Jubilee Convention For Weekly Editors Discusses Problems

Elections and Awards in C.W.N.A. Made at Winnipeg Meeting and Newsmen Hear Prominent Speakers

BY GORDON BALEMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP)—E. P. Galbraith, publisher of the Red Deer Advocate, Alta., has been elected president of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association to lead its 583 weeklies in the next year. Mr. Galbraith succeeded W. J. Rowe of the Western Canada Manitou, Man.

More than 300 editors at the Silver Jubilee Convention here heard of economic, educational and post-war reconstruction problems and were challenged to do more preaching on moral and spiritual standards for home, business, club and community.

C. V. Charters of the Brampton Conservator, C. W. N. A. managing director, said a lot more depends on weeklies than editors realize in creating a new sacrificing spirit in the hearts and minds of Canadians—a spirit of trust, patriotism and true world citizenship.

Guest Speakers
Free domestic and international trade was advocated by J. S. Davis director of the food research institute of Stanford University.

Large-scale savings by Canadians until there is a better balance between money to spend and things to buy would aid in the fight against inflation, said D. B. Manuar, assistant chairman of the National War Finance Committee. He warned of danger of a let-down in willingness of people to continue support of the savings program, price controls and other features of war-time living necessary in preventing inflation.

International problems were considered. Percy Phillip of Ottawa, New York Times representative, spoke of the necessity of co-operation of all nations to prevent another war.

Dr. P. A. McDonald, executive director of the Manitoba Cancer Relief and Research Institute, asked for greater publicity and public education in treatment of cancer and advocated group cancer research. Dr. Floyd Willoughby, president of the Canadian Teacher's Federation campaigned for federal government assistance for provinces to raise education to the status it should occupy in a democratic society.

Awards Announced

Paris Liberated and Roumania Accepts Terms

the bloody battle of Dieppe are plunging ahead from Falaise where the trap is closing ever tighter on the pocketed Nazis and north-east of Troarn driving toward the Seine River. To the north, Canadian troops have pushed westward to the edge of Cabourg and Dives-sur-Mer on the coast.

As Allied troops are in hot pursuit of enemy forces from Normandy headed for Rouen, it was disclosed for the first time that Netherlands and Belgium troops trained in Ontario and Quebec are fighting as part of the 1st Canadian Army.

Canadian troops are in the thick of the terrific fighting which, it is reported, has forced the Germans to say, "We must be prepared for a German withdrawal from France."

Nazi forces retreating toward the Seine River face two Allied out-flanking movements: German sources indicate that Lt. Gen. Patton's American 3rd Army is within 22 miles of Paris. The other outflanking Allied move is advancing along the Normandy coast toward the west bank of the Seine. Canadian troops in this area are being spurred ahead by the spirited words of Lt. Gen. H. D. C. Crerar in command of the 1st Canadian Army to deliver a knockout blow to the enemy.

Campers Beware Of Poison Ivy

In the comprehensive arrangements of the Canadian authorities for the training and welfare of the fighting forces, the well effect of poison ivy was not overlooked. Of all skin irritant plants in North America, poison ivy is one of the worst. It grows under a variety of conditions, wet or dry, shaded or exposed and in any soil from pure sand or rocky ground to rich woods or fields. It is often plentiful in stretches of unoccupied land.

But because poison ivy is prevalent on shores and rocky situations especially by wooded lakes and highland regions so attractive to campers and summer cottagers, the danger of poisoning should always be borne in mind for the simple reason that in these out-of-the-way places it is difficult to get rid of the plant. Full description of the plant and its several different habits of growth, together with information on treatment after contact are given in Circular 174 "Poison Ivy" which may be obtained by writing to Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Why Blue Monday?

A writer asks, what brings on this "Blue Monday" to so many industrial and other workers?

It is the irregular life over the week-end—eating more, and rich food, sleeping and sleeping more with no exercise outdoors to work off this excess food. Excess food means excess waste in blood and tissues. Excess wastes from foods cause tiredness just as excess wastes from hard work, and leave the body more ready for stress, threat and other infections.

If at the week-end we would take the extra rest we need after a hard week's work, and eat a little less over the week-end instead of more we would feel more spry on Monday morning with less catching, sneezing and indignation.

There is a great deal of truth in this suggestion. A profitable week-end includes rest, change, moderation which is true temperance and public and private worship. It includes neighbourliness, friendliness and helpfulness.

INVENTS MAGIC HAND

LONDON (CP)—The Leningrad and an artificial hand, made of wood with rubber fingers which can hold a glass, put on and take off a hat, carry a brief case and pick up such objects as a cigarette, or a pencil, says Moscow Radio.

KANSAS CITY (CP)—The postman delivered a box to Mrs. W. J. Corcoran and she said nervously "Lady, I don't know what's in here, but it sounds like a bomb." She gingerly pried off the lid in the backyard and out buzzed a bee from the tulpin that Mrs. Corcoran's daughter had sent her.

"V" FOR VERBOTEN?

The BBC has received a report from Poland that the Germans are now busy erasing victory slogans from the streets of Polish cities.

When the "V" campaign, initiated by the BBC, swept across Europe, Goebbels tried to counteract it in Poland by inscribing the word "Viktoria" (a German word for victory used in patriotic songs) in all manner of places. With the sequence of Allied victories these German propaganda slogans have taken on an ironic twist and have got on German nerves.

The Poles have been quick to take advantage of this strategic retreat on the part of Goebbels. Where the Germans have erased the word "Viktoria" unknown hands paint up in its place, at night, the single letter "V", and so revert to the world-famous symbol of Allied victory.

OTTAWA HAS ISSUED A WARNING ABOUT THE SHORTAGE OF COAL DELIVERY MEN

Ottawa has issued a warning about the shortage of coal delivery men. The Department of Munitions and Supply says: "Unless householders realize the seriousness of the situation and act immediately they may find themselves without coal when the cold weather sets in, and unable to get delivery for days or even weeks."

To make sure of your fair share, do these three things NOW:

- (1) Place your entire fuel order at once.
- (2) Accept your fuel whenever we are able to deliver it, in accordance with Government regulations.
- (3) Permit us to deliver whatever class of suitable fuel we may be able to supply.
