

HABITATION

A look of expectation seems to light the windows of the houses on our block. When afternoon turns peacefully toward night and anxious eyes consult the kitchen now, shining faces and a pleasant stir tell how the supper table's being spread, more fragrant far than frankincense and myrrh; A comb of honey and a loaf of bread; What little houses on what streets less wide Than ours will, at this very moment wear? The sudden shape of dignity and pride Because of some quick footsteps on a stair! Built not by hands alone, such walls abide For those who wait and those who enter there. —Leslie Nelson Jennings.

Home grown strawberries are now on the market.

The Georgetown Golf Links, which have been laid out and put into very fine condition by Mr. J. A. Willoughby, on his farm, are affording much recreation to the people of the community who enjoy this form of sport. At a meeting of Nassauway Township a petition for a new Union School at Crewson Corners was presented.

The latest route for the Toronto-Sarnia Highway is through Norval, Georgetown, up the Seventh Line and thence to Acton.

The first open-air concert of the season was given on the Community House lawn on Monday evening by Acton Citizens' Band, under the direction of Bandmaster Castell.

Ontario Farms Give Emphasis To Dairy Need

Need For Cheese Production to Aid Britain Is Impressed and Producers Plan to Do Their Part

BY KEN CHISHOLM
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

TORONTO, (CP) Encouraged by the provincial department of agriculture, Ontario farmers are "all out" in a co-operating province-wide effort in producing cheese for Britain. Canada has promised, Britain, 112,000,000 pounds of cheese in 1941. Forty million pounds are needed for home consumption. Ontario plans to do its share in the production.

Hon. P. M. Dewan, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, has asked the farmers to give every emphasis to the effort by greater milk production throughout better management of herds, acquiring extra pasture and encouraging crops to aid materially in keeping up the milk flow. The minister said one of the greatest limitations to increased production is lack of labor, but more farmers were installing milking machines to help offset this.

Bonus Reactions

Mr. Dewan said reaction of farmers to the two-cent-a-pound provincial cheese bonus was excellent. While the bonus had not overcome the labor shortage, it had assisted farmers in keeping their present help and aided in the purchase of supplies and equipment. Farmers were being asked to increase milk-production of each cow by 50 pounds. If this is done actual requirements for home and overseas would be met.

Ontario does not anticipate any large increase in bacon production, but the minister believes quality will be maintained and improved by the hog carcass bonus of $1 on grades "A" and 50 cents on those grading "B1."

From Jan. 1 to April 17 this year, 575,571 hog carcasses were graded in Ontario, compared with 493,990 in the same period of 1940.

Fruit Prospects

Mr. Dewan said fruit production prospects are good and that marketing should be good for small fruits and tender tree fruits. The difficulty would be with apples, due to loss of export market. The present export market took 60 per cent of Canada's apple crop.

Egg market prospects are exceptionally good. About 180,000 cases (30 dozen eggs to a case) will be exported in May, the largest in the history of Canada. Mr. Dewan said poultry storage holdings are low and everything indicates a successful season.

BEGINNING OF WORLD MISSIONS
Golden Text.—And he said unto them, Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to the whole of creation. Mark 16: 15.

Lesson Text—Acts 2: 25; 13: 12.
Time—A. D. 45. Places—Antioch, Salamis, Paphos.

Exposition—I. Barnabas and Saul Called by the Holy Spirit, Set Apart my Men, Sent Forth by Men and by the Holy Spirit, 1-4.

The church at Antioch had five prophets and teachers worthy of mention by name. This earthly Gentile became a fountain of light and life to many other places. The Holy Ghost spoke to them "as they ministered to the Lord and fasted." If we would spend more time and strength in ministering to the Lord and in fasting, we would have more frequent and clearer readings of the Spirit. A Spirit-filled mind rarely accompanies an over-filled stomach. Greater simplicity in our living would be conducive to a clearer perception of the mind of God. It is not said how the Spirit spoke, whether in an audible voice, or silently, in the inner recesses of the heart; but He spoke in an unmistakable way. It may be vague, uncertain impulse such as men sometimes call "the voice of the Spirit." He is ready to speak today, if we will supply the proper conditions and listen. It was the Holy Spirit's work to call it, it was man's work to recognize the call and set the call apart for the work.

Those who ignore ordination in man are as unscriptural as those who ignore a call by God. But it was "for the work wherunto the Spirit called that they were to be set apart. Too often we set men apart for a work wherunto the Spirit never called them. Spirit-called men are great need of our day. Every step in that early Church was taken in prayer.

It was no mere formal prayer. It was a prayer to which men gave themselves even from their necessary food to pursue it (v. 3).

The promptness with which this Church obeyed the Spirit's command is worthy of note. He had demanded the best they had for the foreign mission field, and they gave them up without a murmur. They would have liked to have kept Barnabas and Saul, but the Spirit called them elsewhere, and "they sent them away." But while they sent them, back of it all they were really "sent forth by the Holy Ghost." Wonderfully suggestive and inspiring words, these. With that confidence a man can go forth when he can confidently affirm, "I have been sent on the errand by the Holy Ghost!" He may not know just where he is going or just what he is to do, or just what awaits him. No directions seem to have been given as to where they were to go, so they made straight for the nearest port, and thence for the old home of Barnabas (ch. 4: 36).

II. Triumph of Saul. Filled with the Spirit, over Elymas, Full of All Guile and All Villainy, 5-12.

They were true to their commission. They preached the Word of God. Many a man has been sent forth by the Holy Ghost who has afterward forgotten what he was sent to preach and so a mission that was divine in its origin has come to nothing in its execution. If there was ever a day in which their example needed imitation, it is to-day, when men are preaching anything and everything but "the Word of God." (1 Thes. 2: 13; 2 Tim. 4: 2). Opponents of the Gospel, who make great pretensions and do amazing things, are not at all new. One need not be frightened because men, who make astonishing claims, and who display extraordinary gifts, arise to lead men astray. It was so in the first days of the Church's history, and yet the Church went right on, in face of this apparently dangerous opposition.

The proconsul, Sergius Paulus, gave good proof that he was indeed "a man of understanding." He called unto him Barnabas and Saul, and sought to hear the Word of God. "Whatever claims to prudence and wisdom and common sense a man may make, he is not 'a man of understanding.' If he is not desirous to hear the Word of God." Elymas did not give up without a fight. The devil never does (2 Tim. 3: 8). His chief business is turning men aside from the faith (v. 8; cf. 2 Cor. 4: 3; Luke 8: 12). But the opposition of Elymas for all his marvellous powers was vain, for he had run up against a Spirit-filled man. Paul had been filled with the Holy Spirit soon after his conversion (ch. 9: 17). But now a new emergency arises, and there is a new filling for the new need. We ought not to be content because we have once, or fifty times, known what it was to have the Spirit of God coming rushing up to us and taking possession of our minds, and giving us words of wisdom, boldness and power to utter.

Paul's words are very severe and very searching. They expose the depths of the infamy of Elymas. Plainness and boldness of speech is a characteristic of a Spirit-filled man (Ac. 4: 31; Eph. 6: 19). God endorsed Paul's words. There had already fallen a mist and a darkness upon his soul, and now the judgment also touches the body. We have here a

Whole School Turn Farmers

Sussex Boys and Girls Take to the Land and Make Success in Many Branches

LONDON, C.P.—With a bright idea and a gift of £12 (about $34) from the educational authorities, F. W. Hitchins has set up his young pupils at Mayfield School in Sussex as farmers.

Boys and girls alike work on 4½ acres of land, rented for £5 (about $22.50). They started from scratch and now, their headmaster says, "they do all the work, both manual labor and bookkeeping, with very little supervision."

The children attend lectures at meetings of their Young Farmers' Club and the school's rabbit expert, 12-year-old Kenneth Lancaster, recently gave a half-hour lecture on the latest system of rabbit-keeping. Now the club has adopted the system. Another boy, Douglas Roberts, 13, is librarian. His job is to collect all the newspaper and magazine articles of farming interest and paste them in the club's scrap book.

Besides rabbits and chickens the children have ducks and calves and Hitchins says, "we are thinking of having pigs and sheep next term and of ploughing up one of the fields in the autumn for crops." The children also run a market-garden.

Parents Morley, club chairman, and End Eldridge, club secretary, make out the farm duty rota. Each member must do a week's duty twice a term and take turns in weekend and holiday work.

In class, even arithmetic is made interesting because the problems are the practical ones of farming. Composition exercises the children write to local farmers about their stock.

WAGES GOING UP

LONDON (CP)—Increase of about £193,500 ($870,750) in weekly full-time wages of 1,980,000 workers in Britain was recorded in a February survey, says the official magazine Labour.

The UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE PLAN

To the Employer...

Contributions to the Unemployment Insurance Fund become payable as from July 1st, 1941.

Contributions are made by the employer and the employee, and are paid by the purchase of Unemployment Insurance stamps by the employer from the Post Offices.

The employee's contributions are deducted from his wages by the employer.

Stamps will be affixed to a special book, called the Insurance Book, by the employer. The book is the employee's record of contributions, and when he becomes unemployed it forms the record from which insurance benefits may be paid. Full details will be sent to you when you have returned the postcard attached to a form which is now in the mails.

The plan of procedure has been adopted after consultation with the employer and employee associations and is one which has been based upon thirty years' experience in Great Britain.

The Dominion Government adds 20% to the combined employee and employer contributions.

HON. NORMAN A. McALTYRE,
Minister of Labour

butions, and in addition, pays the administration costs which include the operation of a National Employment Service for the convenience of employers and employees.

Contributions are payable by all persons while in employment and by their employers, with the exceptions listed in the panel below.

The first duty of every employer will be to REGISTER WITH THE COMMISSION by completing the postcard attached to a form which is now in the mails, and obtaining and issuing insurance books for all his employees. If there is doubt as to whether your employees, or any of them, are insurable, ask for instructions when you return the postal card. If you do not receive a form through the mail go to the nearest Post Office and ask for one. All employees must complete registration prior to June 14th, 1941.

The Commission feels that it can be assured of the full cooperation of all employers. Nevertheless, attention is drawn to the fact that registration is compulsory and any failure to register is an infraction of the law and is subject to penalties.
