Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Garrison, Toronto, wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Emily, to Mr. John Henry Sault, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Christie Sault, the marriage to take place in Knox College chapel on Saturday, July 1st, at 3:30 o'clock.

ERIN

The Russell Family held a re-union at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Fines, second line, Erin, last Sunday.

Congratulations to Mrs. Fred Steen teacher of the senior room of Erin Public School, also to her entrance pupils all of whom were successful.

Former residents of Scotsguard & Austinville, Saskatchewan, who returned to various points in Ontario, held their fifth annual picnic at Stanley Park on Sunday. The party of forty-five spent a very pleasant time reminiscing. Officials were re-appointed and the first Sunday in July 1934, set for the next picnic.

Austin Finnes has been building a contraption known as a "buck rake" for handling hay direct from the field to the barn. The motive power is an old Wyllie-Knight car, on the back of which the rake is constructed. It has been in front of Dick Mataon's blacksmith shop for several days and has attracted a little attention from the farmers and villagers alike.—Addendum.

WATCH YOUR WORDS!

Watch your voice, or rather listen to it, and see if it suggests something pleasant and peaceful or something querulous and discordant.

Not only does your tone of voice show your state of mind—but if you can manage to get friendliness and patience into your voice—miraculously, even when you do feel a bit snappy and short, your temper smooths out. It's almost fun to try. You know how we say sarcastically at times, when we suspect intercession, "I can manage—thank you!" If there were only time to fate that back and try it on this key: "I can manage—thank you," without accosting on the beginning, it wouldn't strike a quaver-dance chord, and would imply that, although we didn't need the help, we weren't ungrateful.

Whatever else a voice does, it readily should strike—that makes a perfectly normal discussion full of fight, and full into a strident riot.

RONALD A. MCKEEEN,
Liberal Candidate for Halton County

Guelph, Ont.
July 1st, 1936

To the Electors of Halton:
Dear Friends:

Once again I am asking for your support as the Liberal Candidate in the coming elections. As the polling day is just three weeks away it is impossible for me to do your personally, and I wish to take this opportunity of thanking you for your help and support in previous elections and work for your continued confidence. If I had been able to follow my own inclinations I would not be a candidate on this occasion. While I have served this County continuously since 1929, and have enjoyed the work, yet on account of the death of my brother, and the absence from business of my son in the navy and nephew in the army, I have found it almost impossible to continue my political life as well as look after my business affairs. I have been urged, however, by my friends and亲朋好友 in the County to offer my services once again and I have consented to do so for war duty. I also have in mind that the difficult post-war period will be one of the most critical areas our country will ever experience, and it my long experience as your member will be of any benefit to my County and Province I offer it willingly.

My personal record as your member is well known. I have always striven to improve the lot of the workers and for improved social conditions. I sponsored the increase in Mothers' Allowances and the granting of these allowances to widows with one child. These allowances should be paid after the 16 year age limit, when the child is eight and wishes to continue with his education. I have always tried to help everyone who appealed to me for assistance without regard for their political affiliations, and if elected again will continue to do so.

I am proud of the record of your Liberal Government since it took office in 1934. Space does not permit me to cover all of its achievements, but it would like to remind you of some of them:

Finances

When we took office there was no money in the Treasury and we were faced with a huge deficit. Local municipalities were struggling under an unbearable load of taxation and 19 municipalities were in default. It was taking 42 per cent. of the annual proceeds received mostly from the interest on the public debt, and I was pleased to concern this, and we have done it.

The only increase in taxes is the corporation tax and the income tax. By this increase in taxes and by careful and businesslike administration we have met only that amount our preexisting amounts, and now show a substantial surplus, but we have extended much needed help to local municipalities. All of these are now out of the default column and not one dollar of principal has been lost to any debenture holder. Since taking office the Province has relieved the municipalities of the following:

payments, and in addition a 1% surcharge on heating fuel yearly to cover down, welfare and unemployment in the County. Halton County has been paid over a million dollars to lower municipal taxes and to help the electors. The following are the figures: 1 mill subsidy on taxes ... $10,000,000 Old age pensions ... $10,000,000 Pensions for the blind ... 10,000,000 Mothers' Allowances ... $17,500,000 Hospitalization and other help to the indigent patients ... $2,000,000 Provincial, County and Township Road Costs, Increases in these ... $25,000,000 Big Shanty ... 27,000,000 Total ... $100,000,000 In addition the lower part of the County has been relieved of all liability under their Hydro Electrical department. In addition also we have increased grants to Education by over four million dollars. We realize that further help should be given to local municipalities. The assistance already given has cut many mills off everyone's tax bill. This policy will be steadily extended from year to year until the burden of unfair road costs taxation is fully under control. Through reduction in the public debt and interest rates, it takes only 22 per cent. of the revenue now to service the public debt, instead of 42 per cent. when we took over.

When we took office rural lines would only the built where there were at least three customers per mile, and every rural user had to sign a twenty year contract and had to pay a $2.50 monthly service charge. The Telcos refused to grant any relief. We did away with the 20 year contract. We cut the monthly service charge to $1.00 and we built lines for two customers per mile. On account of war, rationing of metals and shortage of power, further line extensions cannot be built now, but as soon as the war is over this government is pledged to an all-out rural program.

Health Services

We have supplied medical services to all indigents and will co-operate with the Federal Government in its Dominion Health Insurance program. The Provincial Government cannot afford to embark on a health program which will cost at least 70 million dollars annually for the people of Ontario alone. Our plan for the compulsory pasteurization of milk and eradication of T.B. cattle has already had amazing results. One is that the Sick Children's Hospital has been practically emptied.

Social Services

In addition to the above Health Services we have increased Old Age Pensions by 15 per cent. and Mothers' Allowances by 20 per cent. I will discuss the 22 point New program in my next letter, but would like to say right now that apparently, "Premier George" does not know that increases are already in effect. His statement that Old Age Pensions must mortgage their home before getting the pensions is just a vicious falsehood.

We do not come before you with any demands, death bed promises, but we do say that we have fully carried out our pledges and if re-elected we will continue to give you a careful, sane and businesslike administration.

Yours faithfully,

THOMAS A. BLAKELOCK.

C/o Postmaster,
Markham, Ont.

Dear Post Master:

Some months have passed and gone since my last letter. During that time great things have happened all over the world. And as each day and week goes by new developments take place to occupy the thoughts and actions of all thinking people. Members of government and diplomatic representatives, those Board officials chief of the military, industrial and other operations all have great decisions to make and stand by, but all others also have great responsibilities that require our whole thought and time. So the world moves at a tremendous pace.

While my road home is still on the same, I like so many others, have been diligent through circumstances, undertaken other employment. While finds me back with the Ontario Forestry Branch again this year in the same place I have spent the past two summers. I came early in May. Unlike Southern Ontario, this year, our spring season came very dry. The snow melted with the sun, and just melted away. Not a drop of rain fell all through April, so the frost was slow coming out and ground stayed wet and cold a long time.

But farming finally commenced about the first week in May with very favorable weather conditions.

The early part of May continued dry but showers came to provide moisture and weather remained warm which was ideal for growth. My main crop was 70 inches of rain fell in May. I left home for Georgetown the 13th day and here in the woods everything was very dry. Not a bit of growth had commenced. These were all bare. Not a leaf had even sprouted on the flower or blossom stalks. As I looked out over the countryside, up about 1,000 feet in the air the first day there, I thought, what a bleak outlook. Everything was a dead scrub forest. Eradication was a dead scrub forest, except for the occasional clumps of evergreen woods such as pine, spruce and cedar.

Since the three big trees in this whole country are entire new growth has developed during the past 30 years. So only those spots that escaped the fire is original growth. Consequently a very mixed variety of tree forms the second growth, poplar, birch, maple, birch bark, larch, mountain ash, as well as evergreen varieties. For nearly a week that was the view. Then all of sudden after a particularly heavy dew, and a very warm morning, the buds on some varieties of popular opened and from day on for about two weeks each morning was a different panorama of fresh color. Each separate kind of tree or shrub seemed to have different color and the whole scheme was a miracle to watch develop. I thought the Easter season was somewhat magnified this year, as I watched the resurrection of God's green plan of nature unfold, and I don't think I ever viewed or appreciated it, in quite the same way.

The weather being so dry, fires got started, through carelessness on the part of some gulls and the smoke which would get out of control, and the smoke did not go out for a week.

We bought the day and night with every available man procurable and all the equipment. But the weather changed and rain came and has continued to come every day or two ever since—the accurate, if I may say, of the 27 days of June have been wet and over 35 inches of rain have fallen here so far and another pouring rainy day to day which gives me opportunity to write.

It is hard opportunity to write in such a manner.

Despite the fact that the majority of local citizens were engaged in the building of a hillside in Georgetown Day by day on Monday, members of Georgetown Council met in their regular monthly session in the Municipal building.

On Wednesday evening, June 30th, Madie Anna Cloudill, daughter of Mrs. Sam Blunday and the late Charles Cloudill, was united in marriage to Robert Blunday, son of Mr. Sam Blunday and the late Mrs. Elizabeth Blunday, all of Georgetown, in a quiet wedding at the residence of the Rev. Father W. J. Mongan, Auctioneer.
