This and that

—Remembrance Day service will be on Sunday.

—Snow flurries keep coming at more frequent intervals—but it's November.

—The roadways have been again improved by the work of the road maintainer.

—Poppy Day is close. Don't forget the boys of the other Great War and their needs.

—A house belonging to Ernest Bennett, Puslinch Township, was burned on Thursday night and all the contents lost.

—Reformatory guards have been searching this district for three inmates of the institution at Guelph who had escaped.

—A bunch of peas in blossom was picked the other day on the farm of Hugh Reid and it's on view in The Fair Pass window.

—Homemade bread was the leader at the Community Sale. One double loaf netted $2.70 and none of the single loaves went for less than 35c.

—A splendid Remembrance Day window has been arranged in the Johnstone and Rumley store and Elliott Bros. have had a fine window devoted to Victory Loan.

—Word has been received that Bob Stewart, son of Mrs. and the late W. H. Stewart, formerly of Acton, is a prisoner of war in a German camp and is suffering from a bullet wound in his knee which took away his knee cap.

—Mr. R. N. Brown attended a Yorkshire Breeders' sale at Galt and purchased one of the highest priced sows in the sale. The sow was consigned by A. G. Crowe of Hespelet. The average price of 42 sows was $37.50. First prize sow sold for $140.

Practise Bombing When Coast Clear

No Idle Days for Air Coastal Command With Targets Waiting

BY FRANK LOWE Canadian Press Staff Writer

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN AIR BASE. (CP) — A tiny raft, moored somewhere off Canada's eastern coast, might well serve as a "no trespassing" sign for German U-boats. It is a practice target, the one used by airmen at this base to sharpen their shooting eyes so that when they get a conning tower in their bomb sights they won't miss.

The target is there, bobbing on the waves, so small that from the air it looks like a piece of lint caught on a deep blue blanket. Around it the bombs explode with a dull plop while clouds of smoke drift up. Two types of attack are practiced against this harmless but valuable raft. First, the planes come in over the target in low level attacks, from 30 to 50 feet from the tips of the reaching waves they fly, bomb bays swinging open as they reach the mark. Hits are a dime a dozen in this form of practice. It's exacting work, but the airmen are so accustomed to more difficult tasks they seldom miss.

High Level Attacks Then comes the real test of the bomber's skill. High level attacks are practiced. Up into the blue they climb until their camouflaged planes blend with the cloud specks. A mile up they pause, turn and come drifting back over the target. Then their bombs hit the water with a wallop, kicking up a spout of white foam topped with a halo of smoke.

This goes on for hours. Young pilots new to the station, will take part, aiming at the water-surrounded speck in a gruelling efficiency test. But seasoned veterans of coastal work will also be there. For when days come when things are slack—no convoys want protection or U-boats have decided to hunt in less dangerous waters—they don't take a holiday.

As usual they climb into their planes, tool them off the airframe and head for the practice range. There are no holidays in the grim game of coastal patrol, at least not in this station. And the men prefer it that way. It keeps them in trim. It gives them the flying experience they crave and is the big reason U-boats are finding this section of Canada's coast unhealthy.

Obituary

MRS. ROBERT J. MACPHERSON Just six months after the death of her husband, Mrs. Robert J. MacPherson passed away on Thursday last at St. Joseph's Hospital in Guelph in her fifty-ninth year. Although in falling health for some months her passing came as a great shock to many friends, who did not realize her serious condition.

Born at Nanticoke, Ont., Blanche E. Dills was a daughter of the late George and Sarah Dills, and had spent most of her life in Acton. Thirty-five years ago she was joined in holy wedlock to Robert J. MacPherson and the couple had spent their life there. While interested in community and church, her home was her greatest life interest and the fine motherly attention she gave to it will make her sadly missed by her two children, Eugene of Toronto, and Mrs. Corless at home, and sympathy goes to them in this second bereavement they have sustained within a few months. Two sisters, Miss Etta Dills, Acton, and Mrs. F. Browning, Toronto, and one brother, G. Arlof Dills, Acton, also remain.

The funeral service on Saturday afternoon was conducted by her minister, Rev. Forbes Thomson of Knox Church at the Johnstone & Rumley Funeral home where many friends gathered to pay tribute. Interment was in Fairview Cemetery beside the beloved husband who had gone on just a little before. Pallbearers were Messrs. Gordon Smith, E. S. Forey, Stan Norton, Chas. Kirkness, J. R. ALEXANDER McDONALD One of Acton's finest Christian characters, Alexander McDonald, passed away on Monday October 26th at his home on Main Street in his seventy-ninth year. He had been in failing health for some time and confined to his home for several weeks.

Alexander McDonald was a son of the late Duncan and Sarah McDonald and was a native of Bruce County. As a young man he was employed in the tanning business in Port Elgin, associated with the late Peter Smith. He continued all through his life to be associated with Mr. Smith, going with him when he assumed charge of the Beardmore plant in Bracebridge and coming to Acton about twenty years ago to work with him here in the Beardmore tanneries. But it is for his great religious fervor that Mr. McDonald will be best remembered. As a very young man he became converted and joined the organization known as the "Lord's Army," later being active and a worker in the Salvation Army. But Alex. McDonald could find joy in praising his Lord in any of his churches or institutions and while in Acton was actively associated with the United Church and a member of the Board of Stewards. A leader in prayer and Sunday School services and at times taking the Sunday service.

Forty-nine years ago he was joined in holy wedlock to Miss Margaret Whaley who survives him, as well as three brothers, Neil, G. Penetang, John of Listowel and Archie of Winnipeg, Man. To all of these who are bereaved by his passing sympathy of many friends here goes out.

The funeral service was held on Tuesday evening in the United Church with Rev. Mr. Foabury in charge, assisted by Col. Calvert of the Salvation Army of Toronto. During the service Mrs. B. Veldhuis sang a favorite hymn "The Old Rugged Cross." Interment was made on Wednesday in Port Elgin. The pallbearers were Messrs. Jos. Massey, B. Veldhuis, Wm. Cooper, H. Mainprize, Wm. McLaughlin and A. T. Brown.

Among the floral tributes were those from Mr. Jos. Massey and family; Boys of Breithaupt Leather Works, Penetang; Mr. and Mrs. Neil McDonald and family; The Daisy Folders' Official Board and Sunday School Class of the United Church; Miss E. M. Kelaher; Mr. and Mrs. E. Braida; Mr. and Mrs. S. Braida; Col. A. O. T. Beardmore; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. McDonald; Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald and family, Listowel; Col. and Mrs. J. E. Calvert and Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Henry.

Pigs May Be Pigs But Become Bonds

Arkansas Idea of Victory Hog Clubs Spreads Through Several States

JONESBORO, Arkansas, (CP)—To market, to market to sell a fat pig went some 200 members of the Sunset Victory Pig Club here recently, and the results made history in Uncle Sam's war bond drive.

In one day, farmer-members trotted more than $5,000 worth of top-quality fat porkers to the country's first Victory Pig Sale—and they invested all the proceeds in war bonds.

The idea caught on fast. New pig clubs in at least 14 southern and mid-western states are pumping thousands of dollars monthly into war bonds. And in Arkansas alone, 12,000 4-H Club boys and girls in all the state's 75 counties belong to pig clubs fattening porkers for the markets.

Farmers in this northeast Arkansas delta country conceived the idea for the club, in which each member would select one pig from his litter and fatten him especially for sale. Pigs selected were to be ear-marked with a V for Victory.

The farmers got 200 volunteers to pledge themselves to produce a top-quality product in a 90-day fattening period. Townspeople, farmers, out-of-town buyers and agricultural officials tramped through mud and a beating rain to get under the stockyards sheet iron shed for the sale.

Buyers paid well above—the St. Louis market rate for the prize porkers, and the Jonesboro Chamber of Commerce feted club members at a barbecue. Feeders and breeders of other kinds of livestock had adopted principles of the plan, the War Savings staff reported, and before the year's end the world may be hearing of victory cows, victory lambs and victory hens.

FOR SOVIET WAR GENIUSES MOSCOW (CP)—The Soviet Government recently instituted three new Military Orders. "to decorate Red Army commanders for outstanding services in organizing and directing war operations."

FORTIETH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY MARKED BY PRESENTATION A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Swackhammer on Thursday, October 29th, when their neighbors and friends from Acton and Ospringe assembled to honor them and bring them good wishes and congratulations on their attaining the fortieth anniversary of their wedding day.

After an evening spent in social intercourse and games, a short program was given. Mr. Bert Davidson acting as chairman. The dining table was set out with candles and a large three-story, beautifully decorated wedding cake, on top of which stood a miniature bride and groom. The groom and bride of 40 years ago together handled the knife that put the first cut in this cake and each guest received a piece of it.

The program consisted of the following: reading by Mrs. Howard Graff; vocal solo by Miss Audrey McArthur accompanied by Miss Dron on the violin; reading by Miss Ann Graff; an address of congratulation and appreciation was read by Mrs. Robert Kerr, and Mrs. L. Miller then presented Mr. F. Swackhammer with a fine wool sweater and Mrs. Swackhammer with a beautiful lace table cloth and an envelope of money. Acton, October 29th, 1942

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Swackhammer: We, your friends and neighbors, have assembled here this evening on the fortieth anniversary of your wedding day, to offer you our heartfelt congratulations and wish you well at this time when another milestone has been reached in your lives. It is our sincere hope that you may be spared to see many more anniversaries.

What a privilege is yours to look back over so many years of right living and usefulness—years that have been filled with deeds of kindness and helpfulness to those around you. We recall to-night the many times you have helped so gladly and willingly those in sickness and trouble. Many times you have helped carry another's load and have spoken words of love and cheer to those in fear and doubt. You have always been able to see the needs of others and have performed many acts of kindness. You have proved yourselves worthy citizens and an asset to this community.

As you journey towards the "sun-set," may the sunshine of God's love and care, fall on you and surround you. And now as a token of the high esteem in which both of you are held by all we present you with these gifts, trusting they will remind you of your many friends and neighbors of Churchville.

"As the ivy clings to the garden wall, Clinging more lightly whatever befall, So may your friends, constant and true Just like the ivy cling closely to you."

Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbors: MRS. ANGUS McEACHERN, MRS. TOM GORDON, MRS. WESLEY MURRAY, ARTHUR SWACKHAMER, SMITH GRIFFIN.

Mr. and Mrs. Swackhammer thanked their friends for their good wishes and gifts. Afterwards everyone sang "For they are jolly good fellows." Speeches were given by Messrs. A. Swackhammer, W. Murray, D. McTavish, C. McKeown, R. Kerr, H. Denny and S. Griffin. Lunch was served and everyone had a very enjoyable evening.
