The parade that formed in the park at 10.30-was led by the Council, standard bearers of Legion, two Chapters of I.O.D.E. and Boy Scouts and the Lorne Scots Band. There were representatives of the Women's Institute,. Duke Devonshire and Lakeside Chapters of I.O.D.E., First Acton Troop Boy Scouts, Acton Branch of Canadian Legion and the Acton Platoon of the Reserve Army.

The brief service at the soldiers monument included the placing of wreaths by Acton Council, Acton Legion, Duke of Devonshire I.O.D.E. Acton Women's Institute and Lakeside Chapter I.O.D.E. The names on the monument were read by President George Musselle. "Last Post," and "Reveille," were sounded by Bugler Chas. Landsborough; minutes' silence was observed; the band led in that old familiar hymn, "O God, Our Help in Ages Past," and Rev. A. W. Fosbury pronounced the benediction.

The memorial service followed in the United Church with Rev. A. W. Fosbury in charge. A feature was The dedication of the Church service from the congregation who are serve Halton Plowmen from the congregation who are serving in the armed forces in the present war.

ACTON BRANCH LEGION PUTS FINISH ON VICTORY LOAN FIGURES

We had a little item written for this issue of THE PRES PRESS yesterday that-told-that Acton was just about $1,000 down from meeting last year's Victory Loan figures. That information had also reached the cars of officers of Acton Branch of the Canadian Legion - the men who fought world War I and held the line.

Last evening two officers of the Legion called on Mr. H. R. Force and informed him, the matter had been discussed members and it had been decided that all the money now in their building fund to repair their quarters would go into the Victory Loan Instead, and until the war was over they would get along with present arrange-

That subscription put Acton and District over the amount raised in the Second Victory Loan. The men who have seen the front line know how to hold the home line too. They can still go over the top. There is no retreat for them.
