NEW ROTARY HARROW SAID NON-CLOGGING

WETASKIWIN, Alta. (CP) — A new type of farm implement, considered to be one of the finest advancements in modern farming methods since the one-way disc was introduced, has been invented by Elmer Carlson of Wetaskiwin.

The new implement is a rotary harrow which is said to be non-clogging and will clear itself of any kind of trash. It is reported to be ideal for using one one-way stubble.

Built in three sections of six and nine feet, the harrow can be used directly behind a one-way disc or as a separate implement. It will shake all weed growth from the soil and will do an excellent job of levelling or breaking uneven land. Mr. Carlson has used the machine on his own farm near Wynne, Alta. since 1939, but wasn't thinking of getting a patent until friends convinced him that his idea was worthwhile.

His reason:

"She 'But why should a big, strong man like you be begging for food?' Tramp: 'Madam, this is the only profession I know of where a man like me can speak to a charming young woman like you without the necessity of a formal introduction.'"
