It has been learned that the Ontario .Millers' .Association has appealed to farmers to market one-third of their winter wheat for milling into pastry flour. It appears the farmers are not sending as much winter wheat to mills as usual, because of . feed shortage. However, the millers say they need the wheat to make it possible for them to carry on without having to import the needed grain from Western Canada. It was stated that once importations are started, Ontario farmers might lose the man ket in the future.
