WAR COMES TO TENNESSEE

The calm routine of a young lady of Tennessee was interrupted recently by army manoeuvres. As she approached a bridge she was in the habit of driving over daily, she was stopped by a sentry.

"Madam," he said earnestly, "you can't drive across this bridge. It has just been demolished."

Leaving her dumfounded, for the bridge was in no way impaired, he walked off.

As she beckoned the possibility that the sentry was insane, another soldier approached. She beckoned to him.

YOUNG MAN

"Young man," she inquired, "can you tell me any reason why I can't cross this bridge?"

"Lady," he replied soberly, "I can't tell you a thing. I've been dead for three days."
