Obituary

WILLIAM FOSTER,
Toronto

A resident of Cheltenham and Action for many years William Foster passed away at his home 74 Dufferin Avenue, Toronto, suddenly, from a heart attack, Monday August 11, in his 70th year.

Mr. Foster was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Foster, 57, of Cheltenham and husband of Jessie Sharpe. For many years he managed a quarry on his farm at Cheltenham. He later moved to Action and farmed until seven years ago when his health failed and he and his family moved to Toronto. Nine children, eight daughters and one son, and six grandchildren remain. One son, Roy, predeceased him three years ago in March.

The family remaining are his wife Mrs. Jessie Foster, Mrs. Martha Shaw, Toronto; Mrs. George Burt (Pearl), Georgetown; Mrs. Thomas Luck (deceased), Toronto; Mrs. Edward Lucy (Daisy), Toronto; Mrs. Almon McElroy (Mildred), Guelph; Mrs. Charles Flue (Verna), Toronto; Foshington, Dorothy and Georgia, at home.

The funeral was held on Wednesday, August 13, at Myers and Elliot Funeral Parlors, Toronto, with interment in the family plot in Cheltenham Cemetery.

And Air Force

New trends are being put on the stairway at the Public School in the east section of the building.

Issue of Action Fair prize list has been delayed and the book will not be published until next week.

The floors of the second storey of the new addition at the Wool Combing plant are being poured this week.

The highway construction on No. 25 has been completed to Speyside and men are now working on the section nearest Action.

Decorating of the interior of the class rooms at the Public School is well advanced. The contractors have only one more room to paint.

The railway siding into the plant of the Wool Combing Corporation was completed this week. It will enable unloading of cars direct to the building.

A big crowd attended the Bingo last night sponsored by the Lakeside Chapter of the L.O.D.E. The Legion Hall had every section packed with players.

Certificates for pupils who wrote the Middle School examinations at Action Continuation School were received this morning by Secretary W. G. Middleton. The results were published in June.

We have received this week a magazine called "Em Em" from Seaman Herbert Drion from Iceland. The head office is given as Kirkilustratele. It is a monthly magazine with features supplied by a well-known press bureau.

"What is a corvette?" The answer will be found at the Canadian National Exhibition this year. It is expected that two corvettes will be anchored off the waterfront and a replica of a hull will be set up ashore, both parts of the huge Royal Canadian Navy display.

The boys of the old brigade which includes Great War veterans from both sides of the border as well as from all over the Empire marching in the Warriors' Day Parade at the Canadian National Exhibition will be joined this year by many modern fighting forces.

Already there is a sign of increased activity in the Mediterranean zone contained in the announcement of President Roosevelt of the establishment of a South Atlantic ferry system to shuttle American warplanes to West Africa. This new service will do much to neutralize the value of the French base at Dakar, should it fall into Axis possession.

The establishment of the new air-craft delivery system coincides with the appearance of communication difficulties in the Pacific arising from American-Japanese tension. Japanese spokesmen have complained about United States shipments of war material to the Russian port of Vladivostok, and there may be further causes for friction in the Far East. Thus the American position in dealing with the Japanese is strengthened by having a well developed alternate route to the Orient.

NATO Continues Drive

As the war on the Eastern Front went into its ninth week, the Nazis continued their drive through the Ukraine. London sources said Tuesday that once the forces of Marshal Budenny were withdrawn across the Dnieper they would have to be deployed along the east bank with considerable skill to prevent the Germans from taking that natural line of defence by storm.

Should the Soviet troops be dislodged from the Dnieper line, their next natural line of resistance would be along the Don River, 250 miles east of Dnieperopetrovsk. A retirement to the Don would leave a large part of the rich Ukraine area in German hands.

German troops also increased pressure on the northern bank of the battle-line, claiming Monday to have captured Kingsepp, a town only 75 miles from the stronghold of Leningrad. This claim was admitted by the Russians the following day.

In the central sector, Marshal Timoshenko's troops counter-attacked between Smolensk and Vyazma on the road to Moscow, apparently without meeting any concentrated German drive towards the Red capital.

London Conference

On Wednesday Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King arrived in Britain for a three-weeks stay. He is scheduled to attend meetings of the British War Cabinet.

Mr. King is the second Dominions Prime Minister now in London. Prime Minister Peter Fraser of New Zealand has been in the Empire's capital for several weeks, postponing his departure, set for a few days ago, to

A scar-faced she devil that caps

JOAN CRAWFORD,

MELVYN DOUGLASS

In

A Woman's Face

continue discussions on the Pacific situation.

Prime Minister Robert Menzies of Australia, attended the War Cabinet meetings in London earlier this year. He had intended to return to India in discussions leading to India's defense with regard to Japan. Any difficulties in rendering the Indian Army ineffective through loss of man power in spite of Berlin claims to the contrary, it seems probable that the Germans, holding on the offensive, have lost fully or many men and as much material or have the Russians. When the cruel Russian winter approaches the British forces should be able to hold most of the territory not already taken by the Nazis in the present summer campaign, without undue loss of manpower.

By The Canadian Press

The bright new rainbow offered in the sky is designed to spread sunshine on winter and behold.

Footwear is glorified, in London to make a rainbow grow hole. Sloppy overalls, first enough to the old fourbuttoned gaudiness everybody used to wear, come in scarlet and white, bright red combinations. Cliff high boots are red with plaid wood cuffs or brown with cowboy decorations in color. Stirrups are spangled up just right.

There is another possibility in the Middle East. An Empire force, probably composed largely of Indian troops, might still be sent to the Black Sea to aid the Russian stand against Hitler. If troops are sent to Russia it is probable that Allied forces would withdraw towards the Egyptian border, in order that military strength be concentrated in the important delta and the Red Sea areas where a German thrust is entrenched.

Some urge a continental invasion

now. With the Nazis in control of a long corridor from northern Norway to the Black Sea to Moscow, and to hold British and Allied forces could find no number of good bridges to establishment of bridgeheads on Britain's coast. But a bridgehead is not enough. There would remain the question of keeping a stream of supplies and men constantly moving, of retaining mastery of the air, and above all of having endless supplies for what inevitably in costly warfare.

Whether all these conditions can be met is problematical. And they apply equally well to the establishment of a northern front by striking through

Finland as was suggested in London

some days ago.

That Britain "must" will be sought

such a front somewhere is a certainty.

Mr. Churchill has spoken too often of the need for invading the continent to give the impression that the matter has been shoved into
