Under the plan outlined by the goverament, a fund of $200,000,000 would be placed at the disposal of a threeman board charged with supervising the prices of farm products. The board would prescribe the prices at which it would buy agricultural products if the price of any dropped below what was considered a fair return to the farmer, thereby preventing glutted markets.

The government then would dispose of these products, and any losses entailed would be met from the fund. The act to establish floor prices for farm commodities will cover any except wheat, marketing of which is already looked after by the Canadian Wheat Board.

Main criticism of the bill offered in the Commons came from John Blackmore, Social Credit house leader who expresed doubt that $200,000,000 would be "anywhere near" sufficient to maintain a floor under all farm

In the Senate, the only criticism from Progressive Conservative members came from Senators R. B Horner and J. T. Haig of Manitobs. Prime Minister Mackenzie King's announcement of a four-point plan designed to deal in the post-war perlod with Canadians of Japanese origin, involving transportation to Japan of all those found to be disloyal and any others who wish to leave, drew Howard Green, Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Vancouver south, the comment that the Japanese should be excluded from British Columbia altogether as a measure of national defence. British Columbians have made it clear since the start of the present war that they do not wish the Japanese to return to the province. The plan outlined by Mr. King involves an investigation to determine which persons of Japanese origin now in Canada are loyal and which are disloyal, exclusion of Japanese immigration and dispersal of those who are loyal and wish to remain throughout Canada with safeguards against their

It Doesn't Leave a Lot for the Civilian

فثثن

WHEN war demands have been filled ... when invasion gasoline, aviation gasoline, Navy fuel oil, petroleum for the manufacture of explosives, synthetic rubber, and gasoline for war industry, farming and essential trucking all have been taken from Canada's oil supply - it doesn't leave a lot for the civilian!

Figure it out for yourself. It takes 5,250,000 gallons of gasoline to fuel 5,000 bombers and fighters for a mission over Germany. It takes enough oil for one fueling of a battleship to heat an average house for 350 years. It takes 18,000 gallons of gasoline to keep one armoured division on the move for one hour.

From petroleum and petroleum gases we obtain the gasoline and fuels needed to power planes and ships and tanks as well as the raw material for acetone, ammonia and tokuol for explosives, organic chemicals for ansesthetics, naphthas for camouflage paints and plastics and resins for war weapons production.

This is why civilian gasoline is short. This is why it's up to every motorist, to every owner of an oil-heated home, to exercise the strictest economy in gesoline or fuel oil usage. Every gallon we can do without here at home is one gallon more for the fighting men. And they need every gallon they can get.

LESS CIVILIAN GAS

MEANS MORE

Two full years of gasoline rationing and fuel oil control in Canada have saved 393,000,000 gallons of gasoline and 175 million gallons of fuel oil - a total saving of 568,000,000 gallons of petroleum products. Yet, despite this saving, gasoline stocks on hand in Canada, as of March 31st, this year, were 33,000,000 gallous less than at the commencement of rationing, April 1, 1942.

Oil has a mighty war job to do - yet supplies are short and are constantly dwindling. Oil powers the attack on every front. Oil can mean the difference between success or failure, between light casualty lists and heavy. Oil is vital ammunition - not to be wasted, not to be needlessly, frivolously

Answering Your Questions about the Gasoline Shortage

What are Comada's total yearly requirements of motor gasoline? . . . Approximately 800,000,000 galloas. Do these requirements have to cover both military and civilian moods? . . . Yes. Why cannot this massly be increased? . . . Because total hemispheric supplies are inadequate to meet both the coloses! was demand and civilian needs. There is not enough oil, there are not enough tankers, for both. How each of Canada's petroloum monds is supplied from Consdian wells? production be increased? . . .
