1946 Halton County Match Is A Success

In the modern method of removing old apple trees, scrub thorns, etc. by a bull dozer; another in ditching by the same firm; then in another ring Gordon Cartwright of Milton and Vern Archer of Georgetown, demonstrated the respective efficiency of chain and drag saws. Later in the same ring, Mac Alexander of Norval showed how to take the backache out of post hole digging by means of his power take off post hole digger, and Lytle DeVries of Georgetown and McDuffie's Garage, Milton, demonstrated the efficiency of the modern Rotatiller. Then over behind the barn, Fred Huddell and Horace Barnes, both of Equestrian Township, ably demonstrated with their respective machines, how to simplify the most unpopular job on the farm, with manure loaders. In another section of the field Maurice Beatty of Trafalgar Township, and James Broa of Equestrian Township demonstrated the modern method of haying by means of their respective automatic pick-up haler.

At the same time, over on the adjoining farm of Clebert McDowell, those interested in husking corn had an opportunity of seeing Walker Broa of Nelson Township demonstrate their mounted two row corn picker, and M. T. McNabb of Equestrian, their single row machine. Last but not least was the shie demonstration staged by Prof. Harold Kitching of the Department of Agricultural Engineering, O.A.C. By means of a dynamometer, Prof. Kitching showed the effect of incorrect vs. correct setting of a plow as it effects draft.

In addition to those mentioned above, the machinery exhibit included the following: Lloyd Fisher's home made snow plow; Russell Broa, corn sheller; Harvey Nurse's all crop harvester; John Ruddle's home made chicken picker; Claude Pickett's home made corn sheaf loader; Lorne Bird's factory made corn sheaf loader; Frank Hall's, Orr Broa's and John Lanouette's buck rakes; Geo. Hall's home made dump truck; Maurice Beatty's power take-off mowers; Clebert McDowell's windrower attachment; and Gordon Robinson's home made hog feeder. Commercial exhibits were also staged by the Woods of Milton; Wise's Farm Equipment Service, Oakville; and Ken McMillan, of Georgetown. And last but not least, was an excellent exhibit from the Soils Department of the O.A.C., under the efficient management of Prof. N. J. Thomas of that institution. This consisted of Soil Erosion Boxes, which ably depicted the run off of soil and water under various types of cropping and rotation. A chain harrow for pastures was also in the same exhibit.

It would be unfair in an event of this magnitude not to pay tribute to the outstanding part played by the ladies of the Hornby Women's Institute. They not only looked after the wants of the inner man from the standpoint of the plowboys, but of countless others throughout the day and at night catered in their usual efficient and generous manner to approximately 250 who attended the banquet. Here, C. D. Graham, Ontario's newly appointed Deputy Minister of Agriculture was the guest speaker. His address was timely, thought provoking and was worthy of a special article in itself. Assisting artists were Maurice Headhead of Lowville and Joe Nova of Milton, whose contributions rounded out an excellent program.

The prize winners were as follows:
 Class 1, Jointer Plows in Sod—R. G. Brown, Galt; Ronald Marquis, Sutherland; Eddie Timbers, Milliken; Ross Marquis, Little Britain; Alfred Dickie, Jerseyville; Herb Jarvis, Agincourt.

The Junior A O.I.A. League competition which pushed itself to the forefront by its opening tilt on Saturday, promises to be a repetition of last year. St. Michael's College Majors which have placed themselves at the top of their group for the last few seasons have again come out with one of their usual flying clubs and will fight to bring "glory" to the Queen City.

The Fighting Irish mauled the Windsor Spitfires 15-0 in their first start and begorra if they didn't respect the performance in Stratford Monday when they slashed Stratford 7-2. Imagine all this besides attending their curriculum at their Bay St. edifice. Which brings up the subject of hockey scholarships! This has been the issue which splits the governing body into two factions: those that agree with same and the other-wise.

The affirmative is held up by those persons who see the name of St. Mike's or any other school blazer across the continent while the negative are those who prefer hockey to remain amateur. Present conditions suggest semi-pro outfits to outfit and finance the club and players of most other Junior outfits so why can't the college get in vogue with their scholarships?

An Open Letter to Acton Employers!

Dear Sirs:

At a meeting of the Acton Branch 197 of the Canadian Legion, I was instructed to ask you to observe Memorial Day, November 11th, 1946, as a holiday in your plant.

The Canadian Government has set aside this day as a day of remembrance and it is just a few short months ago when some of our members saw their comrades fall and this memory is very vivid and very sacred to them.

The debt our country owes to those who have passed on cannot be measured. The only true recognition they would expect is that what they died for should be upheld and a day set apart in some way brings this about by drawing again to public notice their supreme sacrifice and the ideals for which they died. Most countries set aside a day to remember their heroes and it is fitting that Canada whose sons have fought so valiantly in the cause of freedom should be so honored.

Surely your organization is not unmindful of benefits it has received through the sacrifice of these men and would not in any way hamper its veterans holding sacred this day.

Yours sincerely,

Acton Branch Canadian Legion, B. E. S. L.

THE GILLESPIE-GRAYDON WEDDING LAST WEEK IN TORONTO CHURCH

Tall standards of white chrysanthemums, ferns and lighted candles decorated Humbercrest United Church, Toronto for the marriage of Mary Elizabeth (Betty), daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Lindsay Graydon, to Mr. Grant Charles Gillespie, Acton, son of Mr. Charles Gillespie, Orangeville and the late Mrs. Gillespie. Rev. T. W. Hazelwood officiated at the evening ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a handsome gown of ivory brocaded satin, made with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline, long pointed sleeves and full skirt forming a sweeping train. Her veil of Brussels net was arranged with a coronet of tiny French orange blossoms and pearls, and she carried a colonial bouquet of rapture roses and bouvardia centred with gardenias, and edged with pink ostrich tips and fern. She wore her great grandmother's hand-carved gold bracelet. Miss Wilma Graydon, maid of honor for her cousin, chose winterberry green velvet, and Miss Marjorie Moran, also a cousin and Miss Jean Topping were gowned in russet shade. All three carried nosegays of gold and russet chrysanthemums and their matching halo hats had blending ostrich tips. Mr. Douglas Gillespie was groomsmen for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. Glen Graydon and Mr. Graydon Thorpe, cousins of the bride. Mr. Ralph and Mr. Walter Gillespie, twin brothers of the bridegroom. The soloist was Mr. G. S. Patterson.

After the reception at Dalrew Manor, at which Mrs. Leigh McIntyre of Sydenham, sister of the groom received with Mrs. Graydon, the couple left by motor for New York, and will live in Acton. The bride travelled in a suit of grey blue wool, matching topcoat and brown accessories and gardenia corsage. The bridal party were entertained at Casa Loma after reception.
