NASSAGAWEYA

The pupils of Miss Mary Elliott, teacher of S. S. No. 7, surprised her with a resolution in honor of her approaching marriage. Tom Kennedy acted as chairman for the occasion and took a novel way of doing it. He asked Miss Elliott if instead of a chapter from the book she is reading to them, if they could play a new game. After giving them her permission she placed a chair and said she needed some one seated there and asked if Miss Elliott would do this. Elinore Davonport was then called forward and she read an address expressing their good wishes and offering her a gift of a pair of Collier-Dog book ends which George Service presented. After their teacher thanked them in her friendly way they all sang "For she's a jolly good fellow."

NO GUNS ON THIS ONE

Flying Officer George "Buz" Beuring, Canada's Number One flying ace and hero of many air battles over Malta, who has just completed a coast to coast tour of Canada visiting R.C.A.F. stations, made a large part of the long trip by Trans-Canada Air Lines. Here he is at Moncton air port previous to departure on the last leg of his journey, from Moncton to Montreal, seated at the controls of a big T.C.A. passenger liner talking to Captain J. R. Bowler, who piloted the plane. At Winnipeg Beuring was greeted by Wing Commander D. R. MacLaren, T.C.A.'s superintendent of passenger service, and one of Canada's leading air aces of the last war.
