travel talk" that will be given at the United Church on the evening of Thursday, April seventeenth. Mr. Parr will give the "Travel Talk" which will feature a large number of lantern slide pictures, illustrating the life of the British Isles, and the countries of Europe which he visited in person during the summer of 1935. Many of the places visited have since been visited and his personal description should help us to appreciate more fully the significance of the news and radio reports that are reaching us day after day, emphasizing the destruction of certain and such places that have fallen in the path of the conflict of the militarist destroyers.

This occasion is an enterprise of the Sunday School of the United Church. The proceeds will be used to buy "War Savings Certificates" which will no doubt add to the interest of the event, in the public mind.

The Column Y

We don't mention the activities of the Friday afternoon hobby group very often, but they have been meeting throughout the winter months and spending the afternoon in playing badminton and having a social cup of tea together. Last Friday they held a tournament to add some zest to the game and some playing talent was displayed that we hardly knew existed. In the first round, Mrs. Lovell and Mrs. H. Elliott met Mrs. C. Leatherland and Mrs. M. Letch with the former securing the win, and Mrs. V. Dunlop and Mrs. C. Kirkness met Mrs. J. Inglis and Mrs. J. Kennedy with the former winning the game. The last round proved to be a real contest but Mrs. Lovell and Mrs. Elliott having the better of the play and the score ended 15-9. In the consolation series Mrs. Leatherland and Mrs. Letch played Mrs. Inglis and Mrs. Kennedy with the latter winning by a small margin. This gave them a chance to meet Mrs. Lovell and Mrs. Kennedy who again proved themselves to be the undisputed winners.

The camp reunion of all those who attended camp last year will be held on April 16 at 6:30 p.m. and the occasion will no doubt bring back memories of Beauport Island. The "Y" men are having as their guest speaker on April 24th, Hon. Mr. Oliver, Minister of Public Works, for Provincial Government. The meeting will be open and we understand that a good crowd is in store for those who attend. Mr. Oliver is considered by many as one of the most fluent speakers in the legislature.

The Jr. A. Girls Group held a box social at the "Y" on Tuesday evening and instead of the regular gym class, following their supper the girls frolicked on the gym floor to the music of the Mills "Throne of Music". The Junior "B" Girls had plenty of fun getting all dressed up in their "glitzy" clothes yesterday and parading around the gym floor in make-believe fashion. Yes, it was a novel event that is worth repeating and those who saw it experienced a good many laughs. June Duncan was judged first prize and Florence Coleman, second. It certainly wasn't an easy task to choose and everyone deserved something for the novel get-up.

WHAT MORE TAXES? LONDON, (CP) The weekly business journal "Economist" suggests a 20 per cent tax on smaller incomes and a 25 per cent tax on those who produce £300,000,000 ($12,500,000) in national revenue. BELONGS FOR CANADA NEW YORK, (CP) First of such shipments direct from Chile to Canada, several thousand cases of melons from the South American republic, were transhipped through this port for Toronto.

BIG NEWS for farmers!

AGNES MACPHAIL

former Member of Parliament for Grey-Bruce—and one of Canada's best informed authorities on agricultural problems—is now writing exclusive articles based on her wide experience of the past and her observations of today for

The Globe and Mail

Traditional friend and spokesman for the farmer in its news columns and on its editorial page, The Globe and Mail has taken this further step to extend "all-out" editorial assistance to the farming industry. That this help is appreciated is shown in the wholehearted endorsement given by H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, who says: "I wish to commend and congratulate The Globe and Mail upon the excellent work which it has been doing recently in giving prominence and generous space to news items of interest to farm people. Particularly are time to time, and which indicate a very real understanding of the economic position of the farmer, and the difficulties which he is up against. Your championing of his cause is particularly appreciated. At the same time, your championing of agriculture is and must be the basis of our program—you are performing a valuable service to Canada as a whole. This is all the more necessary and beneficial, because agriculture has not had a voice in the councils of the nation commensurate with its importance. May I add a personal word of appreciation for the fine effort which you have made in this connection—and which will undoubtedly help in the future to break for the folk on the land."

H. H. HANNAM, President Canadian Federation of Agriculture. Order your Globe and Mail from your Dealer, Farmer, or Rural Mail Courier . . . TODAY!
