"JOLSON STORY" IS THREE-NIGHT FEATURE AT ACTON THEATRE

Approaching a record for the use of music in motion pictures, twenty-seven songs will be heard in Columbia's Technicolor music-drama, "The Jolson Story" coming to the Gregory Theatre, Acton, for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next week. In addition, there are instrumental dance numbers and Dixieland Jazz pieces. Most of the melodies are used in their entirety.

These songs represent a major portion of the musical side of Al Jolson's career on which the film is based. While most of them were sung by Jolson on the stage, the Dixieland pieces originate with a Negro orchestra. Jolson heard in New Orleans during his early days in show business.

Heading the cast of "The Jolson Story" are Larry Parks, who plays the Jolson role; Evelyn Keyes, as a famous dancer who becomes his wife; William Demarest and Bill Goodwin, Alfred E. Green directed for producer Sidney Skolsky.
