cellent fielding, accounting for the only double play of the game all by himself. Lloyd Robinson smashed a triple that was good for a home run on an overthrow and which drove in three runs ahead of him. Markey was the man responsible for three of the Oakville runs when he hit a triple with the bases loaded to tie the score in the seventh.

The eighth innings was just a scene of turmoil and verbal conflict and whatever decision may come out of this game we feel that the O.R.A. should send umpires capable to take charge of play-off games and handle their assignments without prejudice.

For those interested here is the box score of the game:

Oakville 011 001 4
Acton 001 400 20

J. Waterhouse certainly picked off some fast ones in a splendid second base performance.

Decisions on the bases by base-umpire Thompson were just about as poorly handled as was the plate.

Seeks to Raise Food Standards Among Chinese

United Nations Delegate Studies Causes of Malnutrition in the Orient

NEW YORK (CP) — Min Helen Yang Kiang has tackled one of the toughest problems in the world — malnutrition in China, where it has taken a toll of millions of lives.

Mrs. Kiang, 30, is a dietitian and nutrition specialist, who worked years in China's National Institute of Health, where she conducted a pamphletting campaign to raise nutrition standards, inspired by American methods. She is the only woman member of the Chinese delegation to the United Nations International Health Conference. When it ends, she will study American health centres and nutrition methods and then return to China to resume her attack on a problem which is complicated by its many causes.

"China's food problem has many ramifications," said Mrs. Kiang between sessions of the health conference. "Lack of transportation, modern agricultural methods, and modern machines all contribute to it. But there is another very important factor — the mass of the people don't know which foods build health and which don't."

"The rich and the poor have almost the same bad food habits. Of course the rich eat four or five times a day and the poor once or twice. But both concentrate heavily on polished rice, which lacks the proper vitamins for adequate nourishment."

"The rich spent their extra money on expensive condiments to make fancy dishes instead of on more meat and vegetables and eggs to add to nutrition. The diet generally is lacking in calcium, milk, meat and fruit juices — except for the fruits which are available locally in season."

Lessons in Diet

"Through pamphlets, newspaper articles and lectures, we are trying to teach the people how to eat for a balanced diet and how to make the most of all the food they have by saving their cooking water from rice and vegetables and by eating unpolished rice which has more nutrient."

"The rice problem is complicated by the fact that in South China, where the humidity is high and storage scarce, unpolished rice will keep only a few weeks. Unpolished rice is not in the raw state in which it comes from the field, but has had the first hull (which is too rough to eat) removed. We teach the people to leave the rice in its raw state (in which it will keep much longer) until it is needed."

In her pretty flowered Chinese frock, Mrs. Kiang and her nutrition chart make a striking combination of the old-world and the new. Her dark eyes snap eagerly as she talks of her work.

She is the daughter of a Chinese scholar and wife of a young Chinese attorney. After receiving a B.S. degree in Home Economics at Yenching University in 1937, she studied dietetics a year at Peiping Union Medical College.

In 1940 she joined the staff of the National Institute of Health (part of China's National Health Administration) where, in addition to her pamphletting, she taught nutrition to dining room managers of schools and Kuomintang party training camps.

After V-J Day she joined U.N.R.R.A. as nutritionist and helped establish 6 milk-feeding stations in Shanghai.

T. H. Moorehead New Police Magistrate Native of Milton

Newly-appointed magistrate of Peel and Dufferin counties, Thomas Henry Moorehead held his first court Monday at Brampton with no previous legal experience beyond that of for-man of a grand jury.

But that he has a magistrative mien nobody can deny. A supreme court justice might envy his shock of white hair and his deep blue eyes. With the same patient and quiet voice as the adjudicator in a cake-baking contest finds it advisable to use among the women contestants at a fall fair, he announced his first penalty.

"Of course I am studying law books, but I expect that common sense and common sympathy will be my best guide," said Magistrate Moorehead.

Born in Milton he left third form of high school at 16 to clerk in a general store at $2 a week. Through this was 50 cents a week more than most Milton clerks got, he was glad that he could live at home. He also clerked at Grand Valley and went to Wingham. But the snow there was so deep that the train didn't get through for four weeks so he hit out for Toronto.

After clerking in a department store, he went into business for himself at Milton, at the age of 23, with a confectionery shop. He acquired three more at Georgetown, Acton and Brampton. Twenty-four years ago he established a motion picture chain with theatres at London, Ottawa, Belleville, St. Thomas, Orillia, Midland and Brampton. Ten years ago he disposed of these and until now he has lived semi-retired.

As a former confectionere he still knows how to whip up a chocolate fudge or pour out a slab of peanut brittle. "But now I specialize on eating candy," he remarked.

Father of five children he has served as elder and manager in the Presbyterian church, sat two years on the town council and also on the high school board. He was chairman of the war committee which raised $100,000.

His circuit will include Port Credit, and Orangeville as well as Brampton. "I take office with no grudges and no enemies that I know of, and everything in my life is an open book but my age," he concluded.

WIND CUTS SERVICE

LETHBRIDGE (CP) — Although cyclonic winds hitting a top speed of 72 miles an hour tore across the Lethbridge district recently, no injuries or deaths were reported. The wind ripped the roof off an annex to an apartment building and dropped it in the street, cutting off street car service for 90 minutes.

PHANTOM COUNTESS SOUGHT BY STORE

JOHANNESBURG (CP) — Officials of a big Johannesburg department store are wondering who the Countess of Aberdeen is as a result of a theft committed in her name.

A well-dressed boy who appeared to be about 13 years of age, entered the store and stated that he was the son of the Countess of Aberdeen. His mother had sent him to make a number of purchases.

The youth's manner so impressed the officials that they immediately decided to open an account. The youth promptly bought a woman's hat. He then obtained a wide range of articles, including suits, toys and a chemistry set. The account was opened in the name of the Countess of Aberdeen.

After the youth left, the officials became suspicious and phoned a well known hotel, which the youth had given as his address. The answer they received was that no one knew the Count or Countess of Aberdeen.

"ARRIVED SAFELY"

HALIFAX (CP) — Telegraph wires out of this port are kept humming as soon as a troopship docks. When the Ile de France landed 9,700 men recently, more than 6,000 wires were sent to all parts of Canada reading: "Arrived safely. Will be home soon." These standard telegrams are paid for by the services.

AUSTRALIA NEEDS STUDENT SHEARERS

SYDNEY (CP) — Australian agricultural department experts, and ranchers, have been expressing concern about the lack of learners who have returned. It has been widely suggested that shearing schools should be established in conjunction with the Repatriation Department so that ex-servicemen may learn the trade.

The Graziers Association has asked the government to establish schools in conjunction with large shearing contract sheds. It might be necessary to subsidize such a scheme to guarantee the wages of the learner during the training.

RIGHT START

"Don't make it just coffee and toast for breakfast," declares an official of the Department of National Health and Welfare. Health experts agree that a good breakfast is essential for a right start of the day's work or play. They recommend fruit whole-grain cereal and, whenever possible, an egg for the first meal of the day.

Snow Lake Boasts One Woman Settler

Town Planners Have Heyday in Manitoba Mining Community

THE PAS, Man. (CP) — According to the best pioneer tradition, the little woman arrives at the new frontier soon after her husband if not with him. Mrs. Sidney Teale, first woman resident of the mining camp settlement at Snow Lake in northern Manitoba, believes in upholding traditions.

Her arrival in the province's youngest community will doubtless be recorded some day as a turning point in history. She shares with her camp manager husband a 14 by 22 foot cabin, one of 8 which have been erected to house the 50 men who are working on the mine site.

Coincidentally with her settling there was the release of provincial government maps showing the future town site laid out in blue print streets and avenues. Other than the cabins there are no buildings in the district. A shack once occupied by Chris Parson, prospector who discovered the lode, is the town's oldest and most respected building.

The layout of the projected town site is as modern as the day after tomorrow. Some 65 residential lots stretch from the present camp settlement along the shore of Snow Lake. Behind these are the business sites. Other residential lots line a curving driveway of the business blocks. Further inland will be the mine buildings.

The planning of the town is under the supervision and control of the Manitoba government, which is building a road to Snow Lake with the assistance of the federal government. The mines is not expected to produce for two years.

CAR FIRE CAUSED BURNS TO CHILD LAST THURSDAY

Fire in an automobile owned by J. McMullen, Main Street gave the Acton Brigade a call last Thursday afternoon. Flames from about the engine severely burned the ankle and leg of Bonita McMullen, his niece who was playing about when the mishap occurred as the car was being started. The fire also threatened to reach the home until the car was pushed across the road and near the bridge over the Main Street creek. The damage to the car was not extensive and the fire was under control when the brigade arrived on the scene.

Reid & Son, Georgetown contributed one of the calves, all of which were high class individuals.

ROCKWOOD MAN GETS REMAND ON THEFT CHARGE

Nelson Hepburn of Rockwood was remanded until Friday for sentence, by Magistrate Watt, K. C., Guelph when he pleaded guilty in magistrate's court on a charge of theft.

Evidence given by Provincial Constable Phillip Seibert, disclosed Hepburn had gone to the home of Elgin Crispin at Rockwood, where he attempted to borrow money. When his attempt failed, he took $375 from a purse while the Crispin family was absent from the room, police said.

Evidence further showed Hepburn had gone to Toronto, where he lost most of the money, then returned to Rockwood.

DIGBY, N. S. (CP) — Daylight saving time didn't last very long in Digby. The town went on fast time April 28 but reverted to standard time May 4 by vote of the town council. Decision resulted from confusion caused by school buses running on standard time.
