A HOMER THAT TIED THE SCORE

There have been many exciting games in the Intermediate C Playdowns this season and fans have seen some splendid baseball, but the classic of the series that will go down in history was the fourteen innings, 3-2 duel in Toronto, October 16th, that eliminated Sunderland and allowed Acton to go into the finals with Delhi. There were many highlights and brilliant plays. Here one of them was the scene after Jack Kentner made his home run in the ninth inning to tie the score. Jack is in the centre of the group of Acton players some place and every one is trying to hug him. Most disgusted looking man in the picture is the Sunderland catcher.
